France Gets an Island.
Joe, the Baker, Leaves.
Gandhi's Sky-Writing.
A Wise German.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

A DECISION, rendered by the Italian king, Emanuel, in favor of France, against Mexico, may promote better Italian-French feeling.

Lost in the Pacific Ocean, 870 miles west of the Mexican coast, is a little island called by the English, Clipperton Rock, and by the Mexicans, La Isla De La Pasion, "the Isle of the Passion." France and Mexico claimed it, and agreed to let King Victor Emanuel arbitrate. Now, 22 years later, Emanuel gives the island to France, ordering Mexicans to withdraw their little body of soldiers.

IT IS A LOW rock, not able to support human life. But it has a lagoon in the center, and IN WAR, IT MIGHT BE IMPORTANT AS A BASE FOR SEAPLANES.

France knows what flying will mean in the next war, and neglects nothing connected with it. That is more than you can say for the United States, which doesn't know what flying will mean, and neglects many things connected with it.

"JOE, THE BAKER," known to his mother and early friends as Joseph Catania, is dead. With his mouth shut tight, refusing to tell who shot him, he struggled against a flock of machine gun bullets and succumbed, eliminated because he interfered with bootlegging in the territory of "Dutch" Schultz, the "Bronx beer baron."

THUS FAR, not one of many gangsters shot down has told police who killed him, although a majority of them knew. Perhaps they thought they would not die.

"Joe the Baker" was one of the New York gangsters that had the honor of entertaining a distinguished New York City judge at a welcome home dinner.

GANDHI TELLS 100,000 listeners that victory for his "holy crusade" to free India is "written in the skies if we follow the path of truth and non-violence."

Few victories have been won by non-violence. In fact, no nation ever won freedom except by fighting for it.

In the opinion of at least 200,000,000 Hindus, a successful "holy crusade" would include the right to restore child marriage, without restriction, the burning of widows, and a system of reverence for animal life, cows especially, that allows the miserable animals, when they get old, to die of hunger, because no one has the right to kill them.

GERMANY POSSESSES an appallingly wise person named Dr. Georg Joos, professor of theoretical physics at Jena.

The wavelength of a ray of light is from one-twenty-five-thousandth to one-fifty-thousandth of an inch in length. The marvelous Joos can measure the one-thousandth part of that.

This enables him to prove that there is no "ether drift" and that the speed of light is absolute.

In some mysterious way, Dr. Joos confirms Einstein's theories. Sometimes you are sorry you can not understand all that, and sometimes you thank heaven for your ignorance.

COPPER YESTERDAY dropped to nine and a half cents a pound, less than the cost of production in all but a few mines. Silver has fallen so far that it recalls to silver men the story of the cloak and suit man, who said:

"There is only one price in my place."

"What is that?" some one asked.

"Anything you offer me."

Many, outside of silver production, know how the cloak and suit man felt.

PREVIOUS TO 1931 the Bible had been translated into 886 languages. Now the 887th is added, that of the Indian aborigines of Guatemala.

This language, called the "Mam" tongue, dates from the ancient Mayas and is hard to learn.

One verse, from St. John, according to the Rev. Dr. North, would read:

"Kun ictsun ju ulakj tanmi Dios quij xjal."

The word "Dios" in that text, evidently is borrowed from the Spanish, the Guatemalan Indians perhaps having no name for the Christian kind of God.

Guatemala Indians, like the North American Indians when Catholic fathers first visited them long ago, will be interested principally in the Biblical descriptions of fights and victories. The destruction of the walls of Jericho and the command "slay and spare not" including men, women, and children, will appeal to their primitive religious instinct.

But some undoubtedly will read the sermon on the mount, which will do them good, if they know what it is about.

THE WICKERSHAM prohibition committee, appointed to investigate crime of all kinds, technically called "law enforcement commission" will soon relate its discoveries about crime in the United States. Statistics concerning robbery, murder, all-around banditry and the absence of punishment and control, will grieve those who felt sure that when prohibition came in, crime would go out.

NEILSON AID OFFERED TO BUTLER

Willing to Testify at Trial; Says Vanderbilt Made Charge Quoted by Marine

A Pittsburgh business man today supported Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler's quotations of Cornelius Vanderbilt's story that Premier Mussolini's automobile ran down a child in Italy, and expressed himself as willing to testify at Butler's court-martial.

Young Vanderbilt today charged that Gen. Butler had quoted him inaccurately, but P. MacInness Neilson, of the Neilson Bureau, who heard Vanderbilt's original speech last November, had this to say:

"Gen. Butler's statement is quite right. He has said nothing we didn't all hear when Vanderbilt spoke at the Allied Lecture Bureau in New York."

DOUBTFUL ON ONE POINT

On only one point was Mr. Neilson uncertain. He said he couldn't recall clearly whether Vanderbilt had named Mussolini or Mussolini's chauffeur as the driver of the auto.

Mr. Neilson continued:

"Vanderbilt told us that in talking with a group of journalists in New York he had made a wager he could interview big people without using his own name.

"So he said he went to Italy and on the boat he met an Army officer. Vanderbilt said he was using his assumed name then. He told the Army officer he wanted to interview Mussolini and the Pope in Italy and the officer said he had some friends in Italy who might get him an interview with Mussolini.

GOT INTERVIEW

"Vanderbilt got his interview with Mussolini and used his assumed name. But during the interview Vanderbilt said Mussolini asked him, 'Is that your real name?'

"Vanderbilt said he then told Mussolini the story of the wager and that Mussolini enjoyed the joke. Vanderbilt told how Mus-

GIRL FINED $45 FOR 16 TAGS

Pretty Josephine Bennett, of Aiken and Liberty avenues, one of Traffic Court's best customers, made another appearance before Magistrate William J. Soost today to explain 16 automobile parking violations.

The girl, who recently announced she had discontinued motoring for horseback riding, was escorted to the court by Officer Edward Barry. Her explanations did not click with the magistrate, and the young woman departed with her purse lighter to the extent of $45—the maximum penalty.

It was Miss Bennett's third appearance in Traffic Court for ignoring parking tags. She was fined $25 on the two other occasions. Following her last arrest, she announced she would enjoy the less complicated pleasure of horseback riding in the future.

SEES UTILITIES 'GRIP' SCHOOLS

HARRISBURG, Feb. 5.—Public utilities have "doctored" school books in Pennsylvania and other states.

That is the latest charge hurled by Gov. Pinchot in his warfare against the "power trusts," which, he asserted in his inaugural address, is attempted to control the government of state and nation.

With a lull in demands for an investigation of his charges, instigated by his Philadelphia opponents, but taken up and carried on by Pinchot himself, pending resumption of sessions of the State Legislature next Tuesday, Pinchot

U. S. Blocks Ex-Kaiser's Broadcast From Doorn

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—Former Emperor Wilhelm of Germany, will not be heard on the air in America, due to disapproval of the State Department, according to a copyrighted article in the New York Evening Journal today. The article says:

"The lone wood-chopper of Doorn will not follow Pope Pius XI on the air as the first of the probably remaining three world notables—Gandhi and Stalin are the others—whose voices never have been broadcast in the United States.

"Setting itself up as an unofficial censorship board, the State Department has turned thumbs down on a broadcast to the United States by former Emperor Wilhelm, of Germany, the Evening Journal learned today from an authentic source.

"Officials in Washington were approached by New York executives of a broadcasting chain with plans of an American newspaper organization to have the former kaiser speak from his castle in Holland in a sponsored program over a coast-to-coast network. The officials, acting informally, disapproved the plan without putting themselves on record. Thereupon the broadcasters dropped the plan."

FIRE INJURES 5, TIES TRAFFIC TWO HOURS

Four Overcome, Fifth Cut By Glass in Liberty Ave. Blaze; Streets Blocked

Four firemen were overcome by fumes, a fifth was injured and downtown rush-hour traffic was tied up this morning by fire in the four-story brick building, at 963 Liberty avenue, occupied by Hamburg Brothers, a distributor of radios and refrigerators.

The firemen were overcome while battling flames on the top floor used as a refrigerator service department. At Mercy Hospital, Chief Surgeon Daniel E. Sable, of the Public Safety Department, said they had been affected by carbon monoxide, possibly generated by burning chemicals. Several tanks of carbon dioxide were in the building, firemen reported.

FOUR OVERCOME

Those overcome were Capt. Sol Kramer and Hoseman Walton White, of No. 3 Engine Company; Capt. Gottfried Scheletter, No. 3 Truck Company, and Hoseman Edward Heffner, No. 33 Engine Company.

Lieut. Edward Kerr, of No. 1 emergency squad, in going to the aid of his fellow-firemen with a stretcher, broke a plate glass window, and suffered loss of the little finger of his left hand, severed by flying glass.

A crowd of pedestrians watched the firemen run up an aerial ladder and pour water on the flames from the roofs of two adjoining buildings. The roof of one, at 965 Liberty avenue, occupied by the White Electric Sewing Machine Company, caught fire, but was soon extinguished.

TRAFFIC JAMMED

Trolley and auto traffic in Liberty avenue near the scene was paralyzed for two hours. Many downtown cars were rerouted, and traffic lights were turned out to facilitate movement on other streets.

Deputy Fire Chief F. J. Conley placed the damage to Hamburg Brothers at $20,000 and to the roof of the White Sewing Machine building at $200.

E. A. Hamburg, a member of the firm, said he could not estimate the damage until a checkup was made. Emergency business offices would be set up immediately in a vacant storeroom a few doors away, he said.

A slight fire broke out on the third floor of Thompson's restaurant, 435 Market street, shortly before 11 o'clock today. The dense smoke attracted hundreds of downtown shoppers. A defective flue is believed to have caused the blaze.

BUSTER KEATON BEATEN BY BEAUTY

Comedian Rescued From Wrecked Dressing Room; 'Joke,' Says Kathleen Key

International News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 5.—For refusing to satisfy her alleged threatening demands for $25,000, Buster Keaton, motion picture comedian, was severely beaten and his dressing room wrecked by a former film beauty, Kathleen Key, he admitted today.

Friends rescued Keaton from his room at the studio, his clothes torn, his face and hands scarred and bruised.

The studio police chief overpowered Miss Key and took her to the Culver City Police Station. She was released, however, without any charge being placed against her.

CALLS IT 'JOKE'

Miss Key treated the incident as a "joke" and told interviewers to "ask Mr. Keaton what happened."

Keaton declared:

"She wrecked my dressing room. She clawed and scratched, and tore my clothes."

Keaton said he had bet Miss Key $500 she could not reduce 20 pounds in weight in 10 days, promising her a part in motion pictures if she would "make weight." Miss Key accepted the wager, but lost only six pounds in the stipulated time. Keaton said he told her:

"Well, you tried hard enough. Here's the $500 check."

Keaton charged:

"This check was used over my head to collect more money. Gossip reached studio officials. Miss Key demanded $4,000 to pay debts, and $1,000 for a ticket to China. I agreed to give her $5,000 just so the gossip would be stopped. When I offered her the check she demanded $20,000, and I tore up the $5,000 check in her presence and resolved not to give her another cent."

'MANHANDLED AWFUL'

"Then the fight started. She manhandled me something awful."

Cliff (Ukulele Ike) Edwards was one of the witnesses to the first part of the fight, Keaton said.

Keaton is one of the leading film comedians. He was married several years ago to Natalie Talmadge, youngest sister of Norma and Constance Talmadge. They have two children.

MRS. ELIZABETH HENDERSON

RESUME CALVIT CASE MARCH 4

The testimony of Mrs. Elizabeth Henderson, of 631 College avenue, was a high point in the initial hearing in Orphans Court yesterday in the suit of Mrs. Dorothy Russell O'Reilly Calvit, daughter of Lilliam Russell Moore, to break the will of the late Ambassador Alexander P. Moore. The final hearing will be held March 4.

Mrs. Henderson, former vice chairman of the Republican committee of the Eleventh Ward, and friend of Moore for many years, testified in substantiation of Mrs. Calvit's claim that Moore had entered into an agreement with her mother before their marriage in 1912 to leave Dorothy half his property. He left her only $1,000 in his will, which disposed of $600,000.

Mrs. Henderson testified:

"Mr. Moore told me after his wife's death that Lillian did not love him a bit—only her daughter. He said 'I was crazy about her and wanted to marry her. Lots of other men loved her too, but they wouldn't agree to provide for Dorothy. I did agree.'"

Auto Wrecks Gas Pump, Starts Fire

Herman Barr, 26, of Parkview avenue, was arrested today after police reported, his auto crashed into a gasoline pump of the Pure Oil service station next to Oakland Police Station at Forbes and Bouquet streets and caused a gasoline fire.

The pump was ripped from its foundation, but the fire was confined to the few gallons of gasoline in the pump itself.

Barr, who was charged with violating the automobile laws, had been drinking, the police said.

VETO POWER GIVEN CITY BY LAW

Downtown, North Side Foes Of Nicola Proposition Look to Kline, Allies

The threatened fight against erection of the Town Hall on the Nicola site in Schenley Farms is expected to center on City Council and Mayor Charles H. Kline, rather than with the county commissioners.

The city must consent to the acquisition of property and the erection of the Town Hall by the county, according to provisions of the county code of 1929, which incorporated similar provisions of the Act of 1925, under which the county proceeded, lawyers declared.

The governing clause follows:

Section 608 of the County Code of 1929: Concent of city or borough. No county shall acquire any property for, or erect any such public auditorium, library, memorial building or monument within the limits of any city or borough, without the consent of the corporate authorities of such city or borough.

OAKLAND FOES MEET

This new angle to the controversy over the selection of the site was to be discussed at the joint meeting this afternoon of the downtown and North Side associations interested in the Town Hall.

COMPROMISE IN WORDING BRINGS RELIEF BILL TRUCE NEAR

$15,000,000 SUM LIKELY TO PASS

Hoover Objections to Be Met By Eliminating Name of Red Cross, Senators Feel

BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—An agreement on the relief controversy acceptable to both Republican and Democratic leaders in the Senate was forwarded today to President Hoover.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The delicate task of phrasing a sentence, permitting use of federal funds to buy food for starving Americans, but without saying so in specific language, was the only obstacle today in the way of a compromise between President Hoover and the Senate on drought relief.

There was a general agreement the compromise would appropriate $15,000,000 more for drought relief and an indication it would be directed to the Secretary of Agriculture for administration. But a dozen leaders were working on language which will be suitable not only to the President, but to the militant heads of the Democratic-Insurgent coalition in the Senate.

SEE OBJECTIONS MET

It appeared the ultimate proposition would merely provide the money should be made available to be spent by the Secretary of Agriculture "if, when and as found necessary" to relieve suffering in the drought area. It was felt this language would meet the President's objections and also satisfy the coalition.

The President has told his spokesmen he will veto any bill appropriating federal funds direct to the American Red Cross. Hence the name of that organization will not appear in the compromise. He has also said he will veto any language directly authorizing the purchase of food with federal funds. So the word food will be excluded from the authorization.

WATSON HOPEFUL

Senator Watson (Rep.), of Indiana, said:

"I think we'll get a compromise satisfactory to everybody. It may take a little time, but I think the whole situation will work out with everybody pleased."

When asked about the compromise maneuvers, Senator Caraway (Dem.), of Arkansas, who initiated the demand for relief of humans in the drought area, said:

"No sincere person, interested in relieving distress among persons hungry and cold, will quibble about the method of relief."

STORMS DELAY LOS ANGELES

By LIEUT. RAYMOND F. TYLER.
International News Service.

ABOARD U. S. S. LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—Bucking moderately high winds and intermittent thunderstorms which were impeding our progress somewhat, we of the naval dirigible Los Angeles were cruising down the east cost of Florida today, well over the halfway point to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, our first stop.

The Los Angeles, bearing 13 officers, 34 enlisted men and two passengers, is en route to the Panama Canal Zone to participate in fleet maneuvers to be held there.

The rough weather off the coast of Florida was the first we struck since hopping off from the Lakehurst Naval Air Station, N. J., at 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

We had anticipated arriving at Guantanamo Bay about sunset this evening, but the contrary winds and thunderstorms have slowed our speed to 60 miles per hour, or less, so our arrival may be somewhat later in the evening.

solini then offered to show him Rome and the outskirts, and the next day Mussolini's car picked Vanderbilt up at his hotel, and then the car went to get Mussolini.

"Vanderbilt said the car was traveling at a high rate of speed on a road on the outskirts of Rome. Vanderbilt claimed that a youngster ran out from a roadside and the car knocked the youngster down and ran over it.

"To make sure, Vanderbilt said he looked back and then turned to Mussolini and said, 'You have run over a child. Stop.' Vanderbilt said Mussolini calmly put his hand on his (Vanderbilt's) knee and said, 'It's never wise to look back in life. What is one life in affairs of state?'"

Mr. Neilson added that, while he had not been asked to testify at Gen. Butler's court-martial, he was "ready to go."

Butler 'Inaccurate,' Vanderbilt Asserts

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., reputed source of the Mussolini story that has resulted in Gen. Smedley D. Butler facing a court-martial, was on record today as saying the marine officer had "quoted inaccurately" something he heard at the Affiliated Lecture Bureau in New York last November.

Giving his first explanation of his silence regarding the Mussolini incident since it brought the General a court-martial summons, the young newspaperman last night said he would relate correctly what he said originally concerning the Mussolini anecdote if called as a witness in the court-martial.

Vanderbilt said he was "bound in respect the strictest confidence" surrounding several incidents related by himself and others in the New York lecture bureau, adding:

"All but three or four persons have respected that confidence. Gen. Butler quoted inaccurately what was said. Everything that has come out since the story was told has been garbled. There are 10 or 20 people who have remained silent.

"I will relate correctly from the witness stand what I said, if Gen. Butler or his counsel asks me to appear. So far I have told it only to the State Department in a letter which they have declined to make public. I have told the State Department I will appear at the court-martial if it is desired, and I have informed Gen. Butler similarly."

Vanderbilt said he felt what he said in the lecture bureau had "no bearing" on Gen. Butler's case.

Judge Upholds Butler, Scores Secretary Adams

By E. L. RAWLEY.
International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—Philadelphia friends of Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler rallied to the veteran's support today upon receipt of news that the charges on which the general is to be tried here on February 16 are "very severe."

Word regarding severity of the charges, based on Gen. Butler's reference in a speech to Premier Mussolini, of Italy, as a hit-and-run driver, leaked out despite an attitude of secrecy maintained in Washington by the Navy Department, which completed and served the charges yesterday. Maj. Henry Leonard, Gen. Butler's counsel, refused to reveal the charges, but termed them "severe."

"CONVICTED FIRST"

Judge Harry S. McDevitt, of the Philadelphia Common Pleas Court, an old friend, declared Gen. Butler had been "convicted first," and is to be "tried afterward." He also bitterly denounced Secretary of the Navy Adams and other government officials for "humbling themselves" before the rulers of Europe.

Judge McDevitt told 2,000 members of the Philadelphia League of the Sacred Heart:

"I do not know Secretary Adams, and I do not want to know him.

"But I do object to a Pennsylvanian, such as Maj. Butler, being convicted first and tried afterward.

"Butler's court-martial is an insult to the intelligence of all Pennsylvanians, who object to a man of Butler's type being strung up to the mast and then being tried.

"Butler is not infallible, but neither is he yellow, and if we want milk-and-water soldiers and officers who bow to European rulers, then we don't want a Pennsylvanian."

Other friends of the Marine general broke their silence of years and revealed "the truth" of the famous "cocktail dinner" at San Diego, Cal., in April, 1926, which resulted in much criticism of Gen. Butler.

BUTLER EXONERATED

The onus falling on Gen. Butler for the court-martialing and reprimanding of the late Col. Alexander S. Williams, as a result of the dinner was transferred from the marine's shoulders to those of the late William Ashley Herman Robertson by Mr. and Mrs. C. S. A. Henry, of Ardmore, and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett R. Tatnall, of Haverford, Pa.

They quoted Admiral Robertson as saying when the incident came up for discussion in social circles that he had ordered Gen. Butler to prefer the charges of drunkenness against Col. Williams on penalty of having charges of neglect of duty filed against himself.

FULL PAYMENT OF VET BONUS REJECTED

Decision of Both Democrat And G. O. P. Leaders Laid To Influence of Bankers

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Proposals for immediate full cash payment of veterans' adjusted service compensation certificates totaling three and a half billion dollars have been definitely rejected by both Republican and Democratic leaders in Congress, it was learned today.

The decision, reached informally, is declared to be a victory for leading bankers and financiers who have testified before the Ways and Means Committee that issuance of bonds in this amount would prevent business recovery.

No one wants to take the responsibility of preventing business recovery, said a leading Republican, confirming the understanding.

The suggestion of Chairman Owen D. Young, of the General Electric Company, are believed to form a basis for a compromise between extreme proposals to aid the veterans.

The Young plan, which calls for advancement of $300,000,000 to $500,000,000 on the certificates to needy veterans, attracted wide attention. It could be accomplished, it is believed, without the sale of new bonds, as a part of the Victory Loan refinancing operations the Treasury must carry on next year.

Other plans designed to aid needy veterans include cashing of certificates for 20,000 to 300,000 veterans out of work, estimated to total about $200,000,000, and increase of the loan value of the certificates.

CLARK SILENT ON CLUB BAN

Public Safety Director James M. Clark today had not indicated whether he will continue his radio crusade and close additional night clubs and cabarets which fail to observe the closing hour rules.

Clark refused the monthly permit Monday of Eddie Klein's Plaza Club after he tuned in on a Plaza radio broadcast early Sunday morning. He closed the club, and also the Club Alabam on Wylie avenue.

Subsequently Clark listened to Eddie Klein's promise "to be good" and permitted the Plaza Club to reopen. The Club Alabam thus far has not met with similar leniency.

MALONE CALLS CONTRACTORS

HARRISBURG, Feb. 5.—Secretary of Property and Supplies James F. Malone today announced a conference of contractors to be held here next Wednesday at which time his department will discuss building specifications on state work. The meeting is being held so that the new administration can explain its construction policy to contractors.

Gov. Pinchot in his budget message to the Legislature this week recommended an emergency appropriation of $10,000,000 to be made for building operations this summer as an aid to reducing unemployment.

The present administration is opposed, Malone said, to the substitution of "something just as good" for materials specified for buildings.

Next Wednesday the department is scheduled to open bids on three minor building projects left over from the Fisher administration.

Midget Motor Hits Tricycle; None Hurt

PALO ALTO, Cal., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—A midget motor car driven by E. R. Henshel, collided yesterday with a tricycle operated by Andrew Offenhiser, 3. Neither was injured, the report to police said, but the machines were considerably damaged.

POWER OUSTER SUIT VOTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—The Senate today directed the district attorney of the District of Columbia to institute immediate ouster proceedings against George Otis Smith, chairman of the new Federal Power Commission.

The resolution instructed the district attorney to bring court action to throw Smith out of his post. This was the final step in a two months' fight between the White House and Senate.

The fight started after the Senate had confirmed the commission. Three of its members—Chairman Smith, Claude L. Draper and Marcel Garsaud—met and dismissed Charles A. Russell, solicitor, and William V. King, accopntant, who had been active n fighting power companies. The Senate recalled the confirmations of all three members, but the White House announced they had been sworn into office.

Despite this the Senate referred the nominations back to the committee and yesterday reconsidered them, confirming Draper and Garsaud for the second time, but rejecting Smith, who had been held responsible for the Russell-King incident.

Oil Embargo Bill Approved in Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—The Senate Commerce Committee today approved the Capper bill to restrict the importation of foreign oils, after a sharp division. The vote was 9 to 6.

WITNESSES BACK DAVIS AT QUIZ

Prominent Pennsylvanians Say Senator Won Only on Merit—Not by Money

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Today was "Jim" Davis-day when the Senate campaign funds investigating committee resumed its hearings into the campaign expenditures of the new senator.

Nearly a score of witnesses were on hand to testify in behalf of the junior Pennsylvania Senator, and the hearing was enlivened by the testimony of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. J. Curran, of Wilkes-Barre, who characterized Gov. Pinchot and Davis as "two honest men."

Mrs. Worthington Scranton, of Scranton, national committeewoman from Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Hannah Durham, of Allentown, member of the State Republican Committee's executive committee, lent a touch of color to the meeting.

GLOWING PRAISE

Mrs. Durham said:

"Senator Davis was the most popular candidate I ever campaigned with. He had personality, was fond of the people and very generous with his time.

"There was no Davis money spent in our county—Lehigh—and it would be absolutely unfair to charge against him the money spent on the Davis-Brown ticket. Davis was chosen to help the ticket and was an asset because of his personality."

Mrs. Scranton paid this tribute:

"'Jim' Davis, as we all call him, appeals to women particularly because of his good fellowship and for what he has done for women's organizations. There is no one in the state who is as popular as he is.

"I do not believe you could defeat 'Jim' Davis with or without money—no one could have defeated him."

"TWO HONEST MEN"

She also thought that it would be unfair to charge up any money to Davis.

Msgr. Curran said no one in Luzerne county expected Davis "to spend a cent to buy the election."

He added:

"I wouldn't say Davis spent one cent dishonestly. It was a fight centering around the governorship, between Pinchot and Brown." (Francis Shunk Brown who was defeated.)

Chairman Nye, (Rep.), North Dakota asked:

"Did you support Davis?

Msgr. Curran replied.

"Absolutely. They are two honest men."

Other witnesses were Harry F. Rahn, of West Redding; the Rev. E. P. Pfatteicher, of Philadelphia, president of the Lutheran Ministerium in Pennsylvania; and Bernard Meyer, of Philadelphia.

Meyer was called in connection with previous testimony from Samuel Vauclain, Philadelphia Davis-Brown treasurer, concerning expenditure of $65,000 about which Vauclain knew nothing.

Meyer said he had no knowledge of this fund.

made his latest assault, involving school-book tampering, before a session of the State School Directors' Association here last night.

He asserted:

"There has been a very definite effort made to propagandize the schools in favor of the utilities. Textbooks have been doctored. I believe in being fair and reasonable. I do not believe in oppression. I do believe in having all the facts made known and that is what I am hoping for just now in the Legislature."

The Governor concluded his address with a plea that the directors "guard" against propaganda that is issued in any form other than honest advertising."

RECALLS FORMER CHARGE

Although Gov. Pinchot did not commit himself, in his speech at Harrisburg alleging utilities propaganda was spread in school books, it is believed he had in mind testimony given before the Federal Trade Commission concerning the manner in which the power trust attempted to influence teaching in the public schools. The power trust succeeded in having eliminated from the schools of some states books that they regarded as undesirable, including "Community Civics," by Prof. R. O. Hughes, Peabody High School teacher.

Because Prof. Hughes suggested in his textbook that the nation should go slowly in turning its water power resources over to private corporations, the Power Trust held the book could not but "prejudice the mind of the student against corporations, natural monopolies and utilities in general."

J. S. S. Richardson, then director of the Pennsylvania Committee on Public Service Information, took the complaint against "Community Civics" to Harrisburg, and also wrote to J. H. Shearer, an Altoona utility executive, suggesting concerted action by all the public utilities companies of Pennsylvania to influence the schools.

Plot to Kill Mussolini Denied in Shooting

ROME, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Police announced today that they had frustrated with the arrest of Michele Schirru, a plan for a series of acts of political terrorism.

Schirru's arrest Tuesday night after a gun fight gave rise to rumors there had been an attempt or a plan for an attempt on the life of Premier Mussolini. This was vigorously denied by the authorities.

According to the police version, Schirru drew a revolver while being searched at the police station. He fired a number of shots which wounded three policemen, one seriously and then turned the gun on himself, inflicting a severe wound in the mouth.

A search of two rooms which Schirru had occupied in different hotels revealed two high explosive bombs arranged for use either as time or percussion explosives, police asserted.

Schirru, born in Sardinia, had traveled extensively, and was said to have been in the United States in March, 1930. His movements in many countries were watched closely by authorities.

4 FACE PRISON FIRE CHARGES

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—County Prosecutor Donald Hoskins said today he expects to seek at least four first degree murder indictments when the grand jury takes up an investigation next month of the Ohio peritentiary fire which claimed 320 lives last April.

Evidence involving convicts in a plot to burn one of the prison cell blocks so they might escape in the confusion, has been prepared and will be presented to the grand jury, the prosecutor indicated. He said that he will rely on a report compiled by Joseph D. Clear, special investigator for the state fire marshal's office.

It was rumored here that the report contains a confession by a convict from Akron that he supplied candles used in making a crude bomb through which the fire was set. It also has been reported that investigators found the actual perpetrator of the fire, a Cleveland robber, died in the blaze.

Cleveland Music Hall Dedication Tonight

CLEVELAND, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Severance Hall, the new permanent home of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra, will be dedicated tonight at a concert to be attended by leaders of music from other cities. The new hall is the gift of John L. Severance, who with his wife contributed $2,500,000, and climaxes the civic development of music which resulted in the organization of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra under Nikolai Sokoloff 13 years ago.

STALIN URGES WORLD REVOLT

MOSCOW, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—In a finghting, Chauvinistic speech to the industrial conference, Joseph Stalin, Soviet dictotor, today urged redoubled efforts to further world revolutionary plans.

Stalin said that the object of the rapid industrialization of the Soviet republics was to make Russia independent of foreign "capitalistic exploitation," and justify the hopes of success which the working classes of the world have placed in the Soviets. He shouted:

"In return let us support foreign workers against the capitalists. Let us fan the flames of world revolution. If we succeed we will overturn the whole world, freeing the entire working class."

BANDITS DISARM POLICEMAN

Three armed bandits early today held up the night watchman at the Negley garage, 556 South Negley avenue, but abandoned an attempt to open the office safe when interrupted by a policeman.

The policeman was robbed of his gun.

The officer, Thomas Phillips, of the Squirrel Hill Station, entered the building to investigate an open door, and found the three men.

Asked what they were doing there, one of them replied they were waiting for the night watchman to get some gasoline. The officer turned away, and one of the men shoved a pistol against his back. Another took his gun.

The three then backed out of the building and escaped.

They took $2.13 from the night watchman, Rufus Harvey, 73, of 2324 Webster avenue, then tied Henry's hands and feet, gagged him and locked him in a small room. After the men fled he freed his hands and called help.

BANK ROBBERY TIP HOAX

Nine county detectives, armed with machine guns, formed a guard at the State Bank of Dravosburg today for bank robbers who failed to keep their rumored appointment.

Chief John Whalen, of McKeesport, early this morning received a tip by telephone that a bank robbery would be staged either at Dravosburg or McKeesport. He arranged for extra guards and notified Chief C. A. Livingston, of Dravosburg.

One officer was stationed inside the bank, one outside, and seven others sat in a parked car nearby, machine guns hidden from sight.

Deposits Fall Low, Utica, O., Bank Closes

NEWARK, O., Feb. 5.—The Farmers Bank, private institute, at Utica, north of this city, failed to open this morning. The president, F. F. Sperry, stated that there was less than $40,000 on deposit. The bank was not making any money and he turned it over to state banking officials for adjustment. The bank was established in 1890.

Siege Conditions Ended in Madrid

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—The state of seige in Madrid, in effect since recent disorders, was lifted today, said an Exchange Telegraph Company message from that city. A royal decree has been promulgated closing every university in Spain for a month. Students thus will be disbanded until after the general election, on March 1.

Find No Americans In Quake Dead List

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—The American consulate at Wellington, New Zealand, reported to the State Department today that no names of Americans have yet appeared on the casualty list of the New Zealand earthquake.

RICH MAN ENDS LIFE BY POISON

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Edward J. Powell, wealthy street-paving contractor, who recently married Mrs. Cornelia Fox, former wife of Morton H. Fox, Baltimore packer, killed himself last night in his "Cold Coast" apartment by swallowing poison while he and his mother were entertaining acquaintances.

Until last week Powell and his bride had been spending their honeymoon in Florida. He returned to Chicago unexpectedly, however, telling his friends that business necessitated his presence. His wife is stopping at a hotel in Palm Beach.

Powell's mother told police her son went into the bathroom of the apartment suddenly, with the remark:

"I think I'm apt to die of paralysis some day."

He returned within a few minutes and aid:

"Well, I'll be better off dead, anyway. I've just drunk poison."

Mr. and Mrs. Powell were married in New York about January 15. Shortly after they had started on their honeymoon Mrs. Powell revealed that she had been robbed last November of jewelry valued at $75,000.

BELLE RESUMES RAID DEFENSE

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—Belle Livingston, the only person to ever conduct a night club in New York and call it a salon, was to continue a recital of her troubles in federal court today.

She will give further testimony in the contempt proceedings against her. The charge is based on the allegation that she operated a club after a temporary injunction had been issued following a federal raid.

Belle's defense is that she was only employed at the club to look after the decorations and see that the guest list was authentic.

Weather Conditions.

Relatively high pressure overlies the states east of the Mississippi, stretching as the area from the far Northeast south-westward to Louisiana, and another high pressure area is centered over Manitoba. Centers of low appear off the South Atlantic Coast between the Great Lakes and Hudson Bay, and in Arizona. The distribution of pressure resulted in a lowering of temperature over the eastern states, and a slight rise west of the Mississippi, except over North Dakota, where it is slightly colder than yesterday, and mostly clear skies. The only precipitation during the last 24 hours was a little snow in the far Northeast and showers in the Pacific Coast states and over the western slope of the Rockies. Temperatures over the Atlantic Coast states and as far west as Ohio are now near the season's normal.

River Conditions.

The rivers are stationary or falling. Stage at Wellsburg is 1.7 feet. Lock No. 7, 12.2. Pittsburgh, 10.7. Dam No. 2, 9.5. Dam No. 4, 8.9. Dam No. 6, 7.7, and Dam No. 13, 6.7. The rivers will change but little.

2 CHILDREN DIE IN FLAMES

LEECHBURG, Pa., Feb. 5.—Two children of Paul Faulk were burned to death and their mother was burned seriously attempting to rescue them when their home on the Kittanning pike near Leechburg was destroyed by fire today.

Bodies of Paul, Jr., 3, and Theodore, 2, were found in the ruins by firemen headed by Burgess J. M. Spanier, of Leechburg.

Mrs. Faulk, 23, was taken to the Allegheny Valley Hospital in Tarentum, where her condition was reported to be critical.

Mrs. Faulk, before collapsing after being rescued, said she was feeding chickens in the yard when she heard screams from within the house. Turning she saw their home, a new two-story frame, in flames.

As she lapsed into unconsciousness neighbors heard her mutter:

"Paul must have got the can of oil."

The older child, firemen thought, may have imitated his parents in pouring oil on the fire to hasten the blaze, causing an explosion.

The father was at work in a Leechburg grocery at the time.

Mother Dies, Sixth Of Family Burned

WELCH, W. Va., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—An entire family of six today been wiped out by fire. Mrs. ice Bennett, 23, died in a ... hospital last night, the sixth victim of a fire that destroyed her home at Asco, near here, last Friday.

Her husband and two sons, Charles, 4, and Junior, 6, were burned to death as they slept. Two daughters, Lillian, 7, and a baby died in the hospital the following day.

Ohio Bill Doubles Auto License Fees

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—The Ohio Assembly had before it today a bill proposing doubling of the present license fees on pleasure automobiles and motorcycles, a 30 per cent increase in truck license fees and relieving all motor vehicles of the personal property tax.

TOLL OF QUAKES NEARING 700

WELLINGTON, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—While recurrent tremors continued to rock the Hawke Bay district, hundreds of rescue workers today were counting the dead and caring for the injured in Napier and Hastings, the two cities razed by Tuesday's violent earthquake.

Red Cross officials on the job estimate the death roll will probably total between 700 and 1,000.

Napier and Hastings are being completely evacuated in an effort to prevent the outbreak of disease and pestilence.

Minor shocks again jarred the Napier vicinity at 1:30 a. m. Friday local time (8:30 a. m. Thursday, Pittsburgh time), but evacuation of injured continued steadily. Many women refused to leave the ruined city, persisting in a pathetic search of the tumbled homes for bodies of husbands and children.

While relief work in Napier, Hastings, Taradale and Green Meadows is well in hand, there is still doubt as to the fate of many inland towns and villages whose communications were cut by the tremors. Airplanes are flying over the interior of North Island seeking other devastated areas.

Property damage from the earthquakes is estimated at $20,000,000. Most of the property owners are not covered by insurance.

MANLESS DANCE HELD BY CO-EDS

By CHARLES A. EARLEY
Staff Correspondent.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Feb. 5.—On the campus of Waynesburg College here a complex battle is being waged between the co-eds and their male classmates over the serious matter of whether college boys shall escort the college girls to school proms, or bring non-student girls to the affairs.

However these affairs may be, last night was the occasion for the co-eds' reprisal. For the third time in as many years they held their annual "manless dance." And it was a success. While the girls danced to dreamy music in the National Guard Armory, with half the merry-makers attired in Tuxedos, playin, the part of boys, the male students stood outside, unwanted. If the boys couldn't stand total exclusion they were privileged to look on from obscure positions in the balcony—after paying 50 cents admission.

At a session held just before the "manless prom" got under way, a consensus of the men collegiates resulted in this assertion:

"We've had enough of this foolishness. We'll hold a dance of our own. Just let any of the co-eds try to get a bid. Any girl attending will have to be a non-collegiate Waynesburger or an out-of-town femme. In fact, we've printed a statement to that effect on the tickets. We want to make it plain that none of the men students will dress as girls."

The dance will be held February 27.

Last night's dance was sponsored by the Alpha Gamma Theta sorority, of which Mary Wiley is president.

Zionist Rule Change Denied by England

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—Reports cabled to New York that the British government was about to reverse its Palestine policy, making important concessions to the Zionists, were described by a high government official today as absolutely untrue.

Reports that Lord Passfield was about to resign, to be succeeded by Lord Noel Buxton, former secretary of state for agriculture, were also denied.

Ohio Father Forgives Girl in N. Y. Show

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—An "all is forgiven" telegram from her father was in the hands today of Billie Leonard, 19, of Columbus, O., who came to New York to study interior decorating and gained a principal role in a current musical show instead. Her father, G. A. Leonard, is in the real estate business.

Walker Against 1 a.m. Night Club Closing

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—Efforts to close New York night clubs at 1 o'clock in the morning faced the opposition of Mayor Walker today. He said he preferred close police supervision of the clubs instead of the early closing hour.

Coolidge Opposes Plan To Deny Appropriations

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Feb. 5.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

Present conditions require the people to let the Congress know what they want done. That will usually prevent any need for future alarm. A great English writer has described the contortions that accompany the exorcism of an evil spirit. The same thing takes place in Washington. It is disturbing to the country to see it and hear it. But in spite of all the convulsions the Congress is made up of men and women with a great deal of common sense. After taking second thought and observing the popular reaction, they finally reach a fairly sound conclusion.

Calvin Coolidge

We live under constitutional government. All our officers are oath-bound to support the constitution. One of the duties of the Congress is to make provision for the administration of the laws by granting necessary appropriations. When this is remembered it is not likely to seem morally defensible to attempt to suspend important government functions to force passage of certain bills. A president has the power of removal but he could not justify disbanding several departments of the government to compel the Congress to accept his judgment. The Congress will find some method to avoid disbanding departments by refusing appropriations.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

meeting in the Colonial Trust Company.

Charles C. McGovern, commissioner who voted against purchase of the Nicola site, has come out for a downtown or North Side location, provided the property is now exempt from taxation. He named the sites of the Wabash Station and the old Exposition Building at the Point and Monument Hill in the North Side as worthy of consideration.

Mr. McGovern conferred yesterday with James C. Chaplin, president of the Downtown Town Hall Association. Later he expressed the opinion that he believes a downtown location is best.

M'GOVERN EXPLAINS

Asked why he had favored the armory site in Oakland, Mr. McGovern said that was merely for purposes of comparison. He said:

"I brought that out to show that if the hall must go to Oakland it can be gotten cheaper than on either the Nicola or the Duquesne Garden properties. I am against putting the hall in Oakland, and favor some downtown property now tax free, the purchase of which would not increase the burden of the taxpayer by exempting more property."

The primary purpose of the town hall should be that of an exhibit of the products of Pittsburgh industry Mr. McGovern declared. In downtown district it would be accessible to the largest number of persons, he explained.

Mortimer B. Lesher, county solicitor, says the legal department will proceed to negotiate for the Nicola site at Fifth and Ruskin avenues, Schenley Farms, as soon as instructions are received from commissioners. An opinion is being prepared on the necessity of taking bids on the building.

Joseph G. Armstrong, chairman of the board of county commissioners, says he is not worried regarding a taxpayers suit. He declined to discuss the town hall selection.

NEGOTIATIONS PENDING

While the Schenley Farms property has been agreed upon as the town hall site and a majority of the commissioners voted to purchase it at a price not exceeding $8 a square foot, actual negotiations have not been completed. As yet there has been no public statement from the Schenley Farms Company that the $8 offer will be acceptable, although its acceptance has been generally taken for granted.

Full authority rests in the commissioners to purchase the land according to the state act of April 29, 1925. Whether they would have the power to have an individual firm erect the building without competitive bids remains in doubt.

In a taxpayers' suit, the burden of the proof is always upon the complainants. They must show the court that the officials involved have been guilty of gross fraud or corruption, negligence, or that no evidence exists on which the officers could act.

Such an action might be based on the location or the cost of a property bought for public purposes. In Philadelphia a taxpayers' suit was once won by citizens protesting against the paving of a street beyond the point where it was deemed necessary to the public. It is pointed out that the case must be very clear to be successful.

If it is necessary for the county architect to prepare plans for bidders on the town hall, the designing may require considerable time. For a building the size of the hall large and detailed specifications will be necessary.

TOWN HALL SITE BEFORE BOARD

The North Side Chamber of Commerce will meet tonight in the Old City Hall, Federal and Ohio streets, to discuss the mercantile tax, the high dam bridge, municipal and civic affairs, transportation and the town hall problem. Officers elected for 1931 include F. E. Tencate, president; H. F. Burnworth, first vice president; G. H. Baskerville, second vice president; D. R. Stitsel, treasurer, and J. J. Kassouf, secretary. The board of directors includes W. J. Billings, John O'Neil, George C. Blumenschein, C. O. Schmitt, James Moore, W. J. Smart, W. H. Newmeyer and J. C. Wilson.

Helen Kane Payee's Lost Books Sought

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—Final hearing to determine what became of the missing books of a dress company, one of whose partners repaid $50,000 to Helen Kane, actress, shortly before the firm failed, was set today for February 16. Leonard Gilchrist, a porter of the company, testified yesterday he was ordered to throw away the books. On cross-examination, however, he admitted he was not certain he threw out the books.

MacDonald to Rest After Heavy Work

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Reports today that Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald was feeling the strain of overwork have occasioned no surprise in political circles. It was announced that the Premier is not definitely ill, but would take a brief holiday to begin probably next week-end.

Few men since the days of the World War have undertaken the tremendous amount of work the Prime Minister has allotted to himself.

BALDWIN BOARD HITS HALL SITE

A resolution was adopted last night by the Baldwin Township board of commissioners condemning the action of the County Commissioners in selecting Oakland as a site for the proposed town hall.

The resolution states that the site was inadequate in size, excessive in cost and neither centrally nor conveniently located for the masses. It concludes that the board believes that the site suggested on the Allegheny River front North Side, possesses practically all the required advantages for this most important metropolitan project.

William E. Armstrong, chairman of the board, and also president of the Allegheny County Association of Township Commissioners, introduced the matter to the board, and the motion was made by Commissioner John Nurnberger. The board set the township millage at nine mills, the same as last year.

Governor's Daughter Gets Divorce Decree

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Mrs. Mary Stuart Estes, daughter of Henry Carter Stuart, former Virginia governor, was granted an interlocutory divorce decree from Wallace Estes, Pacific coast football player, in Superior Court here yesterday.

Mrs. Estes, married the former Marine Corps officer at Norfolk, Va., September 5, 1927. They separated March 1, 1928. Several months ago Mrs. Estes caused Estes' arrest here while he walked on Market street with Arlene Cooper, whom he also had married in Virginia.

Havana Strike Fails, Conditions Normal

HAVANA, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—Conditions in Havana were normal today following the conclusion of a 24-hour strike by thousands of maritime workers, linotype operators, carpenters and metallurgical workers. Attempts to make the strike general failed.

ROBBER HUNTED AFTER HILL SHOOTING

Thug Holds Up Store, Wounds Officer in Gun Battle and Escapes; Other Robberies

The Hill district was being searched by police and detectives today for a Negro thug who wounded Motorcycle Patrolman Samuel Karem in a gun battle following the holdup of the meat market of G. Giarrusso, 1105 Wylie avenue, last night.

The robber who police said has been looting stores in the Hill district for several months, entered Giarrusso's shop shortly after 6 o'clock and at pistol point handed the proprietor a note which read:

"Keep quiet and give me all the money you have. This is my last haul."

It was signed "Lone Wolf."

HANDS OVER LOOT

Giarrusso scooped up the contents of the cash register, amounting to $40, and placing the cash in a handkerchief as he was directed by the gunman, handed over the loot.

Karem, riding to his home at 1011 Bedford avenue, saw the fleeing Negro and opened fire. One of a dozen bullets exchanged in the chase grazed Karem's left cheek. The thug turned into a side street and escaped.

Karem was treated at the Passavant Hospital.

Seventy-two dollars comprises the loot of two armed bandits who held up an attendant of the Atlantic Refining Company's service station, Kelly street, near Lang avenue, shortly before midnight. The cash was taken from a safe.

John Crawford, of 211 Charles street, reported to police that he was robbed of $8 and a watch valued at $30 by three men in West Park last night. One of the bandits displayed a large knife and another a revolver, Crawford said.

THUG FRIGHTENED AWAY

An armed Negro leaped to the running board of a truck in which Louis Shefsky, of 168 Devilliers street, and Earl Hampton, of 18 Horton street, were riding last night in Center avenue, and demanded their money. Hampton jumped to the street and shouted for help. The thug, frightened, leaped off and fled without loot.

William Sharp, proprietor of the West Penn Grocery, 233 East Eighth avenue, Homestead, reported to police his store was looted of $500 in checks and $225 in cash yesterday. Cigarets and candy were stolen from the United Candy Shop, 230 Eighth avenue, according to a Homestead police report.

Magistrate James J. Lundie, of McKeesport, held four youths for court without bail on charges of highway robbery in connection with the attempted holdup of a service station in Spring and Walnut streets. They said they were Joseph Berkowitz, 22, of 316 Market street; Frank Stark, 18, of 216 Ninth avenue; Samuel Guttman, 19, of 610 Wiley avenue, and Joseph Zaledosh, 22, of 409 Mulberry street, all of McKeesport.

SUSPECT ARRESTED

A youthful robber suspect who escaped when detectives arrested his two alleged pals in a downtown theater, was taken into custody yesterday in a First avenue restaurant. He said he was Harry Browning, of Montana. He told detectives he saw them approaching in the theater and, dropping his revolver into the pocket of one of his companions, he walked out.

Glen Crandell, one of the pair arrested in the theater, was identified yesterday as one of the two men who held up Dow's drug store, Smithfield and Diamond streets, last week and looted cash registers of $200. William Logan, arrested with Crandall, was not identified by the store employes. The three were lodged in the county jail.

Heavy Rains Flood Australian Area

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—Torrential rains swept the coastal areas of Queensland and New South Wales today, according to advices from Sydney, Australia. Many districts were reported under 20 feet of water, and scores of persons were made homeless after a 15-inch rainfall in 27 hours, according to the dispatches. Landslides added to the property damage in many of the affected areas.

OPERA BENEFIT FOR MILK FUND SUCCESSFUL

Mrs. Hearst's Organization Stages 'Boccaccio,' With Jeritza in Title Role

By GRENA BENNETT,
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—One of the most successful opera benefits was "Boccaccio," when some of the Metropolitan's most distinguished artists sang for the New York Free Milk Fund for Babies, of which Mrs. William Randolph Hearst is president.

Although that charming work had been presented several times, yesterday's performance seemed to have increased gayety and spirit, the music assumed greater beauty because of this, and the singers portrayed their roles with particular gusto and inspiration.

Each one apparently did his or her best for a cause so humane and kindly as that which provides life-giving and health-sustaining nourishment for the children of the poor.

JERITZA CHEERED

Early in the first act, when the beautiful Maria Jeritza dashed on the becoming mediaeval costume of the Florentine poet, Boccaccio, she was given an enthusiastic welcome.

She has often answered the appeal to appear at benefits for the milk fund.

The long cast of principals who contributed so much to the delightful and successful event included, besides Mme. Jeritza, Mmes. Fleischer, Manaki, Margana, Telva and Flexer, and Messrs. Kirchhoff, Meader, Clemens, Schutzendorf, Windheim, Gandolfi, Altglass, Wolfe and Gabor.

BRILLIANT AUDIENCE

Arthur Bodanzky, at the conductor's desk, performed his task with his customary zeal and skill.

A brilliant and distinguished audience lent additional color to the performance. Among the guests in Mrs. Hearst's box were Mrs. Oliver Harriman, Mrs. Julian Gerard and Mrs. Herbert Bayard Swope.

Judge of the Court of Appeals John O'Brien and Mrs. O'Brien, and Mrs. John R. De Witt and Miss Amy Sloan were guests of Mrs. Nelson Henry, vice president of the fund.

Maj. Gen. Hanson E. Ely, Mrs. Ely and Miss Madge Ely and the general's uniformed staff occupied the Army box. A group of high officers from the Brooklyn Navy Yard sat in the Navy box.

BELLE BLAMES THEO. DREISER

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—Belle Livingstone started her night club at the suggestion of Theodore Dreiser, she confided to Federal Judge Francis Gaffey today, and it turned out to be just another American tragedy. She testified:

"The idea of running a speakeasy never entered my head. It was just to be a nice cozy sort of salon where intelligent people could get together and enjoy conversation in a pleasant atmosphere."

Belle was testifying in her own defense in contempt proceedings brought against her because she had presided as hostess of the salon despite an injunction restraining her from any connection with dry law violators.

Assistant United States Attorney Charles H. Finkelstein asked:

"This place was a speakeasy —wasn't it?

Belle replied:

"I didn't know it was one. I thought it was a salon."

Lady Decies' Body Cremated in London

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—The body of Lady Decies, who died Tuesday, was cremated today at Golders Green crematorium. Lord Decies, her husband, and immediate members of the family, were present at the brief funeral ceremony in the chapel of the crematorium.

Lady Decies, the former Helen Vivien Gould, was a daughter of the late George J. Gould, of New York.

CHARGE BOOTH CASE 'FIX' PLOT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Allegations that Mrs. Susette Renaldo attempted to "fix evidence" which would picture her husband, Duncan Renaldo, film player, as paying attentions to Edwina Booth, motion picture actress, were made yesterday by a witness in a hearing over custody of the 4-year-old son of the Renaldos.

Mrs. Katie L. Wagner, testifying that Mrs. Renaldo lived at her home for several weeks last October, said the woman "asked me to make false statements" about Renaldo and Miss Booth. Mrs. Renaldo has filed a suit for $50,000 damages against the actress, alleging she stole Renaldo's love while working on a film with him in Africa. Mrs. Wagner testified:

"Mrs. Renaldo said to me: 'You know I'm suing Edwina Booth for $50,000 for alienation of affections. Is this the room she occupied?' I told her I didn't know what she was talking about, and then she said: 'I've made a mess. I said in my affidavit that Miss Booth occupied this room.'"

Later, the witness said, Mrs. Renaldo attempted to induce her to testify that the actress and Renaldo lived in a room of the home at one time.

Renaldo and his wife made counter charges of mental incompetency in seeking custody of their son.

Chaplin Revives Ancient Sport Of Title Reading

ELEVEN. Nine more will be twenty, then we can get club rates at any good sanitarium—

CHAPLIN has made a silent picture, which will give the audience the old fun of reading the titles out loud again. But we would just as soon have the—

Lesson for today will be politics in Parliament. British Labor Party won big victory—and then burst—into song.

They sang "Old Lang Syne" for some reason not legible in the prescription.

They didn't go outside and sing where the fresh air would have counteracted the second chorus. They sang right at their desks, which are paid for by the people.

This is compounding legislation to the ultimate square root. If singing makes the laws easier to read why don't the World War veterans serenade—

Andy Mellon with that good old bonus carol:

"Give Me Something to Remember You By?"

Or Mr. Heflin, who seems to think that anything is:

"A Cheerful Little Earful" even if it's an ache or mostoiditis?

Our soaking moist congressmen could give them that good old harmonious dischord in a row of co-operative flats:

"The Moonshines on the Wabash."

And the moonshines on plenty of other rivers, too, including their tributaries and branches.

We all remember Cal Coolidge's classic: "When Veto Went AMaying."

With the filibusterers singing the grand roll call even the practiced musicians would be unable to tell whether the ayes, the noes or Clara Bow had it.

It certainly would improve progress in any direction if we could grab time by the handles and sing that famous Democratic convention in Madison Square Garden all over again.

Those 24 Underwood delegates could give us:

"On Alabamy's Bam-Bam-Bammy Shore."

It might not be an improvement. But it certainly would be no retrograde movement.

Ex-Minstrel Star Dies in Wheeling

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Henry J. Menkemeller, 64, former ministrel star, died at his home here yesterday. He was an end man with Neil O'Brien and Swain Minstrel companies. He retired from the stage five years ago.

BLAZE SIFTED IN KENSINGTON

NEW KENSINGTON, Feb. 5.—Fire Chief Edward Clawson today planned to ask Deputy Fire Marshal E. W. Feber, of Greensburg, to help him inquire into the cause of a fire this morning in the home of C. Rosner, Freeport road, Pine Manor district of the borough. Chief Clawson estimated damage at $6,000.

Twenty firemen using gas masks extinguished the flames with four chemical lines. Clawson said he believed the fire had started in both the basement and attic.

The residence, an eight-room brick structure, was valued at $30,000, Clawson said.

Migraine Aches Running Behind Test Schedule

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—The headache schedule is running behind time in University of Illinois Research Hospital.

Theodore Roberts and James Callohan, who agreed to deliver two good migraine headaches every 30 days in exchange for $50 a month each and their board and room, have had lots of pains, but for the most part they have been of the homegrown variety and due to the fan mail they have received.

Roberts has had but one genuine migraine headache since he submitted himself to the hospital, where doctors hope to find the cause and a cure, while Callohan hasn't produced one since he joined the payroll January 13. He is almost two headaches in arrears.

RADIO SINGER SHOT TO DEATH

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Floyd McKissack, 22, church choir director and radio singer, was shot and killed last night at the home he shared with Oscar Neely, 39, who surrendered voluntarily to police.

His landlady, Mrs. John Kennedy, wife of a police sergeant and Neely's sister, said she heard shots in the kitchen a few minutes after McKissack returned home, and that Neely, apparently in a daze, walked from the kitchen after she saw him fire.

Mrs. Kennedy said her brother and McKissack were close friends.

Police said Neely was "completely crazy."

Adrenalin Saves Man Believed Dead

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Newman Hershfield, 64-year-old Kalamazoo, Mich., merchant, was revived by application of modern science after he apparently had died on the operating table in a hospital here and was pronounced dead by the surgeon in charge.

Adrenalin was injected into the heart muscles as a matter of routine. After a few minutes heart action was restored, the physicians said, color returned to the patient's face and the suregon proceeded with the operation.

Hospital authorities today reported Mr. Hershfield's condition satisfactory.

HERO HONORED BY D'ANNUNZIO

GARDONE RIVIERA, Italy, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Standing on the flag-draped bow of the reconstructed cruiser Puglia on the grounds of his Villa Vittoriale, Gabriel D'Annunzio saluted the coffin of the first victim of his famous raid on Fiume. The body of Lieut. Mario Asso, first of the private army of the poet-soldier to fall, was brought here for burial in a monument tomb erected by D'Annunzio.

Asso, who joined the poet's legion while on leave, previously was buried in the "Crypt of the Fallen" at Fiume. A society of women constituted themselves perpetual guardians of the tomb there.

GUILTY IN FATAL ROW OVER DRINK

A new trial will be sought for Philip Ruffer, Lawrenceville store proprietor convicted of second degree murder late yesterday by a jury in Criminal Court, Defense Attorney Frank F. Canuti said today.

Ruffer was convicted in the killing of Lawrence D. Green, 26, of 256 Edmond street, shot in a dispute over payment for a bottle of pop.

Defense witnesses testified Green was accidently shot while Ruffer struggled with him in self-defense. Assistant District Attorney Earl Adair prosecuted the case.

Alma Rubens' Trick Makeup Won First Part in Theater

Movie Rebuff Followed by Engagement With Play Of 'Broncho Billy'

By ALMA RUBENS

CHAPTER VI.

That was my last attempt toward a business or commercial career. I was thoroughly sick and disgusted with it all, yet I could not help but feel as though it was all my own fault, in spite of my self-pity, which I demonstrated by crying myself to sleep for several nights in succession.

I tried to analyze myself. What manner of girl was I? Was I lacking in the fundamentals of real ability, true stability? And, why was I so temperamentally misunderstood, my sense of feminine decency so thoroughly outraged?

Miss Rubens

Was I normal? The mirror into which I bared this soul-tormenting inquiry reflected nothing strange in figure or countenance. I was redolent with youth, lithe and strong, sleek and supple. I studied each feature, the firm contours of cheeks, chin and nostrils, much as a fancier appraises horseflesh.

Was it my contrasting coloring, the ivory texture of my skin, my widely separated, exploratory eyes, the wavy silkness of my chestnut hair shot through with glinting amber-red, the broad, low classical smoothness of my forehead, those qualities critics since have written about as "Rubenesque?"

I saw nothing unusual, no impure gleam morally destructive or immorally appealing. Was it possible that I could be a girl with a hidden scarlet nature which the male instinct suspected? Was this why I won chances so easily only to lose them as speedily when I shrank from male aggression.

Parents Recovered

Fortunately for me, both my mother and my father had sufficiently improved in health so as to be up and about. Soon my mother had completely recovered, and, thank God, never once since has she been ill.

Our finances, with abnormal drains, improved. I returned to school this time at the Sacred Heart Convent. There I formed a friendship with a girl, whose name I do not care to mention, but who proved to be the best pal I ever had in my life.

One day a trifling incident occurred, which once more caused me to hitch my star to a comet and turn my attentions toward a stage career. It was in one of those terrible little show houses in Fillmore street, where my chum and I sat watching a picture, in which Wally Reid—God bless his soul—was the lead.

A beautiful girl flashed into the scene.

My chum nudged me excitedly. "Alma," she whispered, "you're the very image of her!"

It was Blanche Sweet.

First Movie Rebuff

Only the most extravagant stretch of the fancy would find any resemblance between the blonde-haired Blanche and myself. Yet I was thrilled. It was an illusion which I allowed to trick and intrigue me to the absorption of everything else.

I was movie-struck.

Several days later I ran across an advertisement in a morning newspaper. It was for a number of extra girls for a motion picture production by G. M. ("Broncho Billy") Anderson, then one of the important factors in the movie industry.

I called to see him.

"Take off your hat," he commanded brusquely after I had waited in an outside room for more than an hour, while he interviewed a dozen other girls.

"Too young and too fair," was his brief comment. "Can't use you."

My spirits sank into my shoes, but I went away with hope not entirely shattered. I knew little or nothing of the art of makeup, but I reasoned with my chum that there must be some way of my darkening my complexion and simulating an older girl.

"Why not try frying powder in a pan and smear it on your face, then go out to the beach for a day and let the sun cook it into your skin?" she suggested.

The experiment sounded promising, so we played hookey from school the next day and went through the procedure most carefully and patiently.

Sun and Cosmetics

The sun was bright and the day extraordinarily hot. The beaches were crowded and from the moment of our arrival we were objects of varying degrees of curiosity.

Squatting backwards, using my armless props, the sun's fierce rays beat squarely upon my up-tilted face, each of my legs sprawling out stilt-wise, to brace me in position and other contortions, too numerous to mention. I must have proved a sensation to the spectators.

As the thick, greasy smears on my face began to melt and form tiny rivulets streaming from forehead to chin, passersby paused, looked, listened, then burst into unroarious laughter.

By this time the mixture had begun to trickle into my eyes and mouth, down my neck, back and front, making me decidedly uncomfortable, not to mention the terrible odor which was making me nauseated.

"What in the Sam Hill are you two girls trying to do?"

With that, I opened my eyes, braving the rivulets of the nasty mess which had almost blinded me. Around me was a boisterous mob and through it the owner of the voice was pushing his way. He was accompanied by a pretty young woman who looked at us agape.

La Rose Discovered

"Get up" the man ordered, peremptorily.

I was frightened and leaped to my feet in an effort to make a getaway. He caught my arm and held me tightly.

"Stand still!"

With palpitating heart and on the verge of hysterics, I did so.

"What's the big idea?" he demanded.

"I'm only trying out a new kind of ma...eup," I stammered, mistaking him for a policeman, or a deputy sheriff at least.

"A new kind of makeup!" he exploded, and for a second his eyes sought those of his female companion who not once had stirred or made a sound.

"What do you call yourself," he went on, "A prima donna or the end girl in a female minstrel show?"

His cool, taunting voice irked me. I drew myself up on my toes and hissed right back at him, scornfully:

"I'm Rose La France!"

"Oh!" he ejaculated, simulating surprise. "Rose La France, eh? So you're the great, great Rose La France, the rage of Europe, Asia, Africa and Podunk, Iowa."

He bowed deeply with an air of mock gallantry.

"Well, Rose," he said, "you can report on the stage at 9 a. m. tomorrow for rehearsals, but leave off that makeup stuff—that is, if you can scrub it off in time."

He thrust a card into my hand and, with his companion, vanished.

I stared stupidly at the card, too surprised to utter a sound or to notice the curious crowd, by this time grown to proportions that would have made old P. T. Barnum envious.

"Alma!" my chum finally gushed in awe. "Do you know who that was?"

I had a hard time collecting my thoughts, but finally, after much blinking to clear my eyes of the odious makeup concoction, I saw that the card bore the names of William Rock and Maude Fulton and a theater on Powell street, where they had scheduled "The Girl at the Gate" for its premiere.

This production was only one of many backed, as I afterward learned, by "Bronco Billy," who just the day before had turned me down cold.

"The Girl at the Gate." I was too stupefied to move away from the rubbering throng. Yes, I was at the "gate," the golden gate of Ambition, the gateway to my chosen career.

"Is it real or phoney," my chum, who came back to earth quicker than I did, blurted out.

Then, with that swift premonition so common among certain types of women, she answered her own question before I could think up a reply.

"It is real, Alma," she declared solemnly, and without the slightest hint of jealousy or doubt. "It is real! Your life has just begun!"

And so it had. I was Rose La France—at last!

Alma's early days on the stage—the comedy and drama behind the scenes—read about them tomorrow in Miss Ruben's thrilling life story.

Loan Associations To Hear Expert

Proposed revision of the statutes governing building and loan associations will be discussed tonight at a meeting of the Allegheny County League of Building and Loan Associations in the William Penn Hotel. The discussion will be led by Charles Klein, special counsel for the State Department of Banking. Mr. Klein is considered an authority on building and loan practices.

Pick March, October As Safety Months

Western Pennsylvania will be divided into 88 districts for the observation of March and October "No Industrial Accident" months in 1931, J. A. Oartel, general chairman of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council's Committee, announced today. The Department of Labor and Industry at Harrisburg has designated these two months for state wide campaigns to prevent industrial accidents, the Safety Council stated.

Court Upholds Toss Of Coin Decision

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—The flip of a coin, by which Mrs. Anna Vintus said she won the household furniture she and her former husband once used was approved as a manner for determining ownership.

The ruling was given yesterday by Judge Harry A. Lewis in Superior Court. He issued a writ of attachment for the furniture when Mrs. Vintus told him her former husband refused to give it up.

Robber 'Falls Asleep' After Job, Captured

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Jose Barome telephoned to police last night:

"Come over to my grocery and arrest the fellow who just held me up. He's asleep on the sidewalk."

The officers reported they found Robert Schultze on the sidewalk in front of the store with a pistol in his hand. Apparently he had stumbled on the steps and had fallen face downward, the impact knocking his unconscious.

Long-Distance Food Flown to Luncheon

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Airplanes can satisfy folk who are very particular about victuals. At an airport luncheon were served viands from 19 states and three foreign countries, all shipped by air transport within 26 hours. There were beef from Chicago, oysters from Baltimore, apples from Oregon, pineapples from Panama, cigars from Havana, grapefruit from Texas, beans from Boston, oranges from Florida and California, and then some.

McCann's Butter

Thursday, Friday and Saturday

3 lbs. $1

McCann's Eggs
fresh, of course!
3 doz. 85c
Mixed browns and whites . . . the eggs thousands of Pittsburghers ate this morning. And what's more important, enjoyed this morning. All McCann's eggs are candled as a double check on their freshness.
Shellwhite Fresh Eggs, 2 doz. 69c

Idaho Potatoes
15 lb. bag 49c
Branded "golden West" . . . fancy graded Idahoes . . . each one a meal in itself. Well known for their baking qualities, but used for every potato need by discriminating folks.

Fillets of Fresh Haddock
for Friday
lb. 25c
If you're all at sea about Friday's dinner this fresh fish from the sea ought to fill the bill tastefully. No bones . . . no waste.

Stewing Oysters . . . . . pt. 35c
Fresh Shrimp . . . . . pt. 39c
Jumbo Frogs . . . . . 2 for 95c

Dutchy
Limburger Cheese is our very own
lb. 29c
This may sound like a bed time story, but it's a fact that Limburger can be eaten late at night without ill effect. Dutchy is an exclusive McCann product.

Kraft's Velveeta
Cheese
Pimento or Plain
2 pkgs. 35c
The cheese for everyone . . . young and old. Easily digested. Spreads, slices when chilled and melts and toasts perfectly.

Our South American
Coffee is freshly roasted
3 lbs. 89c
"Freshly roasted" at McCann's means a matter of hours instead of days. S. A. has strength without without bitterness . . . a coffee you are sure to enjoy.

Flowers that bloom in the spring tra la!
Spring Flowers
box 69c
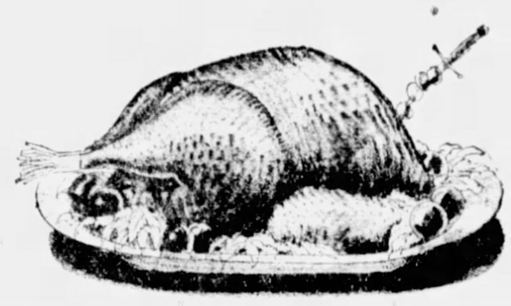
Pussywillows, tulips, calendulas and stevia . . . a charming bouquet that breathes spring. Packed with greens in an easily carried box.

Horning in on a good thing!
When you attend
Horne's Anniversary Sale
. . . tomorrow, Saturday or next week, don't forget that McCann's is just one block away. Here you can park your car and enjoy a good luncheon or dinner, and if you haven't invested ALL your money in Horne's Anniversary Values, you'll want to have our salespeople load your car with the good foods of the world assembled before your eyes.

Parking Rates
1 hour, 25 cents
2 hours, 40 cents
3 to 5 hours, 50 cents
5 hours or all day, 60 cents

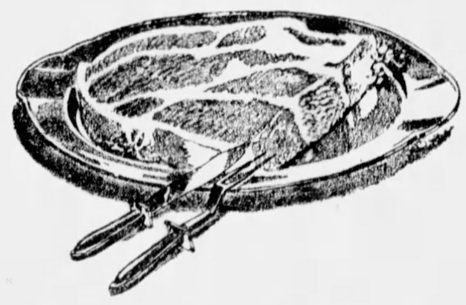
Cafeteria Service
10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.
Table Service and Cafeteria
4:30 p.m. to 8 p.m.
Special Dinners 75c to $1.50



Turkey for Sunday! Why Not?
PURITAN TURKEYS
freshy dressed . . . from Minnesota
lb. 43c
It's a long time until Thanksgiving. Why not enjoy another turkey dinner before this season's over? These are nice plump, full-breasted birds just like those that made such good eating Christmas day . . . in other words, McCann quality.

Long Island Ducks
lb 29c
Another tasty suggestion for Sunday's dinner. Long Island Ducks have a raised-for-the-table flavor not found in ordinary ducks.

Stewing Chickens
lb. 35c
A fricassee of chicken makes a dinner hard to beat! These butter-yellow pullets will certainly be tender eating and flavorful.



McCann Quality Meats
Chuck Roasts of Beef
are popular because of their deliciousness and their economy
lb. 23c
We're selling more and more chuck roasts and we know why! When a McCann "chuck" is roasted to a tender, brown savoriness it tastes as if it cost twice the price. Serve a McCann roast this week and taste the difference.

Armour's Hams
lb. 23c

Pork Sausage
lb. 30c

Tasty Topics Briefly Told

French Olive Oil
qt 85c
Put it in salads, in dressings, on your hair. Why use substitutes when the genuine oil is so modestly priced?

Orange Marmalade
lb. jar 25c
It's Robertson's . . . the well-known Scotch brand. Delicious on hot toast or muffins.

Spiced Ham
lb. 48c
Makes excellent sandwiches for quickly prepared luncheons or Sunday evening suppers.

Fresh Egg Salad
pt. 30c
Only hard boiled fresh eggs, finely chopped celery and McCann's own mayonnaise go into the make-up of this egg salad.

Braunschweiger
lb 43c
Moist enough to spread easily and expertly seasoned. You'll like it! It's SO good.

Cherry Pies
ea. 43c
Large, juicy red cherries baked between flaky light-hearted crusts. Melts-a-way in your mouth.

Orange Loaf Cake
A yellow batter topped with creamy orange flavored frosting. Not too rich!

Danish Rolls
Some are fruit filled; some, custard filled. Eat one with a cup of coffee for breakfast.

Canned Grapefruit
Del Monte or Heart of Florida
6 for $1
Keep a few cans on hand for preparing fruit salads and cocktails quickly. No. 2 cans.

STRAWBERRY
Preserves
3 for $1
Made from this year's crop of Florida strawberries. You couldn't make better strawberry preserves. Two-pound jars.

Burr Pickles
pt. 29c
Delicious little pickles covered with pricklies. Some call 'em burrs; some, jaggers! Everybody likes 'em!

SALLY HATHAWAY
Chocolates
lb. 80c
We make them ourselves. Perhaps that's why they're so good. Assorted creams, dates, nuts, caramels . . . thickly coated with fine chocolate.

BEGINS TOMORROW

A glorious Birthday Party, commemorating 82 years of business, into which we have put our best effort.

We have a two-fold purpose in this celebration, which begins tomorrow and continues for eight days:—(1) to mark this Anniversary in a fitting and memorable manner, and (2) to bring to the people at large a new acceptance of Horne's as the best place to shop, through an extraordinary demonstration of its value-giving powers in merchandise of the highest character.

Two things we can unqualifiedly promise—that the selections surpass those of any previous Anniversary Sale in variety and desirability, and that the Sale prices are the lowest in years.

With a thought to present needs and conditions, we planned this Sale along the lines of a thrift event of the most practical and serviceable character.

Staple and seasonable household and personal requirements have been carefully classified and adequately provided for at Anniversary prices which are not likely to be equaled again.

Everything is new spring goods of Horne style and quality. Sizes and assortments are complete in every case, and the values are large and unmistakable.

The opportunities for saving are limited only by the extent of one's participation.

No items are quoted this evening, but every department will place its full share of Anniversary offerings for your selection tomorrow. Make a list of those things in which you are most interested and go to those departments first. Unusual interest naturally attaches to the first day, and those who can come tomorrow should do so, with the assurance of finding complete and unbroken stocks in every department. Because of the public interest in thrift, this year, and the lower prices, we predict that selling records will be broken tomorrow. Join us in making it an eventful day!

NEW VOTE CODE UP MONDAY

HARRISBURG, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—The proposed new election code sponsored by the State Elections Association and 33 other groups probably will be presented in the House and Senate next Monday night.

This announcement was made here by Secretary of the Commonwealth Richard J. Beamish following a conference at the executive mansion which was attended by Gov. Pinchot, Beamish, Attorney General William A. Schnader, Senator Frank Harris of Allegheny County, Albert S. Mays and Thomas J. Walker of Philadelphia, and A. B. Lindsay of Pittsburgh.

It was indicated that the code when prepared would be introduced by Representative D. Glenn Moore, Washington, and Senator Harris.

The code is expected to have administration approval and to provide for county election boards of four members each, appointed by the Governor, replacing the registration and county commissioners in the first, second, third and fourth-class counties. It is expected also to establish permanent registration in every city, borough and township in the state, to make the secretary of the commonwealth the chief election officer of the state and to determine maximum campaign expenditures.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL LOCOMOTIVE AFTER IT SMASHED TWO WOODEN CARS, INJURING TWO: BOYS PLAYED WITH SWITCH

INSURANCE FIRM HERE CLOSED

HARRISBURG, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Insurance Commissioner Charles F. Armstrong announced that in accordance with the Supreme Court decision he had taken over the affairs of the United States Annuity Society of Pittsburgh for liquidation.

The society formerly was conducted as a fraternal benefit organization, but lately was doing an old-line life insurance business, Armstrong said. The Dauphin County Court last October directed the commissioner to take over the society and the company appealed to the Supreme Court, which recently upheld the lower Court's decision, Armstrong, in his announcement, said:

"The Supreme Court's opinion refers to the unlawful acts of the officers of the company in conducting its affairs, and to the imprudent manner in making investments somewhat for their own benefit, and criticizes these officers for operating the corporation illegally for 10 years."

MUTE PRISONER MYSTERY

Wilkinsburg police today have in their custody a man who can neither speak nor hear, read nor write. So far, all efforts to learn the identity of the man have failed. In answer to all their signs and written questions the man sadly shakes his head in the negative.

Unknown Man

Patrolman Jacob Fry took the man into custody yesterday after he had been informed the man was soliciting money in stores in the Penn avenue and Wood street business district. He presented a note, stating that he could neither read nor write, and asking for funds. When clerks presented him with written questions, he left the stores.

The man is well dressed and middle aged. He wears glasses and is well mannered. The only clue to his identity is a note book found in his possession in which is written the names of Western Pennsylvania cities, including Sharon, Greenville, Meadville, Franklin, Butler and Pittsburgh.

$95,000 ASKED IN 4 SUITS

Claiming a tear gas gun had exploded in his face, putting out his right eye, injuring seriously his other eye, and burning his face and hair, leaving him disfigured for life, Adolph W. Lohler has brought suit for $50,000 damages in Common Pleas Court against Edward Baranowski, South Eighteenth street and Harcum way.

Clara Martini, 17, through her father, Thomas Martini, 4720 Juniper street, has sued Frank E. Weichel for $10,000, charging that the latter's automobile knocked her down while she was alighting from a street car at Twenty-first street and Penn avenue February 8.

Phillip Christ, of Ingram, filed suit against George and Anna Barth, of Ingram, for $10,000 damages, saying his reputation has been hurt by a suit. He avers that Barth had him arrested October 8, on a charge of embezzling $110 in goods and money.

Francis Inskipt, 17, of McKees Rocks, has entered suit through his mother, Sarah Inskipt, for $25,000 damages against the Bowers Auto Company, charging he was run down by a truck of the company at River avenue and Sandusky street last November 28.

7 FACE HEARING IN BURIAL ALIVE

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—(INS.)—Charged with assault and kidnaping, a gang of seven men who tortured and attempted to bury alive George Wittbrod, a crippled salesman, was to be arraigned today. Wittbrod trussed to a large cross in St. Nicholas' Cemetery, beaten and then nailed in a coffin "rough box" and lowered into an open grave, was still in the hospital today, suffering from severe bruises and shock. During a police grilling the seven men said:

"It was only in fun. It was just a joke."

After half-burying the rough box with Wittbrod inside, the men dragged the rude coffin for three miles and then tossed it into a ditch, where the cripple was found half strangled and still a prisoner in the box.

M'KEESPORT'S BONDS O. K'D

Secretary of Internal Affairs James F. Woodward has approved a $140,000 bond issue for public parks in McKeesport, according to word received here today from Harrisburg. McKeesport City Council has under consideration the purchase of a large tract in the Grandview avenue section. A part of the land is in the Ninth Ward, McKeesport, and the remainder in North Versailles Township.

Secretary Woodward also approved a bond issue for $15,000 for a new school in Daugherty Township, Beaver County, yesterday.

Wife's Writ Served On Rich Man in Jail

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Sheriff M. P. Lehman last night said he had served an order signed by Circuit Judge Uly O. Thompson on Harold T. Ray, wealthy resident of Chicago and Daytona Beach, restraining him from molesting his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Ray, or their yacht or automobile. Sheriff Lehman said the order was served on Ray in Municipal Jail. Ray had been arrested on charges of drunkeness.

Mrs. Ray stated her husband had threatened to kill her, to burn the yacht and automobile.

Boy Kills Brother, Puts Body in River

STEVENS POINT, Wis., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Angered because his brother, John, used his automobile, Anton Riske, 17, confessed to police he shot him to death, dragged the body behind his car and shoved it through the ice into the Wisconsin River.

Riske said he wrote a letter to the parents, signing John's name, saying:

"I've gone away with another fellow, never to return."

Hindus and Moslems In Battle, 7 Injured

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Seven Hindus and seven Moslems were injured in a communal clash here yesterday. The Hindus were carrying a golden image of their goddess Siva past two mosques where Moslems were celebrating the feast of Ramdan. The Hindu music disturbed the Moslems and a conflict ensued, with stones and bottles as the principal weapons.

Cattle, Horses Die In $18,000 Barn Fire

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 5.—Seventeen head of cattle, seven horses and large quantities of grain and farming implements were destroyed by fire of unknown cause that burned the large barn of S. C. Loop, of South Huntingdon Township. The loss is reported to be $18,000.

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR A SAVINGS ACCOUNT

A HEALTHY INDICATION

That common sense is a dominant virtue in America is found in the fact that there are 52,000,000 Savings Accounts in its banks.

Moreover, during the past year the number of accounts and the amount saved have shown a greater increase than for many years previous.

This means that the enlightened intelligence of American citizens recognizes the Savings Account as a sure, safe way to personal independence, and that combined with willingness to spend is the ability to save—even in a bad year. For more than sixty years this institution has offered the local community a safe place in which to keep its Savings.

With resources of more than $100,000,000 and various conveniently located branches this bank is in better position than ever to serve you.

Your Savings Account—regardless of amount—is welcome.

WEIGHTY MATTER

Someone up in New York bragged the other day about radio's heavyweight artist and gave the title to a Chicago saxophone player.

A bit premature in their announcement say we, as we recall seeing Robert Schaefer, violinist of the Owen Trio at WJAS, tip the scale at 296 in a downtown drug store.

Robert sits on a piano bench in the studio. There's no chair big enough for him.

QUESTION A DAY:

Which, in your opinion, will come first, television or synchronization?—Harold R., East Pittsburgh.

Answer—The great minds in radio say synchronization. We are inclined to agree with them particularly after a recent conversation with Harry P. Davis, chairman of the board, NBC. Television in a "crystal set" stage has been promised by Columbia for April. But speaking practically, synchronization will be perfected long before television is worth installing in your home.

We've learned why the harp quintet didn't perform in the Theater Party on KDKA the other night. It would have cost nearly $100 to transport the instruments, which have a gross value of $15,000. We learned also that it takes a lot of plunk-plunk to make up for the cost of insurance, repairs and new strings.

Speaking of expensive instruments, our attention has been called to the fact that there's a total investment of $52,300 in B. A. Rolfe's Orchestra. The players in Walter Damrosch's Orchestra have expended $55,950 for music-making implements.

Ross Gorman and Andy Sannella, two aces of the Rolfe outfit, have wind instruments alone valued at more than $18,000.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home
To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.
For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.
This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.
Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.
Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Don't Get Up Nights
Rev. D. Lee, Portsmouth, N. H.
Says: "Come or write to 346 Pleasant St. and I will tell you how a short time I troubled by getting up at night. The trouble was caused by irritated bladder (bladder inflammation). My case was of long standing and painful. Was bothered 4 or 5 times each night. It acts on bladder as epsom salts do on bowels. Drives out foreign deposits and lessens excessive acidity. This relieves the irritation that causes getting up nights. The tablets are sold with an absolute guarantee by Leggett's, Mechanicsburg, Ohio, or locally at May Drug Co.

ADDITIONAL RADIO NEWS

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The battle of the broadcasters for the services of various concert stars is becoming as involved as their former conflict over radio waves.

Daily communiques are being drawn sharply over what would seem to be a long and costly war. The armchairs, of course, will benefit. If one network can announce Paderewski another will not be satisfied until it can counter with Kreisler.

The broadcasters are fortunate in having plenty of resources. With millions of dollars revenue in 1930 at their disposal they can bring every concert artist in the world to the microphones and still have enough left over to finance a real war, the only sensation, save a rocket's flight to the moon—we will probably have the term, "rocketeer," within two years—and a radio message from the spirit world, left for them to broadcast.

It would seem that the radio engagement of various concert bigwigs is in the last analysis, in the hands of various concert managers who seek the best terms possible for them from the microphone men. Yet it is baffling to the ear-cupper.

For example, consider the case of Madame Alda. She is under the management of Arthur Judson. And Judson happens to be president of the Columbia Concerts' Bureau, a subsidiary of the Columbia Broadcasting System. But Madame Alda is now singing twice weekly over the networks of the NBC. Figure it out for yourself.

The M. Aylesworth's war correspondents no sooner announce booking arrangements of a new artists' service which is allied with the R. C. A.-Victor Corporation, listing at the same time an imposing group of stars at their disposal, than various managers of the stars rush to print, professing ignorance of the merger and claiming that the broadcasting rights of the stars remain in their hands.

The armchairs are not interested one way or another in rival claims. They are interested only in what tumbles out of the loudspeakers. If a good broadcasting war will result in increased opportunity to hear the greatest of vocalists and instrumentalists so much the better for them. The situation is similar to that which prevailed in the major baseball leagues at the time the American League entered the arena in opposition to the National. Through their conflict to obtain the services of the best players the boys in the bleachers were given better baseball.

The names of the yet microphonically inaudible Kreisler, Godowsky and Rachmaninoff have not entered into the discussions. The rivalry in the camps of the networks may effect at last their surrender to radio, may cause the broadcasters to unstrap their wallets and shoot the works in the hope of maintaining prestige and that dear morale and that equally dear esprit de corps.

The majority of dance band leaders south of One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street go in for soft and languarous rhythms, deeming them the most effective aids in creating or maintaining the spell of romance.

Why doesn't some broadcaster—Frank H. Vizetelly preferably—tabulate for us the picturesque slang coined by the cartoonists?

Reporter "Scoops" Town.

In the language of newspaper men "Deadline" is the last minute that copy can be accepted for publication. When "Deadline" is reached, the paper is ready "to go to press."

The story of "Deadline" is that of a young reporter who, acting on a "tip," scoops the town by being present when detectives raid the hiding place of a gang of counterfeiters. The fang-out of the presses is several miles beyond the city limits. The reporter has to get his story aboard and phone it back to his paper before "deadline." He gets the story, but encounters difficulties when the car which he is driving meets with an accident.

Ford Tractors, Made Abroad, Denied Entry

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—On the ground that they were not shipped in conformity with requirements of the Smoot-Hawley tariff, requiring indelible marking of the country of origin, 441 tractors from the Henry Ford factory at Cork, Ireland, have been refused admission by customs officials here.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Officials announced that a huge quantity of counterfeit United States and British currency, seized here last week, had been manufactured in Soviet Russia and shipped to Berlin for distribution in Northern Europe.

SMALL FOLDING PLANE TESTED

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—A plane which can be assembled or dismantled in three minutes and is so small it can be folded up and placed in an eight-foot submarine tube, was tested at the Glenn H. Wright Airport.

Grover Loening, of the Loening Laboratories, builder of the monoplane, conducted the test. The craft has a wing spread of 38 feet and is powered with a 110-horsepower Warner-Scarab engine. It has a cruising speed of 100 miles an hour.

The insignia of the United States Navy was painted on its sides, but no confirmation of ownership could be obtained.

ACTRESS SUES BROKER

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Pierce S. Hallick, investment broker and son of the late James S. Hallick, Virginia hotel operator, was sued for $250,000 in a breach of promise action yesterday by Elene Aristi, motion picture actress.

The complaint said Hallick proposed to the young woman last August and they set January 1 as the wedding date. She claimed he gave her $1,200 for expenses to New York, where she was to purchase a diamond engagement ring for $30,000 and her trousseau.

When she returned November 15, the complaint said, Hallick refused to marry her.

At the time of the elder Hallick's death, young Hallick was working as a waiter in a Salinas, Cal., restaurant, claiming to have lost $50,000 in stock speculation.

Hallick formerly was married to Ruth Harlles of Richmond, Va., who died several years ago.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

(Copyright, 1931, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

"I Happen to Like New York"

That is the title of one of Cole Porter's delightful song-poems in The New Yorkers' folderol, which is doing the healthiest trade among the show-shops. But Mr. Porter's "Let's Fly Away" ditty in the same opera is the song with which any New York loafer will quarrel. Take the opening stanza, which belittles the town in this wise:

"I've such a hate on Manhattan lately—that I'd gladly die. The days when subways could thrill me greatly have all gone by. I'm tired of the telephone always ringing. I'm tired of hearing Rudy Vallee singing. I'm tired of the Paramount's gaudy gilding. I'm tired of looking up at the Chrysler Bldg. I'm tired of having Texas Guinan greet me. I'm tired of having Grover Whalen meet me. There's only one solution, dear—let's calmly disappear."

You can see, can't you, that Mr. Porter's lyric is mean, and that he is not even being tactful about the sitch-ee-ay-shun. Furthermore, he writes from his heart, too, for now he is somewhere in Yurrup baking in the torrid sands—Away From It All. The chorus of "Let's Fly Away" goes on to grumble:

"Let's fly away—and find a land that's warm and tropic. Where prohibition's not the topic—all the live long day. Let's fly away—and find a country so provincial—we'll never hear what Walter Winchell might be forced to say. I'll make your life sublime—far across the blue. I'll take up all your time—com-pro-mising you. Let's not delay—make Mother Nature our Messiah—New York is not for us—let's fly away!"

Well, it all makes for a singable chune in the travesty on New York manners in the Broadway Theater, and all that sorta thing, but we cannot subscribe to Mr. Porter's sentiments—even though they are of the clown brand. . . . Those Sabbath nights in the Palace, f'instance. . . . We couldn't be happy without them. . . . For it is on the Sabbath night—that the old thrill that captured the Ace Musical Hall's auditors years ago, again charges the atmosphere of the place. . . . They are not so easy to please on Sunday nights for they represent the Street's sophisticates the "wisenheimers" and their "dolls." . . . The local banditti take their squaws out on that night to that theater—and defy the comedians on the stage to make them titter. . . . The celebrated stars and lesser renowned of the various Broadway shows are also conspicuous there on Sunday night. . . . They come to be diverted, and remain to serve as dramatic critics. . . . There isn't another audience like it anywhere. . . . If they like you, of course, they are passionate in their affection. . . . You see, Cole Porter isn't really a New Yorker.

No genuine New Yorker would want to leave a place where so delightful a personality as Miss Lydia Roberti may be enjoyed for the admission fee of $3.85. In "The You Said It" musical, we mean, where she enchants the witnesses at each performance with her contagious charm, her amusing dialect, her verve and dash and her magic. . . . No real Manhattanite would want to forsake a town that offers a delicious moment or so when Harry Richman dons his opera hat over one eye and toys with his walking-stick as he coos "Walkin' My Baby Back Home," or when Frances Williams plays that blackout sketch with him in his night club—essaying the role of the "traveling saleswoman" who once was a "farmer's dotter." Those are the enchantments that New York has to offer, among other things, you know. Or don't you give a continental?

Well, the headache of the staff does, see. . . . Where else can a guy buy a patent leather gardenia for his lapel? . . . How about that beautiful scene of Central Park South at sundown? . . . Those Saturday nights at the Mayfair in the Ritz where the snobs come to snub each other. . . . Or those Saturday evening dinners at the Friars Club where the banter is brisk and crisp—and oh, pity the butt of the caustic comments! . . . Where else but on Broadway (and isn't that New York?) may you break your fast with Miss Gumm, or telephone to such people as Donald Freeman, of the Conde Nast outfit, at 5:30 a. m., and ask him if he ever Heard This One Before? . . . Did you ever see Broadway at 9:30 p. m.?

Then there's the "Monkey Room" at Belle Livingstone's—the most devastating part of the Crazy Canyon. . . . And where but in New York can a guy who gets weary of this, that and all the other things run into a George Jean Nathan, who takes you to a spot you never heard of before—a spot right under your nose—where you walk up or down a flight and taste "Goldwasser"—the only drink in the world with real gold in it??? . . . "Better'n gold!" as Frisco used to say. . . . No, my friends (and those who would have me believe that they are), New York is a grand and glorious Gomorrah—where people like Cole Porter come to make their mark, and the other fellows. . . . And then write mean songs about it—that sell!

Where but in New York, whether you're listening or not, can you be thrilled by a fire that rates a "9—9" alarm? . . . A "9—9" alarm that brings out the fire wagons from Liberty Street to 117th Street, mind you. . . . How about those new taxicabs that have reading lights in them that actually light? . . . And such pretty cabs, no less, and so reasonable that they are quickly putting the gyp brand of cab out of business. . . . Where can you find an entertainer like Hannah Williams of the "Sweet and Lowdown" show, who started the fad that made Zelma O'Neal famous in musicals? . . . Now, Hannah has a new style of walk that the lassies are aping (without announcing that they are doing an imitation, either), and probably some kid will open in a show next year doing Hannah's new walk and be touted highly by the critics. . . . Then when Hannah is seen in another show the same critics will give her the dickens for "stealing" her own stuff. . . . Yes, indeedy. Gimme those News Real flashes at the Embassy a week before they are revealed in the stix.

Oh, I know that some of the biggest gate receipts for fights were taken elsewhere, but how can anyone want to shelve New York and miss those Friday nights at Madison Square Garden—and the Roar of The Crowd? . . . Or Fifth Ave. between 42nd Street and 59th Street on a rainy night atop a No. 5 bus? . . . The buzz of the mob in any of the Times Square taverns patronized chiefly by the sportsmen and their magdalens? . . . Or the young thing who serves as Godiva at the Paramount Grill, who just left to return to Seton Hill to spend a week with her chums there. . . . Where can you find a town that offers a premier such as Noel Coward's "Private Lives" show, which leaves you in stitches? . . . Or a Jimmy Durante, so long as you brought the subject up! . . . No, sah. . . . Cole Po'tah is wrong, sah! . . . Ah resent his remarks, sah. . . . As an old Southern (New Yorker), Ah wish Ah had him heah so Ah could chuck this heah mint julep right in his puss, sah! . . . And besides, sah. . . . Mr. Cole Po'tah, is a hill-billy, anyhow—from Peru, Indiana!

Peeper Shot Dead Trying to Escape

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 5.—(AP)—A man said to have been peeping in windows was shot and killed early today by Albert S. Norris after tracking him for more than an hour. Norris told police he fired with a shotgun when the man, who was not identified, attempted to run away from him. Pending a police investigation Norris was released in custody of an attorney.

Sacristan, 73, Wound Clock 50 Years, Dies

QUINCY, Ill., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Each week for more than half a century George Schmaeing, sacristan of St. Boniface Catholic Church, toiled up the 200 steps into the spire of the church to wind its huge clock. Yesterday the clock stopped, and the townspeople wondered. They found the sacristan too ill to climb the long flight of stairs. Medical aid was called, but he sank rapidly and died last night. He was 73, and had been sacristan 51 years.

NOTICE To Local Housewives:

Ordinary City Water and Soaps Will Not Clean Dishes Thoroughly . . . Because Water Is Too Hard

For best results in any home washing just add this new water-softening cleanser to soap and water. Takes ¼ the usual amount of soap—saves ½ the time and effort.

WOMEN here are discovering an easy, inexpensive way to avoid the greasy film on dishes and greasy gum in dish pan that follows washing in this hard water. They claim amazingly fine results.

This new discovery is not a soap—but a water-softening cleanser that gives any soap four times its cleansing efficiency by turning "hard" water into "soft".

What It Is

It is a preparation called Climalene that you add to your washing water. Just a teaspoon or two.

Instantly, it takes all the harshness out of that water. Makes it soft as rain water.

At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly DISSOLVES all dirt, stains and grime. And thus cuts washing time ONE-HALF or more.

Use the soap or soap flakes you ordinarily do. Then see for yourself the amazing results. During 1930, women used over 33,000,000 packages of Climalene—for washing, for cleaning and in the dishpan.

Laboratory Proved

To assure results to you, we buy fine things, lingerie and delicate fabrics, costly china. Then by repeated washings, try to spoil or fade them. Consider, please, what those things mean to you. Consider, too, that the minute you put this creation into water, all harshness is taken away—your hands protected from roughness, made soft, smooth and white. Then try it.

Remember the name—Climalene. Your grocer has it. Sold only in 10c and 25c packages. 174-RA

Real Estate

An acre and a half of industrial property at Pitt street and Hill avenue, Wilkinsburg, has been sold by Elgin A. Hill to the Calorizing Company of Pittsburgh. A metal industrial building and a railroad siding is included in the property. The calorizing company is now constructing additional buildings on the lot to meet an increase in business. Although the sales price was not named, the ground value approximates $100,000 and the improvements $125,000, making a total value of $225,000. The Porter and MacDowell Company, downtown realtors, consummated the deal.

The Union Real Estate Company, associated with the Smith Brothers Realty Company, has completed a trade transaction in which G. A. Jungherz deeded to Charles Buechele a building at Murray avenue and Darlington road, Fourteenth Ward, containing four store rooms, with apartments and a large brick residence at 5739 Darlington road. The Murray avenue property measures 142x95 feet. In part payment, Buechele conveyed a two-story steel and concrete building on lot 100x90 feet, at 4121-31 Liberty avenue, Ninth Ward. The building is occupied by the Brockway Motor Truck Corporation. The total consideration in the deal was $220,000, according to the brokers.

Fred Maurer, builder, has sold to James Coburn a six-room brick home on lot 50x120 feet, in Amherst avenue, Versailles Township, for $6,800. The sale was made through the office of William W. Weldin, McKeesport realtor. The same broker has sold for Cecil Robinson, builder, to M. Anderson, a four-room frame dwelling on lot 37½x120 feet, in Amherst avenue.

The Allegheny County League of Building and Loan Associations will meet this evening in the Aero room of the William Penn Hotel. Charles Klein, special counsel for the State Banking Department, will talk. R. Frank president of the league, will preside.

Applications for building permits follow:

Fifteenth Ward—S. A. Owens, brick, tile dwelling, 126 Hazelwood avenue, $16,000.

Fourteenth Ward—James Muller, brick dwelling, 1216 Pocono street, $6,000.

Eighth Ward—E. C. Hartje, brick, tile building, 4900 Baum boulevard, $23,000.

Catarrhal Deafness May Be Relieved.

A Simple, Safe and Reliable Way That Calls for No Ugly Trumpets, Phones or Other Instruments.

To have catarrhal deafness is very annoying and embarrassing. People who are deaf in this way are generally mighty sensitive on this subject. And yet many catarrhal deaf folks carry around instruments that call attention to their infirmity. Therefore people who are hard of hearing, who suffer from head noises or who are actually deaf from catarrhal trouble, will be glad to know of a simple treatment that can be easily made up at home for a few cents cost that is really quite efficient in relieving the disagreeable deafness and head noises caused by catarrh.

From all May's & Liggett's Drug Stores or any druggist get one ounce of Parmint (double strength). Take this home and put it in a simple syrup made of ¼ pint of hot water and a little ordinary sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This treatment should by tonic action reduce the inflammation in the middle ear, that a catarrhal condition would be likely to cause, and with the inflammation gone the distressing head noises and accompanying thinking and the ringing in the ears should gradually disappear. Anyone who suffers from catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises should give Parmint a trial. It is pleasant to take and is quite inexpensive.

IRENE HEARING SLATED SOON

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—The State Board of Pardons at its organization meeting yesterday decided to revise its rules and have hearings this month only on four of the pending capital cases.

The cases are those of Irene Schroeder and Walter Glenn Dague, convicted of the slaying of Corp. Brady Paul, of the state highway patrol, on December 27, 1929; Wilfred Flood, Luzerne, convicted of the slaying of Joseph Pollard, gas station attendant, last spring, and Thomas F. Martin, Philadelphia, convicted of the killing of a Philadelphia bank messenger, December 6, 1929.

Flood, Irene Schroeder and Dague are under sentence of death in the electric chair on February 23, and Martin's execution date is March 2. All have had appeals from their convictions denied by the Supreme Court.

The board organized, electing Lieut. Gov. E. C. Shannon chairman, and voting to suspend hearing on all but capital cases until revised rules have been adopted. The meeting was attended by Lieut. Gov. Shannon and Richard J. Beamish, secretary of the commonwealth, the new members and Attorney General William A. Schnader and Secretary of Internal Affairs James F. Woodward, the two holdover members.

2 Luzerne Slayers Must Die March 9

HARRISBURG, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Gov. Pinchot today set the week of March 9 for the execution of Sigismund Szachewicz and John Rafus, both of whom were convicted of first-degree murder in Luzerne County and whose appeals were denied by the Supreme Court.

Morningside School Benefit Arranged

The third annual benefit entertainment of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Morningside School will be presented Thursday and Friday nights, February 12 and 13, in the school auditorium, Jancey and Greenwood streets. The entertainment will be directed by Joseph E. Jackman, of Morningside avenue. Walter C. Klingensmith has been named stage manager. The general chairman for the benefit will be Mrs. Walter C. Klingensmith, who will be assisted by Mrs. S. R. Harper, Mrs. J. Foster Gehrett, Mrs. Van B. Weber, Miss Mary E. Anderson, Miss Stella Burgo, Mrs. John Dillemuth, Paul V. Kline and D. E. Woods.

Caught in Flywheel Employe Near Death

Caught in a flywheel in the new seamless pipe mill of the National Tube Company at McKeesport, yesterday afternoon, Alvin Campbell, 26, of 1924 Patterson avenue, McKeesport, was so seriously injured that he is not expected to live. Campbell is married and has one child. His parents live at Dravosburg.

Trolley Passenger, Abusive, Fined $10

Louis Sidbury, 42, Negro, of Elmore and Center avenues, was fined $10 in East End Police Court today. He was arrested last night on complaint of Edward J. Carr, motorman of a Lincoln avenue trolley car, who testified Sidbury became abusive when asked for his fare.

Student's Death Hidden From Mother, Ill

Seriously ill in the family home at 721 Anaheim street, Mrs. Abraham Nathanson has not been told of the death of her son, Nathan, 24, senior medical student in Temple University, Philadelphia, who died in the university hospital from an overdose of a sleeping potion.

The mother will not be told for weeks, probably never. Funeral services for her son will be held this afternoon from Ralph Schucar's chapel. He was a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, class of '27.

GERMAN BUDGET SUBMITTED

BERLIN, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Chancellor Bruening put his 1931 economy budget up to the Reichstag today in a fervent 40-minute appeal that it be passed quickly in the regular manner without necessitating recourse to the so-called dictator clause of the constitution. He said:

"It is imperative that this budget be passed in the normal parliamentary way. Abroad thes are looking upon this debate with undisguised interest. If you have a full feeling of your responsibilities you can pass the budget in the required time.

"The government is unalterably opposed to a dictatorship and it has no intention of invoking Article 48 (the 'dictator' clause) for putting the budget into effect. It is up to you to assure the world that Germany will continue to be worthy of credit, and it is your task to pass this budget as it stands, moving forward toward a final solution of the reparations problem."

Requiem Mass By Duquesne Alumni

The Alumni of Duquesne University will meet next Saturday morning at 9 o'clock to celebrate a solemn high requiem mass for the late Rev. Henry J. McDermott, C. S. Sp., who died January 9 at Ferndale, Conn. Father McDermott was formerly vice president of Duquesne University.

PAINTERS PLAN CONVENTION

John B. Dewar, president of the Master Painters and Decorators Association of Pittsburgh, has announced that he will appoint a committee of 12 men from which there will be smaller sub-committees, to make plans for the association's convention here in January, 1932. More than 1,000 delegates are expected to attend.

The following members of the Pittsburgh association are expecting to attend the international convention in Memphis, Tenn., February 10, 11 and 12: P. A. Freyvogel, Sr., A. E. Jones, Max Wolff, Julius Gulden, Herman Werner, C. T. Singhouse, Lewis C. Titzel and John B. Dewar.

Legion Auxiliary To Make Poppies

The Women's Auxiliary of North Boroughs Post 116, American Legion, will make poppies at a meeting this afternoon in the post home, 327 South Home avenue, Avalon.

Causes Disturbance In Store, Fined $25

Accused of creating a disturbance at 6214 Penn avenue last night, Edward Murphy, 22, of 4720 Kincaid street, was fined $25 in East End Police Court this morning. George W. Bolamos, owner of the store, said that he had barred Murphy and his friends previously for annoying patrons and being noisy.

Report February 9 On Redistricting

The Redistricting Commission for Allegheny County has announced that the sub-boards of the commission will submit their reports February 9 for Harmar Township, and February 16 for Stowe Township and Ingram Borough. If no exceptions are filed the report will be submitted to the commission for final approval.

West View Scouts To Present Play

Boy Scout Troop No. 170, West View, will present an entertainment and pantomime Thursday, February 12, in the First Presbyterian Church, West View. J. A. Brunton, Jr., association Scout Executive of Allegheny County, will speak. The troop is preparing a booth which will exhibit Scout activities.

Westmoreland C. E. Holds Rally Tonight

The winter rally of the Christian Endeavor Society of Westmoreland County will be held tonight in the Westmoreland City Primitive Methodist Church. The devotional period will be in charge of the Westmoreland City Chapter, and the address will be made by the Rev. Glenn M. Crawford, of Jeannette. The Jeannette Young Men's Quartet will present several selections.

"I am so happy . . that the last pimple is gone"

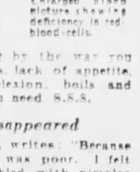
You, too, may be proud of a clear skin!

A CLEAR SKIN, and of even greater value to you—a strong organic vitality—comes only with the right number of red-blood-cells.

Whatever treatment you may use for your complexion, remember the important fact that natural beauty—a clear skin and a rose-petal complexion—comes from within.

More red-blood-cells and of the right quality! That's the answer to a sallow complexion and to pimples and boils. The way to regain the red-blood-cells is to take S.S.S.—the Tonic that will help Nature build up and enrich your blood. Your skin will clear up! Your whole body will be strengthened, invigorated!

When you take S.S.S. to get rid of these outside blemishes you are building up the system to ward off the graver diseases of which these blemishes are Nature's warning.



Enlarged blood picture showing deficiency in red-blood-cells.

Blood is life! You cannot count your own red-blood-cells—that is technical! But you should know that they are the "ships" that sail in the blood and carry nourishment to all parts of the body. Also, they remove impurities from the tissues.

You can recognize a lowered count by the way you look and feel—such as body weakness, lack of appetite, underweight, paleness, sallow complexion, boils and pimples. They may indicate that you need S.S.S.

Pimples and blackheads disappeared

Mrs. Mary E. Parker, Bahama, N. C., writes: "Because of a rundown condition my appetite was poor. I felt tired in the mornings and was troubled with pimples and blackheads. Red bumps came on my face once or twice monthly. After taking S.S.S. the pimples and blackheads disappeared and my skin became clear. I do not feel tired upon rising in the mornings. I had tried a number of medicines but S.S.S. is the one that helped me."

Complexion cleared up beautifully

Miss Mary Bank, Clearwater, N. Y., writes: "My face was blemished with many pimples. No treatment I used did them any good. I also had boils. My appetite was poor. My weight was off and I felt nervous. After taking S.S.S. my complexion cleared up beautifully. My appetite improved. I now rest well at night and am greatly benefited in every way. Because S.S.S. helped me I think it is the best blood medicine!"

N. Y. TRAFFIC RULES STUDIED

A system of handling traffic violations, similar to the one in New York city, may be introduced in Pittsburgh, as the result of a visit to New York yesterday by a committee of seven Pittsburghers representing the Better Traffic Bureau.

Police headquarters, the Police College and Traffic Court in New York, were inspected by the Pittsburgh committee, which was headed by Lewis M. McIntyre, chief engineer of Traffic Planning; B. R. Marshall, assistant superintendent of police, and Jacob Dorsey, traffic inspector.

The committee returned this morning. Members seemed impressed with the speed and efficiency of New York's traffic system. Leo Lehman, a member of the Better Traffic Committee here, financed the Pittsburgh Traffic Officers' School and made possible the traffic study in New York.

OFFICERS PLAN BALL SATURDAY

More than 500 couples are expected to attend the first annual reception and dance of the Reserve officers of the Pittsburgh Area Saturday night in the 176th Field Artillery Armory, Bayard and Thackery streets, Oakland, according to Capt. W. A. Kimble, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Capt. Kimble

The affair is being given in honor of the National Guard officials of the city, county and state, according to Capt. Kimble. Immediately after the reception, there will be dancing and cards.

WALSH PROBES MAN'S ARREST

Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh today asked Inspector Joseph Elsner, of the Penn avenue district, to submit a full and detailed report of the circumstances surrounding the arrest of John Golab 65, of 268 Fifty-eighth street. Golab died in the St. Francis Hospital of shock and hemorrhages Sunday morning. He had been removed from the Forty-third Police Station following his arrest late Saturday evening on a charge of drunkenness.

An inquest into Golab's death will be held next Wednesday by Coroner William A. McGregor. The homicide squad today said they would produce two witnesses who saw Golab fall on the sidewalk before his arrest.

Vote Machines Cost Concerns Officials

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 5.—Financing the installation of voting machines, ordered by voters of the county at the last election, is a problem worrying Washington County commissioners and controller. To place the machines in every voting place, they declare, would necessitate increased tax levies or a new bond issue.

They are considering a limited installation, arguing that this would give insight into their practical value at a limited cost. Curtailment of road improvement is also suggested to finance the machines.

Judge Denounces Dry Convicted of Taking Money

STEUBENVILLE, O., Feb. 5.—Caleb S. Harris, former dry agent, convicted by a jury of obtaining money under false pretense, was sentenced one to three years in the Ohio penitentiary by Judge Jay S. Paisely, who commented that Harris is the type of dry agent who has brought ridicule on enforcement.

Harris denied receiving $124 and issuing a receipt for it to Grover Allen, a liquor law violator. He said the receipt in evidence was spurious.

PROGRAM AT Y ANNOUNCED

A varied program of events has been announced by the East Liberty Branch, Y. M. C. A., for the next few weeks. Next Saturday the Know Club will visit the Aliquippa plant of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation. According to Rocco Cerchiara, educational secretary, this will be the twenty-ninth trip of the season to places of industrial, cultural, social and historic interest in Pittsburgh.

"Pompeii, the Ruined City," will be discussed in the fourth of a series of illustrated travel talks next Monday night. Mrs. William McCracken, of the Carnegie Museum, will deliver the lecture and will exhibit bronzes and other objects found in the Roman city.

Barber Arrested As Aide in Killing

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Phil J. Guinin, a barber, was held for trial at his preliminary hearing on a charge of being an accessory to the robbery of Sam Frank, jewelry auctioneer of Memphis, Tenn., slain in his hotel room here December 6. Guinin is alleged to have been a confederate of Jean Davie, former cabaret entertainer of San Francisco, who is charged with the murder of Frank.

Supply Cut Off, City Hauls Water

LANCASTER, Ky., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Water sold at 1 cent a gallon here after the city water was cut off to maintain a reserve for fires. The only water coming to Lancaster is being hauled in trucks from Nicholasville and Harrodsburg. Consumers are charged the bare cost of hauling.

RED CROSS SUM NOW $217,106

The Pittsburgh Red Cross reports $217,106.50 as the total raised to date in its appeal for drouth relief funds. Pittsburgh's quota in the national appeal is $300,000.

Disabled war veterans and staff of the U. S. Veterans' Hospital at Aspinwall contributed $743 today toward relief of suffering families in the drouth area. These veterans who are patients at the hospital, in many cases have not other income except the disability compensation given them by the government. In some cases, contributions were generous beyond the means of the contributors and the superintendent of the hospital felt constrained to accept only gifts of $3 from those who desired but could not afford to give more. The Red Cross feels that the generous and prompt response of these disabled veterans is one of the finest incidents that has occurred in the drouth relief appeal.

WILL DISCUSS MODERN MEN

"Modern Men and Some Timeless Fundamentals" will be discussed tonight by the Rev. Dr. J. Bradley Markward, of Springfield, O., at the twenty-second annual banquet of the Lutherans of the Pittsburgh district in the Fort Pitt Hotel.

Dr. Markward is president of the Lutheran Home Mission Council of America, organized last week in Chicago, and head of the Board of American Missions of the United Lutheran Church. Charles Lehman will act as toastmaster, and the Rev. Dan B. Braten, Lutheran Jewish Missionary, will ask the invocation. The Rev. J. B. Sause, of the Bethany Lutheran Church of Dormont, will pronounce the benediction.

The banquet is being sponsored by the Lutheran Brotherhood of Pittsburgh.

Avalon Relief Club Plans Card Party

The Suburban Hospital and Relief Club, of Avalon, will hold a card party in Avalon Borough hall tomorrow night for raising a relief fund. Mrs. J. D. McCrory is president of the club.

Montana Woman Lost 17 Pounds Weight in 4 Weeks

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer, of Lewistown, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America.

When stout women can lose fat and at the same time gain in energy and vigor.

Gain in charm and vivaciousness.

Gain a healthy complexion and have eyes that sparkle with buoyant health.

And at insignificant cost—isn't it time to use common sense?

Please read this letter carefully.

"Gentlemen: I started taking Kruschen every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.

"I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give 'Kruschen Salts' a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 256 lbs., and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 239 lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better.

"May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. Just try one bottle and by following directions, I am sure it will convince anyone. I bought my second bottle today."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85c at any drug store in America.

Why not try one bottle—if not joyfully satisfied—money back. When taking Kruschen you can reduce more swiftly by cutting out pastry and fatty meat—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—it's the safe way to reduce.

SINUS HEADACHES are relieved by washing nasal passages daily. Today try a bottle of SINASIPTEC

It's fine for Hayfever!

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

CREOMULSION

FOR THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Do you catch Cold easily?

People who catch cold easily, who have sore throat or tonsilitis, usually lack the reserve strength to resist disease.

If you have been ill lately, you must be especially careful. Don't face winter's dangers in a weakened, run-down condition. Start with Father John's Medicine today.

You will be amazed and delighted at the results. Watch your appetite improve, see the glow of health color come into your cheeks. Notice how your weight picks up—how much better you feel—how colds become few and far between.

Father John's Medicine is more than a cough and cold remedy. It is a scientific combination of proved body-builders, none of which could harm an infant. It not only helps to break a cough or cold right up, but it increases your resistance and builds up your vitality, by supplying the system with the health-building, strength-building vitamins that are missing from your diet.

Each bottle bears a certificate of analysis proving its purity and potency. One hundred and eighty-four hospitals and institutions use it regularly. Scientific biological tests have demonstrated its effectiveness. Contains no alcohol or drugs.

Don't delay another day. Give Father John's Medicine a chance to demonstrate what it can do for you. Just ask your druggist.

SUNSHINE MELLOWS Heat Purifies

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat

The advice of your physician is: Keep out of doors, in the open air, breathe deeply; take plenty of exercise in the mellow sunshine, and have a periodic check-up on the health of your body.

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why the "TOASTING" process includes the use of the Ultra Violet Rays. LUCKY STRIKE—made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED"—an extra, secret heating process. Harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos are expelled by "TOASTING." These irritants are sold to others. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

TUNE IN—The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evening over N. B. C. networks.

'NUMBERS' MEN STILL AT ODDS

The "numbers" racket stayed confused today, waiting for some sign from its leaders in the Hill district that a "good" number—one upon which the public can rely and one which the pools know cannot be "fixed"—has been found.

A few fly-by-night or small operators announced they would operate on unofficial figures of total share transactions of the New York Stock Exchange. The basis was generally discounted as unreliable.

Word was awaited, meanwhile, from leaders in the East and representatives of Pittsburgh pools as to just how the United States Treasury daily balance and the United States customs daily report can be used safely. General fear was expressed, after the New Jersey and New York operators were nicked for sizeable amounts Monday when the figures leaked out early, that the Treasury-Customs number was dangerous.

At last reports, five or more systems were in use: Two groups based their play on different sets of figures in the Treasury-Customs reports; one division of small and little-known operators played on the New York stock market share sales; one played the dice and the fifth continued to spin a wheel. The largest of all, however, marked time.

NIGHT SESSION IN CANNON CASE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—Aided by a night session, the trial of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, neared completion today, with the bishop exhibiting the effect of the three-day inquisition.

Hoping for early adjournment, the former head of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Virginia appealed for an extra session late yesterday, after five witnesses had been called before the board of 12 elders. It was granted, in view of Cannon's present suffering from arthritis, and his residence in a hospital where he has been undergoing treatment.

The trial, ordered by Bishop William N. Ainsworth, is expected to conclude today or early tomorrow, although no word of the proceedings has been made public.

With the hearing completed, Bishop Ainsworth announced, the board of elders will decide if he should be acquitted of the charges, or if his case shall be passed to the quadrennial conference of the church for trial in 1934.

Spanish Writer Dies Day He Wins Prize

MADRID, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—The Spanish writer, Mauricio Bacarisse, died yesterday of influenza on the same day that he was awarded the national literary prize. The prize is one of the most coveted literary distinctions in Spain.

N. Y. Police Guard Against Tong War

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Alarmed by the quiet of the streets and by rumors of impending tong warfare, police kept a close watch on Chinatown during the night and searched all Chinese entering On Leong and Hip Sing Tong headquarters. Action on the On Leong executive board in barring 24 members from office at the recent national conference in Cleveland and the more recent narcotic raids in Newark, N. J., were said to be responsible for the uneasiness.

INDIANS RENEW SALT CAMPAIGN

BOMBAY, India, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Renewal of the salt making campaign of the Indian Nationalists in a public square here today led to arrest of the five members of the working committee of the All-India National Congress.

It was the twenty-second successive war council of the Congress here to go to jail. The twenty-third war council promptly took its place at the salt deposits.

The national civil disobedience campaign is being intensified here. Picketing of the foreign cloth shops is on the increase, and a number of clashes between pickets and police have resulted.

At Allahabad yesterday, police raided the offices of the weekly paper, Young India, which was edited and managed by Mahatma Gandhi before his arrest last year.

BRITAIN PROBES AIR TRAGEDY

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—The British air ministry today ordered a complete inquiry into the flying accident in Plymouth Harbor yesterday when a royal air force trimotored all-metal flying boat dived into the water and exploded, killing nine and injuring three.

Nineteen officers and men have been killed to date this year in flying accidents. Sixty-five were killed last year and 42 in 1929. Once again the British public is asking:

"What is wrong with the R. A. F.?"

Air ministry officials are disturbed and the inquiry into the Plymouth disaster will try to answer the larger question as to the reasons for constantly recurring accidents.

Eye-witnesses of yesterday's accident said the pilot of the bomber was apparently trying to come down on the water when the accident occurred. The plane was returning to its Plymouth base after bombing practice.

Bright sunlight dazzled the pilot, who apparently did not realize he was so close to the water. One wing touched the water, and the next instant there was a violent explosion.

Fatally Shoots Wife, Attempts Own Life

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Feb. 5.—William H. Braxton, 60, a Negro, police reported, shot his wife, Mabel, to death with a shotgun and attempted his own life by slashing his throat with a razor today in his home, Fourth street. Braxton was reported dying. The crime was instigated by domestic strife, police said.

Fish Dynamiter's Dog Retrieves —And How!

YORK, S. C., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Armed with a stick of dynamite and followed by his faithful dog, James Smith, a farmer, went fishing.

He lit the fuse and tossed the sizzling explosive into the stream, then stepped back to watch the fish blown to the surface.

The dog, an expert at retrieving objects, leaped into the water, swam out, seized the dynamite stick, and headed back for shore.

Smith took one look and ran.

When he fell from exhaustion after a futile effort to outrun the dog he found the fuse had had been detached in the scramble.

Wilson Mine Slate Falls, Kills Worker

C. Brown, 58, of Elizabeth Township, a miner employed by the Pittsburgh Coal Company, was killed today in a fall of slate at the Wilson mine, according to a morgue report.

WHIPPING POST URGED FOR BOYS

Return to the whipping post and "good old-fashioned spankings" was advocated by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg today as a cure for "frivolous youth" at a hearing in Central Police Court of Harold Helfer, 21, 529 Craig street, on charges of presenting bogus checks. Helfer was held for court.

Alleged to have presented a number of bogus checks, Helfer, detectives say, explained them by saying:

"They went for the gay old life, parties, girls, tuxedoes, etc."

In passing sentence, Rothenberg said:

"Had your parents given you a sound, old-fashioned spanking it would have done you good. Unfortunately, Pennsylvania has abolished the whipping post. If we still had it, you frivolous young people wouldn't be running around living a high life."

DELAY OF DO-X 'FOR SAFETY'

LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—Capt. Friedrich Christiansen, skipper of the DO-X giant German flying boat, today replied to critics of his Leviathan of the air. The criticisms followed the latest of a series of misfortunes that have befallen the DO-X since she left her base, Alenrhein, Switzerland, three months ago for a flight across the Atlantic Ocean.

The DO-X will be held up here for a month for repairs following the straining of several struts and supports in an attempted takeoff for Porto Praia, Cape Verde Islands.

In an interview Capt. Christiansen declared the damage would not necessarily have prevented the successful conclusion of the Las Palmas-Porto Praia lap of the Atlantic Ocean flight, but since the flight is of an experimental nature he decided to take absolutely no chances.

Wife Gets Divorce After 46 Years

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Mrs. Pauline Dotzaner, married for 46 years, was granted half of her husband's $75,000 estate and a divorce by Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday after she had testified that he fell into the habit of beating her every morning before breakfast, telling her it was the practice to do this "in the old country."

If You Feel Weak and Sickly Take Warning Now!

Tired? Run down? Feeling out of sorts? That's nature's danger sign that you're out of condition.

Right now, this minute, you're probably suffering from vitamin starvation. Even if you eat three meals a day you're not getting all the vitamins you need. The way to get these vitamins is to take cod liver oil. But don't take it the old-fashioned liquid way. Take it in tiny tasteless tablets.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets will give you all the vitamins of the pure Norway cod liver oil from which they're made. All the benefits are there. Everything but the bad taste. Your guarantee of this is the seal of approval of the Good Housekeeping Institute.

So to get back on the road to normal health and vigor, start taking McCoy's today. You can get them at any drug store; and once you see how they help you, you'll thank us for this advice. 60 tablets—60 cents.

HOLLYWOOD AND GOTHAM HAPPENINGS; COMMENT ABOUT COMING SHOWS

Maeterlinck Has Told More Than Fairy Tale In 'The Blue Bird'

By GEORGE SEIBEL

"The Blue Bird" is to make its nest in the Nixon Theater for three matinees next week under the auspices of the Junior League, with a cast of Pittsburgh society women. There is an idea abroad that Maeterlinck's fantasy is just a sort of fairy tale, like "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz," a previous production. Perish the thought! It's a grand allegory of eugenics, as the late Edward Bok, many years editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, assured me in a letter when "The Blue Bird" was first put on at the Century Theater in New York City.

If you wish to delve into the allegory of eugenics, you will find it in the scene laid in "the kingdom of the future."

George Seibel

This scene shows the immense halls of the azure palace where the children wait that are yet to be born.

There are few scenes in modern drama more poetic than that where Time comes in his galley to get the children who are to be born, and as the galley sails away toward earth a song of gladness is heard.

"It is the song of the mothers coming out to meet them," says Light.

But "The Blue Bird" is more than symbolic eugenics. It's a philosophy of life. It's the same philosophy Maeterlinck has expounded in "The Treasure of the Humble."

"BELGIAN SHAKESPEARE"

Someone—I think it was the French novelist Mirbeau—once called Maeterlinck the "Belgian Shakespeare," and the very inappropriate name has stuck.

Others did not think so highly of him, and Max Nordau even called him "a mental cripple, an idiotic driveler, an imbecile plagiarist."

All which it is easy to understand when one realizes that Maeterlinck is that very rare bird, a mystic who is also a dramatist. Occasionally we get plays like "Outward Bound" or "Berkeley Square," which have a mystic undercurrent, but dramatists with this streak are so scarce that Maeterlinck is almost unique.

A German poet, Novalis, is his nearest affinity.

Mystics learn things and know things by intuition—they do not need to follow the hard road of reason or climb the steep ladder of logic.

When Maeterlinck sends Tyltyl and Mytil, the children in his play, to find the Blue Bird, and their strange wanderings begin, he is trying to tell us the great secret of the ages.

The Blue Bird is the secret of happiness which all are seeking and which eludes them all.

END OF THE QUEST

Through the realm of the dead and the kingdom of the unborn, through the domain of night and the strange forest where trees and animals explain their lives, the children hunt the Blue Bird in vain. Then they return to their little cottage to find it singing in the cage in their own little room.

They had seen it there before, but it did not look blue enough.

Only a few human souls, like Francis of Assisi and Gautama Buddha, realize this deep truth. The rest of the world discoverers and conquerors, beat ineffectual wings against the bars of the unattainable.

In its way "The Blue Bird" is another version of the "Faust" story.

It is Maeterlinck's most popular play. His "Intruder," his "Pelleas and Melisande," his "Sister Beatrice," his "Monna Vanna," his "Princess Maleine" have won admiration and stirred controversy—but "The Blue Bird" is simple enough to please the children and profound enough to puzzle the sage.

So the Junior League matinees at the Nixon should attract all our wise men with all their grandchildren.

Boy Crime School Found at Antwerp

ANTWERP, Belgium, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Announcing the arrest of 40 boys, all less than 10, police disclosed today they had uncovered a school of crime operated by a modern Dutch Fagin. The "school" met regularly to receive instructions from their mentor and to plan new thefts, police said.

Variety of Parts Keeps Johnny Brown From Being 'Typed'

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5.

One actor in Hollywood who isn't being "typed" is Johnny Mack Brown.

Having played a two-gun killer in "Billy the Kid," a frontiersman in "The Great Meadow" and a reporter in "The Secret Sex," this young man from Alabama starts rehearsals today in the role of a Salvation Army worker of "The Torch Song."

Joan Crawford stars as the cabaret dancer in this Kenyon Nicholson play. There are two masculine leads, the Salvation Army worker and a young businessman. Neil Hamilton plays the latter, proof enough that M. G. M. liked his work with Norma Shearer in "Strangers May Kiss." George Marion also has a good role in the picture.

John M. Brown

Harry Beaumont directs "The Torch Song," and the author is newly arrived in Hollywood to help with the adaptation. He and Mrs. Nicholson motored here from New York.

THOSE EDITORS

Estelle Taylor arrives here from the East, and once more raises the question of what is news.

"When they showed 'Cimarron' to White House officials and I had lunch with the President, I was all set for a big break," she confesses. "Then look what happened. Jack got an infection in his finger and stole every headline."

MAYBE HE'S THE EXCEPTION

One of the stock excuses for high salaries in Hollywood is that a motion picture worker never can count on steady employment. In the main this is true, but there are cases like Edward Sedgewick. In the business 17 years, this director has never missed a Saturday night pay-check. He started with Universal and was with them seven years. Then he went to Fox

INDIA ROUND TABLE IN METROTONE NEWS

Exclusive sound motion pictures of the final session of the India Round Table Conference in St. James' Palace, London, are contained in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News now being shown. Special permission for making these exclusive pictures was granted to the Fox-Hearst Corporation by His Majesty, the King-Emperor, and they mark an epochal event in British history. The pictures also appear in Fox Movietone News.

The outstanding feature of this final session of the royal parley was the pledge made by Premier MacDonald for home rule in India. Premier MacDonald in this epochal picture is seen and heard delivering the pledge to India.

Sigrid Onegin Sings Saturday in Mosque

Sigrid Onegin will give a group of six folk songs, sung in the original languages, at her concert in Syria Mosque Saturday evening. They include the famous Norwegian Herdsman's Mountain Call. The program also will comprise the aria, "Belraggio," from the opera "Semiramis," by Rossini; a group of Richard Strauss songs and four selections from "Carmen."

Rodney Pantages Weds Recent Co-ed

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Rodney Alexander Pantages, son of Alexander Pantages, theater owner, was married to Beatrice Veryl Sweeney in a simple church ceremony yesterday.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Carmen Pantages, a sister. Lloyd Pantages, brother of Rodney, was best man. Mrs. Pantages until recently was a University of Southern California student. Rodney Pantages manages a Hollywood theater.

for five and afterwards to M. G. M. for another five. Recently he left there and now is signed at Caddo to direct an air comedy. On every occasion, he has left his job on Saturday night and gone to work again the following Monday morning.

LATEST GOSSIP

Mary Pickford's plan to enter the cosmetic business is rivalled by Gloria Swanson's proposed dress-making and perfume establishment in Paris. Following the completion of "Obey That Impulse," Gloria will go to Europe to make preparations for the venture. Later, if her atelier is successful, she will open a Hollywood branch. . . Adela Rogers Hyland is out of the hospital and will be back at work in two weeks. . . Frances Lee, film ingenue, and Harry Barris, one of Paul Whiteman's former "Rhythm Boys" are concentrating on each other. . . Dixie Lee, boon companion of Frances, already is married to Bing Crosby, another of the popular trio. . . The fellow who thought violet ray was a movie actress wasn't so dumb after all. A Hollywood extra girl has the name. . . The new general manager at Pathe is Fred Lalley, brother-in-law of the retiring C. E. Sullivan. . . The Los Angeles Theater, newest local cinema palace, has a restaurant, shoeshine stand, ballroom, etc. C. Graham Baker observes if they only had room upstairs, you could live there all your life.

Gloria Swanson

NOT A CHANCE TO LOSE

Two Hollywood extras were talking about a party of the preceding night.

"I was plenty swacko," admitted one, "but then Heaven takes care of drunks and fools."

"Yep," said the other, "you had double protection."

Show Boat Offers New Revue Friday

The Show Boat again will present five acts in its new floor revue, opening tomorrow night. Entertainers will include Freddy Bernard, Emigine Coco, last seen here in the "Garrick Gaieties;" Bassitt and Norris, dancers, Lillian Barnes, blues singer, and Lew Fink, comedian. The production is being staged by Joe Hiller and Lou Bolton.

NOTES ABOUT COMING STAGE AND SCREEN ENTERTAINMENT

Otis Skinner will play one week's engagement in the Nixon, commencing Monday night, presenting a new romantic drama, "Marius." It is by Marcel Pagnol.

In "Death Takes a Holiday," the uncommon comedy in which Philip Merivale will star in the Alvin next week, death is not only the central figure of the opus, but a fascinating and thoroughly human personage as well, it is pointed out.

The leading character in "The Alarm Clock," the attraction to be offered by George Sharp in the Pitt next week, is a bachelor who, at the age of 40, finds himself afflicted with gout.

NEW PICTURE TODAY

Joe E. Brown and Winnie Lightner's new comedy, "Sit Tight," will have its world premiere in the Stanley today instead of the regular opening Friday.

Frederick Kerr, who plays Ronald Colman's father in "The Devil To Pay," which comes to the Penn tomorrow, will be remembered for his characterization of "Lord Melrose" in the last Colman picture, "Raffles." Kerr, who hails from England, is 72 years old and has played in more than 200 stage productions.

Jack Oakie has risen to stardom without ever having played opposite a single feminine star. This, in itself is unique in moving picture circles. Oakie plays his fourth starring role in "The Gang Doctor," coming tomorrow to the Aldine. He is supported by Jean Arthur.

IN TWO THEATERS

The love interest in "Only Saps Work," starring the comedian, Leon Errol, and coming to the Fulton and Sheridan Square theaters tomorrow, is furnished by Richard Arlen and Mary Brian. Stuart Erwin is also in the cast of this romantic mystery-farce.

More than 5,000 persons are in the cast of "Cimarron," which opens Sunday midnight in the Warner. Richard Dix, Irene Dunne, Edna Mae Oliver, Estelle Taylor and Roscoe Ates are featured.

Nick Lucas, crooning troubadour, will headline the vaudeville bill in the Davis, beginning Saturday.

OTHER BOOKINGS

Vaudeville and "Once A Gentleman," a film starring Edward Everett Horton and Lois Wilson, is the program for the Harris, opening Saturday.

"Rivers End," film version of the James Oliver Curwood story, with Charles Bickford, Evalyn Knapp and David Torrence in the stellar roles, opens in the Enright tomorrow.

"Legs and Laughter," featuring Eddie Dale and Angeles Lee, opens in the Academy Sunday night with a midnight show.

A Gay Dog!.. He Had His Day!
. . . and His Nights, Too!

Penniless . . . carefree . . . a well-dressed tramp . . . an unfaithful lover, and a roving, romantic rogue.

KLINE INDORSES JOB RELIEF PROGRAM

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

By William Pfarr

In the piece we wrote about square-dancing we didn't give Tom Jones, the police magistrate, his full dues. We didn't tell that Mr. Jones was not only a noted figure caller on the South Side but that he was the first musician to introduce the drums into an orchestra in Allegheny County, if not the country.

Mr. Pfarr

That was 30 years ago. Young Jones had been practicing on the drums for some time and decided that he should add them to his orchestra at the tea party which St. John's Catholic Church was giving in old South Side Turner Hall. The introduction was a great success. . . . . .

Mr. Jones doesn't play the drums any more, but he continues to call figures every Saturday night or so at a dance on the South Side. Years ago he had his own orchestra, which was in great demand because as an added attraction young Tom Jones also called the figures. His competitors then were Sam McMichaels, Tom Brady, Tom Quinn, Joe Christy, John White and August Kriel. Many a grand march they led.

The waltz lancers, the plain lancers and the two-step Paul Jones were Mr. Jones' favorites. This last was an outgrowth of the Nine-Pin square dance and was named Paul Jones in honor of a wandering old gent of that name who started out from this country in a paper suit and vowed he'd circle the globe and return in a full-dress suit with money in his pocket.

Monday was groundhog day and if you wanted to see a groundhog the place to go was Barney Werksman's home in Stanton avenue. Mr. Werksman has one in the cellar which he exhibits proudly to visitors. He captured it last October on his farm in Edinboro, near Cambridge Springs. The first time he went to visit the groundhog in the cellar he discovered it was missing. It was found a few weeks later, hiding under the clothes drier. And that's where it stays, refusing all invitations to appear publicly. Mr. Werksman's Boston terrier, Lady, is always starting an argument with the groundhog, but never gets anywhere.

Lillian Russell's old booking agent, who came to town for the trial, whispered that Lillian taught President Harding's wife the secret of makeup . . . Arthur Gordon, who has been in Hollywood for the last nine years, has returned to Pittsburgh and wants to stage a local revue or two with Lou Bolton. When he lived in Pittsburgh Gordan's name was Grodstein and his father, Israel Grodstein, owned the Fort Pitt Beverage Company in Second avenue.

Mr. Grodstein sold out with the establishing of prohibition and took his wife and Arthur and his 8-year-old son, Bobby, to Hollywood.

Arthur and Bobby went to a boxing show their third night in Hollywood. The child Bobby convinced the ticket taker they should be admitted free. In fact, Bobby coaxed a ringside seat. And he cheered the fighters. He made so much noise he attracted the favorable attention of the adults.

The man next to him put him on his knee. That man was William Beaudine, a movie director. He told Bobby to visit him on the lot. Bobby did, and since then he's been in pictures. He played in "The Jazz Singer," portraying Jolson as a youngster, and he's been in a dozen others. Now he has reached the age of 17 (an awkward movie age), so until he gains a few years he's an assistant director on the R-K-O lot.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

DURANT, Okla., Feb. 5.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

I see by the paper where Mr. Hoover dispatched a flier to Arkansas and the stricken area to see how bad things were. He could have sent a blind man and found out. The Red Cross is feeding 70 counties in this state. Every town is feeding people yet the ones that have it sure do help. We played morning, afternoon and night in three small towns all under 6,000 population and the three paid over $10,000 in admissions. They did that because they know its needed. If the rest of the country could just wake up like that and quit waiting on the government. Look at the farmers. They've been promised relief since Lincoln's first administration.

PAVING CHIEFS CONSIDER USE OF STEEL

Revolutionary Process In Experimental Stage; Banquet to Mark Meet

A revolutionary method in paving construction through the use of metal base to provide more flexibility in the foundation and lower the maintenance cost was explained today before the silver anniversary convention of the National Paving Brick Manufacturers' Association in session at the William Penn Hotel.

Cited as the first innovation in the industry within many years, the experiment now being conducted at Springfield, Ill., was explained by Truman L. Flatt, Sangamon County superintendent of highways, of that city.

Three types of metal base over a stretch of 150 feet of roadway are being used, he said. Two sections have been built with 10-gauge corrugated ingot iron with the corrugation of each section being laid in opposite directions. The third section is being tested with one-fourth inch blue annealed flat plates or sheets of ingot iron. Pointing out the expected advantages from this type foundation, Mr. Flatt said:

"The flexibility of such a base is an added advantage over the rigid concrete foundation. It better meets present traffic conditions. Sagging of the brick pavement is easily stopped by raising the whole structure at the particular point by use of hydraulic pumps placing new earth beneath the drop. It is done cheaply and without traffic tie-up."

The annual banquet will be held tonight. City solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt and Strickland Gillilan will be the principal speakers. The convention will close tomorrow with two sessions.

EXPLAINS LOW COST PAVING

Street paving costing as low as 58 cents a square yard and aiding the unemployment situation at the same time is the accomplishment of Herman P. Geiser, 29, superintendent of streets at Lima, O., who is among delegates to the silver anniversary convention of the National Paving Brick Manufacturers Association in the William Penn Hotel.

Mr. Geiser

One of the youngest engineers specializing on street paving, Geiser's time is being consumed explaining to other delegates how the brick paving, used 25 and 30 years in Lima, today is being turned over and relaid with the expectancy of serving at least 20 years more. Geiser explained that in some streets new foundations have been necessary but not in the greater number of paving jobs. Geiser is called upon throughout the country as a consulting engineer for brick-paved towns. He is a graduate of the Miami University, of Oxford, O.

Loan Association Withstands 'Run'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—The Perpetual Building Association was doing business as usual today after rumors concerning its solvency caused several hundred depositors to storm its paying windows with demands for their money.

The association's directors and two Washington newspapers were offering a total of $2,000 in rewards for information revealing the identity of the person who started the run by making anonymous telephone calls to depositors.

Pershing Rebuked Clemenceau for Army 'Meddling'

MY EXPERIENCES IN THE WORLD WAR

By JOHN J. PERSHING

Commander-in-Chief, American Expeditionary Forces

CHAPTER XXV.

Succeeding chapters of "My Experiences in the World War" will appear daily and Sunday exclusively in the Sun-Telegraph.

Returning to my headquarters at Chaumont December 31, 1917, I was not surprised to receive the following cable from Secretary of War Baker, in view of the numerous suggestions that had come to me regarding various plans for training our troops with the French and British:

"Both English and French are pressing upon the President their desires to have your forces amalgamated with theirs by regiments and companies, and both express the belief in impending heavy drive by Germans somewhere along the lines of the Western Front.

Gen. Pershing

"We do not desire loss of identity of our forces, but regard that as secondary to the meeting of any critical situation by the most helpful use possible of the troops at your command. The difficulty of course is to determine where the drive or drives of the enemy will take place; and in advance of some knowledge on that question any redistribution of your forces would be difficult.

"The President, however, desires you to have full authority to use the forces at your command as you deem wise in consultation with the French and British Commanders-in-Chief.

"It is suggested for your consideration that possibly places might be selected for your forces nearer the junction of the British and French lines which would enable you to throw strength in whichever direction seemed most necessary.

"This suggestion is not, however, pressed beyond whatever merit it has in your judgment, the President's sole purpose being to acquaint you with the representations made here and to authorize you to act with entire freedom to accomplish the main purpose in mind.

Asks for Our Troops

"It is hoped that complete unity and co-ordination of action can be secured in this matter by any conferences you may have with French and British commanders and line of action that may be agreed upon."

During my visit with Gen. Petain at his headquarters a few days before this we had taken up anew the question of training for our divisions then in France and also for those yet to come. On account of the imminence of a powerful offensive by the Germans on the western front he said we must be prepared to utilize all possible resources, including the Americans, a statement to which I readily agreed as a matter of course.

Instead of following the plan then in operation as to training progressively, beginning with the smaller units, he wanted to take a quicker method and have each of the four infantry regiments of each of our divisions, together with the proper proportion of the artillery, engineers and other troops, assigned to a French division at once.

After two or three months of service these troops would be reassembled under their own divisional officers and take their places in line. It was not simply for instruction in quiet sectors that these units were to be used, but for whatever service that might fall to the lot of the French divisions to which they were assigned.

This, of course, virtually meant the building up of French divisions by American regiments and carried with it the probability that we should not be able to get them back without actually reducing the French divisions to a point where they would be much crippled for further line service.

Again, the training of our higher officers and their staffs was entirely ignored under this plan.

Voices Objections

I spoke of that as an objection and also mentioned the difference in language as being an insuperable barrier to any idea of active service under an assignment that might become permanent. I further stated that in my opinion the adoption of such a plan might lead practically to the abandonment of the idea of ever having an American army as such.

It seemed to me better, if such a course became necessary, that we should amalgamate with the British, who were also making overtures for the use of our troops. The French did not then offer any objection to our sending troops to the British and it looked as though there was an under-

WOMAN FREED IN FUR THEFT CHARGE

Juror Aided Prosecutor In Quizzing Witnesses Then Voted for Acquittal

Juror John Clancy, of 203 Herndon street, with his fellow jurors, returned a verdict of not guilty today in the case of Mrs. Anna Dunseth, of 4617 Forbes street, which, yesterday, caused him to put questions of his own to witnesses.

Puzzled over developments in the prosecution's case, Clancy rose to his feet and suggested to Assistant District Attorney James Geltz:

"Question her about that woman at the theater who had a fur like hers. Whether it was the same kind, and whether the woman looked like the defendant."

THANKED BY PROSECUTOR

He referred to Miss Madeline Walsh, of Knox avenue, who charged Mrs. Dunseth with stealing her pointed fox furpiece, valued at $125. Miss Walsh had said she saw a fox fur at the theater, and then her attention was turned to another line of examination.

Prosecutor Geltz, when he recovered from his surprise, thanked the juror for his suggestion, and questioned Miss Walsh, but was informed that the furpiece she saw at the theater, where hers disappeared, was not the same color nor was the woman in any respect like the defendant.

Later, after Mrs. Dunseth, questioned by her attorney, G. M. McDonald, had displayed another fur, similar to the one claimed by Miss Walsh, Clancy again rose to demand that the jury be given the both pieces of fur to examine.

"AD" LEADS TO CHARGE

Mrs. Dunseth told the jury she bought both furs in 1929 and later sold one of them. She advertised the second fur for sale shortly after Miss Walsh's fur disappeared, and it was through the ad that Miss Walsh found the fur she claims to be her own.

Salespeople, cleaners and fur repairers identified the fur in question as that of Mrs. Dunseth. During the morning session, prosecution witnesses were just as positive in declaring the fur to be Miss Walsh's.

Andrew R. Kosack, 28, a World War veteran, died last night in Braddock General Hospital from a bullet wound he fired into his head Tuesday night in his room in the Washington Hotel, Turtle Creek, according to a coroner's report.

Kosack, who was ill, locked the door of his room and shot himself.

BABY, 2, LIVES ON VEGETABLES

Little Rosalind Jean Nichols, 2, of 7931 Lloyd street, Swissvale, is a vegetable baby. She has never tasted meat, white bread, ice cream, eggs, salt, pepper, sugar, spices, vinegar, pickles or pastry.

Every morning, since she was 2 weeks old, Rosalind has been taken out of doors for five or 10 minutes in her original birthday suit. She does not mind the cold.

She goes to bed promptly at 7:45 p. m., gets up at 9 a. m., has a glass of orange juice and goes through her exercises. She does the "wrestler's bridge," stands on her head and other set-ups. A warm bath is followed by a cold shower, then out of doors. She is brought in, dressed and has breakfast.

Her diet consists exclusively of raw fruits and vegetables. She is very fond of raw grated carrots and unsweetened lemon juice. Rosalind's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. David E. Nichols, have been vegetarians for the last 10 years.

Rosalind weighed only five pounds at birth. She had two teeth at 4 months. At 6 months she could whistle. At 7 months she began to talk. She walked at 11 months. Her mother said:

"Rosalind has never been ill, so the experiment has been a good one."

CITY TO AID KAUFMANN GROUP

Municipal Projects Not Covered by Budget Will Be Financed by Fund

Indorsement of plans of the Allegheny County Emergency Association, as drawn up by Edgar Kaufmann, and sponsored by other leading business men of the city, was given last night by Mayor Charles H. Kline in a statement in which he declared all city officials would co-operate with the Association.

A fund of $1,000,000 to aid the unemployed has been set up by the association, which agrees to assume the establishment of men in places of employment. Through its activities the association's leaders hope to sidestep the dole, which they regard as harmful.

PLAN CUTS COST

Several hundred men can be placed on jobs on playground and street improvements, Mayor Kline said, pointing out that utilization of funds contributed by employers in the county to pay wages of laborers assigned to various projects will cut the cost to the city of such projects by 60 per cent, and make possible the work needed, but which was not provided for in the city budget.

Materials and tools for the work will be provided by the city, and the men will be assigned to the jobs by the operations committee of the association.

$10,000 FUND ASSURED

Mayor Kline's statement read:

"As a further gesture on the part of the city of its good will toward this movement, I have consulted with my colleagues and have assured the Allegheny County Emergency Association that at the meeting of Council next Monday an appropriation of $10,000 will be asked for to be placed in the hands of Maj. Matthews, head of the operating committee, so that he can continue the relief work that has been left off by the city until such time as his own organization receives its funds and can operate.

"Our attention has been called by the Association that there is a great deal that can be done to change the dole relief system into a working plan. Due to the centralization of the unemployed who were former workers in this district under the plan as outlined in the papers today, we should be assured of perfect control and good management, and in view of this, I have instructed the various heads of my departments to correlate all possible work that can be done in the city so that we can present to Maj. Matthews in an intelligent manner the work that should be done and has not been able to be done by the city due to the lack of funds.

"We will work out any economical plan suggested by the citizens committee in which we can join their funds with the city funds so as to put a maximum number of people to work and through this means eliminate the request for relief which every self-respecting workman does not want to do."

Airport Investment Totals 115 Million

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(INS.)—America's investment in airports amounted to $115,068,500 at the beginning of 1931, the Aeronautics Section of the Commerce Department announced today.

There were 1,113 airports at that time, established by cities, business corporations and individuals. The survey was undertaken early in 1930.

Divorce Seeker Says Wife Persuaded Him to Elope

Charging that his girl wife persuaded him to run away from home against his family's wishes and marry her at Wellsburg, W. Va., when he was 18, only to begin meeting other boys eight months later, Glenn Hardman, orchestra musician, of Wexford, has filed a bill of particulars in Common Pleas Court in his divorce suit against Mathilde M. Hardman, 115 Gist street, a minor.

The couple married February 13, 1929. The husband charges that the following October he discovered his wife was seeing other men and calling them on the telephone while he was at work. He says she saw various men at their home, 104 East Ohio street, and charged her with misconduct.

He says she struck him with a hair brush while they were at Conneaut Lake during the summer, where he played in an orchestra. That fall, his bill declares, he was about to accompany a woman singer at KDKA studio when his wife pounded on the studio partition in a fit of jealousy, causing the number to be cancelled.

Mrs. Marguerita H. Marty, 1405 Allegheny avenue, North Side, filed suit for divorce in Common Pleas Court, against Henry J. Marty, an inmate of the Western penitentiary. She says he was convicted of robbery April 16, and sentenced to serve 18 months to 10 years. Cruelty is also averred in her petition. She married Marty six years ago.

2 TAXI DRIVERS CUT, 8 HELD

Six women and two men were held after a hearing in Morals Court today to await the outcome of injuries suffered by two taxicab drivers. Michael Burke, 27, of 418 Darragh street, and Walter Austerheide, 22, of 1131 Decatur street—stabbed in a brawl at 1200 Colwell street early this morning.

Marie Davis, charged with keeping a disorderly house, said the drivers forced their way into her rooming house as she and her seven guests were playing cards. Burke, who came from the Mercy Hospital to testify, was unable to identify the men implicated, and absolved the women from all blame. He said he went to the house early this morning, saw Austerheide in a fight there, and went to his aid.

Mattie Scariata, 32, of 1421 Buena Vista street, who conducts a business at 506 Wylie avenue, testified the Davis woman called him at his home shortly after 4 this morning, told him there was trouble in the house, and asked him to call a policeman. He said he drove to her home and was arrested.

James Sumstre, 42, of 1204 Colwell street, who lives next door to the Davis house, said he heard screams, went to investigate, summoned police, and was arrested as a suspicious person.

The five women visitors are being held on morality charges. The drivers also are under arrest as suspicious persons.

HELD AS BOGUS CHECK SUSPECT

Alleged to have presented a number of bogus checks on a downtown bank, Frank Browne, 35, 119 Atlantic place, Mt. Lebanon, was held for further investigation at a hearing before Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court today.

Arthur Fisher, Indiana, Pa., who said he was a cousin of former Gov. John S. Fisher, testified at the hearing that he introduced Browne to the teller at the bank and that Browne managed to cash the checks on the strength of the introduction.

Tech Drama Graduates Versatile, Only 15 Become Actors

The drama department at Carnegie Tech, in a recent analysis of the careers followed by their thespian graduates, finds that out of 100 graduates in the dramatic art, only 15 became actors.

Eight became theater managers and directors. Eight others are teachers of dramatic art. Seven are unemployed. Six became teachers of spoken English. Four turned to directing and free lance writing. Four became salesmen, and two secretaries. Two are teachers of costume design. One is an apprentice student, another a physical education and folk dancing teacher, and another a radio broadcaster.

Out of nine associates in the drama department, two are salesmen, one is an actor, another is a broker, another a milliner. One is a correspondent, another manager of a lumber company. One is a director of dramatics and another is in advertising and campaigning.

Of the 15 graduates who consider themselves actors and actresses, several made a notable success on the screen and stage.

Walter Browne Rodgers, who played in "All Quiet on the Western Front," is a 1928 graduate. Henry Wadsworth, on the stage played in "Tommy," "The Lady Lies," and "Jonesy," and on the screen inn "Applesauce," and "Slightly Scarlet."

Kenneth Thomson was Capt. Jack Absolute in "The Rivals," and shone on the screen with Billie Dove in "The Other Tomorrow."

Hardie Albright spent a year with Eva Le Gallienne's Civic Repertory company in New York, supported George Arliss in "The Merchant of Venice," played with Anne Forrest in "Gang War," and had the juvenile lead with Otis Skinner in "Papa Juan."

Robert Allen played in a Shakesperean repertoire, and two seasons was with the Chicago Civic Shakespearean Society. Norman Foster, actor and playwright, played in "Young Man of Manhattan" with his wife, Claudette Colbert. Ross Hertz played in "June Moon."

Gerry Kraber was with the English Players in Paris, in the Shakespearean Repertory with Ben Greer, in the Band Box Follies and "The Trial of Mary Dugan." Neal Caldwell, 1922 graduate, was in Pittsburgh last year with "Garrick Gaities." Paul McGrath is a leading man for George Sharp Players.

Mr. McGrath

Florence Wakefield, now Mrs. Alan S. Hays, played in "Broken Dishes" and "Feminine Lingerie, Inc." Mary Blair, star in "Lysistrata," had the role of Ella in O'Neill's "All God's Chillun Got Wings" with Paul Robeson, Negro actor.

Eula Guy was stage manager for "Strange Interlude."

Lloyd Yoder, Carnegie football captain, is a drama graduate who became manager of press relations for the National Broadcasting Company, San Francisco.

Mary Arbenz, of Wheeling, W. Va., had the ingenue lead of "Papa Juan."

Westinghouse Gets Trolley Bus Contract

LUMBER HEADS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Trade Talks Feature Retail Dealers Sessions; Federal Agent on Program

Merchandising and economic factors of the industry were discussed during the two sessions today of the twenty-fourth annual convention of the Retail Lumber Dealers' Association of the Western Pennsylvania meeting at the William Penn Hotel.

OFFICERS NAMED

New officers who will assume duties at the closing session tomorrow were named at the opening session. James W. Wallace, of Pittsburgh, becomes president as F. A. Moesta, of Kittanning, retires. Other officers will be: Emerson C. West, Tarentum, and Clarence Dudenhoeffer, Erie, vice presidents; G. P. Textor, Wilkinsburg, treasurer; R. F. McCrea, Pittsburgh, secretary; M. W. Dickey, Pittsburgh, field secretary, and Carl Van der Voort, Pittsburgh, general counsel.

New directors named were: R. F. Litle, of Washington; Howard B. Madore, Clairton; H. E. Knepp, Lewistown; A. E. Kerr, New Castle; H. C. Walker, Windber, and E. Bruce Hill, Pittsburgh.

Helping the consumer's needs without concentration on the idea of immediate profit was advised by Edwin B. George, of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Washington, speaking at the afternoon session. He said:

BUILD UP MARKET

"It has been possible in most trades to build up a larger, more natural and therefore steadier market through creation of new popular tastes than through blind satisfaction at any price of those that have always existed. It's no wonder that today the consumer shops around for price. The industry is now helping the consumer to think. The biggest need is not for continuous civil war to decide the distribution of business already coming in, but to suggest smart ideas in the consumer's mind that will make more business to be divided."

PARISH FORMED AT GREENTREE

A Catholic parish to be known as St. Margaret's is to be formed in Greentree Borough, according to announcement today.

The congregation, which includes about 150 families, has taken title to the J. J. Dillon property at Mansfield avenue and Greentree road and expects to erect a modern fireproof building that will serve temporarily for church meetings and permanently for school purposes.

The parish lines will include territory between Noblestown and Banksville roads in addition to Greentree Borough.

CAR IN TRIPLE CRASH FAILS TO STOP

Driver Speeds Away After East Ohio Street Mishap That Sends 3 to Hospital

Walter Mohr, 10, of 606 Foreland street, is in the Allegheny General Hospital with injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile while roller skating in Suismon street, near East street, last night, police reported.

Raymond Miller, 44, of R. D. No. 3, Canton, O., alleged driver of the car, was arrested.

Three women were injured and two automobiles and a truck were damaged when an automobile driven by a hit-and-run driver crashed into a car driven by C. T. Dalton, of 203 Camp street, Braddock, in East Ohio street, near the Thirty-first Street Bridge, late yesterday.

Dalton's automobile was forced against a machine driven by Andrew Wehner, of 1111 Pennsylvania avenue, which in turn was hurled against a truck. The car which crashed into Dalton's automobile failed to stop, police said.

Three women riding in Dalton's automobile, suffering cuts and bruises, were treated at Allegheny General Hospital. They were Mrs. Lee Vogel, 34, of 306 Camp street; Mrs. O. Quailey, 22, of 316 Combrie street, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Quailey, 58, all of Braddock.

When an automobile driven by Mrs. Anne Hawkins, of 1136 Morningside avenue, collided with another car at Beechwood boulevard and Fifth avenue, Miss H. Pritchard, of the Penn Manor Apartments, and Miss Margaret Bailey, of 630 College avenue, who were riding with her, were injured last night.

The two victims, both school teachers, were taken to Pittsburgh Hospital. The other machine, police said, was driven by Nelson Moore, 24, of 317 Hastings street.

HOSPITAL HEAD ANNOUNCED

Jesse V. Greseimer, superintendent of the Quakertown (Pa.) Community Hospital since its foundation a year ago, will assume his duties as superintendent of the Citizens General Hospital, New Kensington, February 15, according to word received here today. William A. Barron, superintendent of the Citizens General Hospital during the last five years, has resigned that post and will take charge of the Washington (Pa.) Hospital.

Greseimer was born in Allentown, Pa., and was formerly assistant superintendent at the Allentown Hospital. Barron presented his resignation to the board of directors of the Citizens General Hospital a month ago.

NO. 2 OF A SERIES OF ADVERTISEMENTS ON THE STORY OF OLIVER TWIST

Original George Cruikshank Illustration through Courtesy of The Houghton Mifflin Company

"He'll murder me!" blubbered Noah

Virtually a slave in the service of Sowerberry, the undertaker, Oliver Twist bore up cheerfully under long hours and meagre food. As far back as he could remember, he had been an orphan in the workhouse, half-starved, cuffed, buffeted and insulted by all; pitied by none. This new life wasn't any worse. So he endured without complaint the scorn and abuse of Mrs. Sowerberry and Charlotte . . . the sneering taunts of Noah Claypole. He even became reconciled to sleeping under the counter in the undertaker's shop, surrounded by grim, black coffins . . . and he was only nine years old! But when Noah slandered his dead mother, Oliver promptly knocked him down . . . and for doing it, took a terrible flogging at the hands of his master.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Blue Bird Coach Herself Member of Chicago Junior League

I have been telling you a great deal about the Junior League and all about "The Blue Bird," the members will present on February 19, 20 and 21 in the Nixon Theater. And I want to have a word or two about the coach, Miss Gloria Chandler, of Chicago.

A member of the Junior League herself, she was not content with being in plays, she wanted to coach them, and so, for several years, she has been coaching not only Junior League members all over the country but the Jack and Jill Players, the North Shore Theater Guild and the WMAQ radio players who played "bread" in "The Blue Bird" which ran for seven weeks in Chicago and has just come from producing the play in Hartford, Conn., and will finish in Syracuse in April.

And in spite of working with the play most of the time Miss Chandler says she will be sorry when it closes that she never gets tired of it, and finds grown-ups and children alike enjoy it but who wouldn't?

And if the play is as successful everywhere as it has been in Chicago and Hartford it is almost certain that each year there'll be a national Junior League play for children.

Thurston to Be Operated By Alumnae Group as Non-Profit School

The Alumnae Association of Thurston Preparatory School has organized a committee to formulate plans for the reorganization of the school, which is one of the oldest in Pittsburgh. These plans include the taking over of the capital stock of the corporation which has been operating the school and reorganizing it into a non-profit corporation to be operated under a board of trustees.

The committee contemplates the removal of the school within a few years to quarters sufficiently adequate to put the institution on the basis of the country day school, but it is to be kept inside the limits of the East End district.

Thurston Preparatory School was organized in 1888 by Miss Alice M. Thurston, who recently retired on account of ill health. It has been one of the outstanding schools of the city and has been largely attended by the daughters of socially prominent families.

SEA WALL IRES MRS. LAUGHLIN

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Six of Palm Beach's wealthy seaside villa owners and the Atlantic Ocean are parties to a legal battle here.

The ocean and Mr. and Mrs. G. Bryan Pitts, Washington, were blamed in a bill for injunction and other relief for making life miserable in the ornate mansions of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shearson, E. Hope, G. Slater and Mary F. Laughlin, of Old Westbury, L. I., Newport and Pittsburgh, respectively. Their winter homes are close to the estate of Edward T. Stotesbury, Philadelphia.

The Shearsons, Slater and Mrs. Laughlin have asked the courts to enjoin Pitts from maintaining a seawall jutting into the Atlantic Ocean beyond their seawalls.

All of them, except the Pitts, built walls of the step type which conform generally to the shore line and establish a general seawall line in accordance with a uniform plan.

The Pitts, however, built a perpendicular type. The impact of waves on the Pitts wall creates a roar which annoys the complainants, their petition said. It tends to destroy their enjoyment of their homes and dashes salt spray over their premises and damages shrubbery.

Mrs. Mary F. Laughlin is a daughter of B. F. Jones, founder of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, and has homes on the North Side and Sewickley Heights.

WHITE CONTINUES TO GIVE ETHEREAL EFFECT TO MODE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Feb. 5.—The woman in white is much in evidence these evenings. She walks through the ballroom, a vision of delight, that is admired by all. For nothing gives a woman so regal and, strangely enough, so ethereal appearance as the evening frock of white, rich in its simplicity, unexcelled in its coloring. White satin and white velvet are the favored fabrics, white lace, chiffon or georgette bestow the ethereal quality. The main thing is the color and the off-white shades are just as generous in the bestowal of their gifts as the frock of dead white. The off-white shades were much liked last winter and summer and have suffered not at all in the estimation of smart women everywhere. Pearl and oyster white are particularly liked, these shades being especially effective in both velvet and satin. White, black and pastel shades seem to be decorating the ballroom and restaurant these evenings both here and in the Southland.

WE SHOW TODAY one of Vionnet's newest and most liked models. It will be found to the left of the drawing and is a striking model in oyster white velvet. Diagonal piecings—very much in the Vionnet manner—cross the upper part of the skirt and the bodice and are outlined with crystal beads. A heavy belt of strass and crystal marks the natural waistline. The lower skirt has a circular flare and reaches, with even length all around, to within two inches of the floor.

AT THE RIGHT is a drawing of a new evening ensemble from Callot. The frock is of delicate primrose yellow taffeta and is a princess model with a crisp, scalloped skirt flounce dipping at the sides and at the back. The short coat is of brown velvet, is collarless, a condition that is compensated for by a luxurious border of blue fox at the coat hem.

DESTROY COLD GERMS

Handkerchiefs used during colds soon contain millions of germs . . . are menace to health

Self-infection certain every time handkerchief is used again...one reason why colds hang on

KLEENEX

Disposable Handkerchiefs

You use . . . then discard

THE importance of using Kleenex during colds has received dramatic confirmation from the scientific laboratory!

A series of tests prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that a single use of a handkerchief during colds fills it with thousands of disease germs! Germs which carry infection back to the user every time the handkerchief is used again. Making recovery slower, more difficult.

Thus, the handkerchief may be an actual menace during colds—a menace which Kleenex entirely removes.

Use only once

Kleenex removes every danger of self-infection. It permits the complete destruction of millions of germs which otherwise must be carried about in purse or pocket—then saved days longer in the laundry bag!

Kleenex is a soft, immaculate, super-absorbent tissue. The size of a handkerchief. So gentle, so soothing, that irritation is impossible. So inexpensive that each tissue may be used just once, then discarded.

You buy Kleenex in Cellophane-sealed packages. Each tissue is as sanitary as it looks—and its snowy whiteness is a joy to see.

The use of Kleenex will materially reduce your laundry bill. It is ideal for children.

Kleenex has many other uses. Beauty experts say these absorbent tissues are the safe, sanitary way to remove cold cream. Being powerfully absorbent, Kleenex picks up all dirt and powder along with cleansing cream.

Ask for Kleenex at any drug, dry goods or department store. Comes in three sizes: 25c, 50c and $1.00. Send the coupon for generous sample.

What science says about the ordinary handkerchief

1. It may self-infect the user time after time.
2. Spread infection among others.
3. Infect clothing in which carried.
4. Infect clothing in laundry bags (germs survive for days).

KLEENEX TISSUES

BACTERIOLOGICAL TESTS SHOW:

1. That handkerchiefs used by persons having colds may contain as many as 4,170,000 germs per handkerchief. The types of organisms in the enumeration are those known to be associated with colds.

2. That organisms representative of those associated with colds, when rinsed in boiling water and/or soap water, were found not to be killed or appreciably inhibited from growing.

These conclusions were reached after a series of scientific tests by a former professor of bacteriology at Northwestern University Medical School.

PERSHING TELLS OF BLUNDERS AT HOME

War Department Lacked Efficiency, Not Alert, A. E. F. Commander Says

standing between them, especially in view of Secretary Baker's cable.

In my formal reply to a communication from Petain embracing his proposal, I declined to permit our regiments to be assigned as he had suggested, but said that I should be glad to attach them to French divisions solely for training for a period of one month in a quiet sector, provided that opportunity should also be given our officers to learn how to handle larger units by actually exercising their proper functions.

Continue Efforts

In the meantime, the following cable was received from Washington which showed the determination of the French to carry their point:

"The French ambassador called on the Secretary of War today and read him a dispatch from M. Clemenceau to the effect that Gen. Pershing and Gen. Petain had conferred as to the wisdom of seasoning American troops by attaching their regimental units to French divisions before committing a part of the line to an American division made up of troops not (sic) accustomed to actual front conditions.

"M. Clemenceau's cablegram stated that Gen. Pershing had reported himself and Gen. Petain in substantial agreement after conference on the subject, but Gen. Petain conveyed to M. Clemenceau the opposite opinion. Apparently some misunderstanding has arisen which the Secretary of War will be glad to have Gen. Pershing endeavor to clear up by placing himself in communicatoin with M. Clemenceau and reporting the result of the interview.

"The French urge action as outlined above as being safer for American troops than it would be to give them at once an independent place in the line, and urge very strongly that the Secretary of War here accept their view and commend it to you. This the Secretary of War is not willing to do, desiring to leave the matter wholly within your discretion after full consideration of the important elements of the matter.

"The French ambassador has been told that the Secretary of War would lay the matter before you and would communicate to him your conclusions when they are arrived at."

Pershing Explains

The following extract from my cable of January 8 conveys the main points of my reply:

"* * * The French have not been entirely frank, as unofficial information indicates they really want to incorporate our regiments into their divisions for such service in the trenches as they desire. As to our instruction, a certain amount of work with French troops is beneficial and this we are having and expect to have. * * * Have expressed a willingness to aid in any way in an emergency, but do not think good reason yet exists for us to break up our divisions and scatter regiments for service among French and British, especially under the guise of instruction."

It thus appeared quite clear that the French were so intent on their plan that Prime Minister Clemenceau presumed to cable Washington as to how our units were to be handled.

Upon receipt of the cable from Washington about the disagreement between Petain and myself, I wrote at once to M. Clemenceau quoting the cable and adding:

"May I not suggest to you, Mr. President, the inexpediency of communicating such matters to Washington by cable. These questions must all be settled here, eventually, on their merits, through friendly conference between Gen. Petain and myself, and cables of this sort are very likely, I fear, to convey the impression of serious disagreement between us when such as not the case. * * "

Clemenceau's Reply

M. Clemenceau's reply, translated into English, follows:

"My dear General:

"I hasten, without losing a moment, to reply to your letter dated January 5, 1918. I found myself in the position of cabling to the Ambassador of France at Washington because the two contradictory responses which I had received from Gen. Petain and from yourself, when you did me the honor of calling on me, obliged me, in the interests of the common cause, to seek an arbitration between the two Commanders-in-Chief.

"I need not conceal that I placed full confidence in the American government with regard to this. However, it was not to the American government that I addressed myself. I cabled to the Ambassador of France, which was my right and my duty, in order to give him directions for the conversations which might take place either with the Secretary of War or with the President of the United States.

"It might very well have happened that later on I should have addressed the American government, but I insist, on this point, that I have done nothing of the sort. I had not authorized the Ambassador of France to read all or part of my dispatch to the Secretary of War. I regret that he did so, but I do not disavow anything that I wrote.

"I am giving you here the explanation which I owe you and I am going to exercise all the patience of which I am capable in awaiting the good news that the American Commander and the French Commander have finally agreed on a question which may be vital to the outcome of the war."

BAKER DURING THE WAR—AND NOW

WAR SECRETARY NEWTON D. BAKER AT DESK DURING WAR

MR. BAKER TODAY

Differences Settled

As the French were dead set on getting our troops under their control, it is more than probable that the Prime Minister, feeling that their plans were not working out, sought to create some distrust in the minds of our Administration at Washington against my management of things, in order to pave the way for insisting that we were entirely wrong in not consenting to amalgamation.

However, at later meetings with Clemenceau and Petain the alleged differences were seemingly settled amicably, as indicated in my cable of January 14, which follows:

"For Chief of Staff.

"Have now definite understanding with French satisfactory to them and to me that our divisions now in France shall complete their training as already begun. In the future, divisions arriving in zone of French armies are to have period of training with French, each regiment in a French division.

"Quite sufficiently experienced by training in a quiet sector with French, our divisions are to be united under their own commander and will be placed in the line of our own sector."

My meeting with Petain January 11 had been gratifying in its results. The details of the assignment of our divisions for training with the French were entirely settled as to time and place, and it is so agreed that our general officers and their staffs should have every opportunity to learn their duties.

Lose Four Regiments

It was also understood that toward April or May a place on the front should be taken over as the American sector. With reference to the amalgamation of American troops with the British, which had been proposed, Gen. Petain saw no objection, but regretted that it could not be done with the French also.

To meet the needed replacements in their units, I had consented to send temporarily to the French four colored infantry regiments pertaining to the 93d Division which had arrived or were en route without the brigade or divisional organization.

One regiment was to go to each of four divisions, with the understanding that they were to be returned for the formation of an American division when called for. Unfortunately this did not turn out as we expected, for there was no opportunity to assemble them as a division, and very much to my regret these regiments never served with us, although their services as soldiers while with the French were highly commended.

Our first seven months in France had been actively employed in working out basic plans and in completing our organization so that we should be ready to assign units to their areas and duties as fast as they arrived and begin or continue their training as might be required.

Each of the supply and staff departments had been broadened in scope and new services created and their relation to each other under the new conditions definitely fixed.

Our situation as to numbers of troops, supplies and construction at the close of the year was not what we had every reason to expect after having been at war since the previous April. We had not yet been able to get full service from the limited amount of tonnage thus far made available for military use.

Supplies Lacking

The supply departments in Washington had failed to provide sufficient material for the construction at ports, which was still very much behind. Only a part of the railroad rolling stock had been sent, although frequently requested. In routing transports, the Navy, until recently, instead of sending them to different ports had brought most of them to St. Nazaire for discharge, at times causing considerable congestion there.

There were only 180,000 men in France, including about 100,000 in four combat divisions in various stages of organization and training, while there should have been at least 10 divisions of combat troops with other forces in proportion. It was a very unsatisfactory state of affairs that confronted us, with little promise of improvement.

At home we had 45 divisions actually organized and part of their personnel had been assembled and started in training. It would, of course, take time to get them all into shape, but at least the first seven or eight regular divisions, which had a large nucleus of trained personnel, could have been sent over to complete their training in France with little extra effort if Washington had really been alive to the danger of the situation.

Cites Inefficiency

It need hardly be recorded that we were occasioned much embarrassment in facing the allies with such a poor showing of accomplishment. Notwithstanding the lack of plans and experience at home in the beginning, it has always been difficult for me to understand why no greater results were produced in the fact of the most urgent appeals. It becomes more inexplicable in view of the very material increase in American tonnage made available from commercial sources just three months later when the actual crisis was upon us.

One is forced to the conclusion that the War Department, at least during this period, was inefficient and not alert, or that it did not appreciate the urgency of the situation. In either case the War Department General Staff must take the greater part of the blame for lack of organization and co-operation.

The fact of the matter is that we had never had a properly constituted War Department General Staff, and although, broadly speaking, composed of a capable lot of officers, unfortunately limited in numbers, it had never been well directed, and its chiefs of sections lacked both authority and initiative.

It should be pointed out that the responsibility for the want of success of the War Deparement General Staff was partly due to limitations imposed by Congress, and to the attitude of certain bureau chiefs who consistently opposed any control of their activities by the General Staff. They were determined not to work in the great team in which co-operation is essential to success.

It should be observed that the present War Department General Staff as reorganized is and will continue to be efficient so long as it follows the principles developed in the American Expeditionary Forces, upon which its reorganization is based.

Children coax for another slice when it's GRANDMOTHER'S LUNCHEON LOAF

Children are not alone in their liking for Luncheon Loaf, it seems that everyone who tastes it, likes it. Some like it for its flavor, some for the dainty slices it produces, some can't tell why they like it—they just like it.

It's a popular bread, this Grandmother's Luncheon Loaf, and is winning new friends every day. Possibly your family would welcome a change from the bread you've been serving. Try Luncheon Loaf tonight, for dinner—we'll wager the reaction will be a favorable one.

It can't be anything but fresh, as it comes to you the same day it is baked—just a few hours intervene between the time it is taken from the oven and when it is placed in your hands at your nearby A&P.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

Nagging Wives Soon Lose Love of Their Mates

Why do husbands leave them? "Plenty Mad" has discovered why. She admits she's been short of affection and long on Bad Temper. She confesses she's nagged the Big Boy butterfly for years.

But even though she's frank about her shortcomings, does she blame herself for the fact that he's fallen in love with a softer, sweeter lady? Oh, my no! In fact, she's ready to commit arson, murder and mayhem.

"I'll kill both of them!" she shrieks. "It just makes my blood boil to think that man can try to treat a wife like that! He's my husband, and I'm going to keep him!"

Maybe you think the lady deserves a lot of condolence 'n' kisses. But——

"Dear Sally Martin:

"You have helped so many people that I feel that you can give me some advice about what to do.

Nagged Husband

"I am the mother of four children, and I have been married 18 years. And after all this length of time, I have waked up to the fact that I have lost my husband to another woman—a woman just a few years younger than I am, and not nearly so attractive or well dressed, but with a much better disposition.

"All my life I have never been able to get along with people I was brought into close contact with, and I have nagged my husband about his friends, and about the things he liked to do, because they seemed to me so foolish and such a waste of time.

"Now, I have found out that for the last five or six years, my husband, when things didn't go well at home, instead of quarreling with me, has sought the friendship of this other woman (who was a friend of both of us for years). She never loses her temper, but just takes things as they happen and makes the best of it.

"My husband has the same disposition, and now they have fallen deeply in love with one another, and neither denies the fact. My husband is of an affectionate disposition, while I am just the opposite. Now, since I have found this all out, if I try to show him any affection, he gives me the cold shoulder, . . . or an icy stare."

Threatens Him

"Don't you think that after me putting up with him for 18 years, and having these four kids for him, he owes me more consideration than that?

It just makes my blood boil that a man can think for a minute he can treat a wife like that! It might be different if I was old and unattractive, or this other woman was young and beautiful.

"Yet he tells me frankly that, if it wasn't for the children, he wouldn't live with me at all. But I tell him he sure would have a hard time getting away. I'll kill him . . . and the other woman, too . . . before I would let them have one another. I told him that I just dared him to ever see her or call her again. I'll never give him his freedom. I don't care how much they think of each other. He's my husband, and I'm going to keep him. He even told me that my actions had killed all the affection he ever had for me . . . if he ever had any. Those are the exact words he used. Even if I have nagged some, and been a spendthrift, a man owes something to the woman who has to take care of his kids while he gets out and gallivants around.

"Please answer my letter soon, for I sure need advice from someone as to what to say or do. PLENTY MAD."

Plenty Mad, are you sister? Well, about what? You asked for what you got! Maybe you figure that I'm going to hand you a lotta bouquets, 'n' sobs of sympathy for "putting up" with your husband for 18 years. But I'm not. Far from it, because, from your own letter, if anybody had any "putting up with" to do, it was he, not you.

No, I'm not excusing him for falling in love with another woman. But I am telling you who's responsible for that catastrophe, and that person is yourself.

You thought, when you'd married your husband, that you'd done all that was necessary. You took it for granted that marriage was going to settle you in his heart for life, with no further effort on your part. But it didn't—because it couldn't. Marital bonds can't control hearts. They can't control love. Love shrivels and dies under coldness and mean temper, just as surely as flowers die when they're frostbitten. It grows under sparkle and sympathy and warmth, just as surely as flowers bloom in the sun.

Must Alter Habits

And no man with the spunk of a gnat is going to keep on "loving" a nagging, disagreeable, hang-nail of a woman just because he's been unfortunate enough to marry her. Being a wife is a job, just as working in an office is a job, and the woman or man who falls down on it, can't expect to keep on sitting pretty.

What'll you do? There may not be anything you can do—now. But for the sake of those four children of yours, it's up to you to try. And the first thing for you to do, is to cut out the fireworks and the hysterics. Stop "daring" your husband and threatening murder. That's sheer sap-headedness. Even if he were the worst of men, killing him wouldn't help matters, and it would wreck your children's lives. It's up to you to ditch that notion . . . now!

Next, show him how human decent and companionable you can be. Don't try to mush over him. You've lost that right. But you won him once. The chances are that, if you'll jar yourself loose from your tantrums, you may be able to win him again. If that won't win back what you've thrown away, nothing will and you'd better take the medicine you've made for yourself, and quit squawking.

Household Hints

Fold the buttons or clasps inside the garment before putting it through the wringer so they will not be torn off or smashed.

The lighting of the kitchen at night is most important. If the center light does not throw sufficient light on the stove, it will be worth the price to have a side bracket installed next to the stove. One cannot cook well if one cannot see well.

Milk is the best source of protein for little children and should be the first item to be thought of when catering for them.

A polish good for all metals can be made with one cup of cigar ashes mixed with two tablespoons bicarbonate of soda, brought to a smooth paste by adding water. Use on a soft cloth, rubbing vigorously.

PRESCRIPTION for Constipation tested by 47 YEARS' PRACTICE

THERE'S one way to help the bowels that is safe, and sure. It empties them of all the poisonous waste without doing any harm. Its action is thorough but so gentle that it never causes the least discomfort.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin always does the work and it leaves you feeling fine. You can take it freely, reducing the amount as the bowels grow stronger.

If you feel sluggish, can't eat, have dull headaches, feel tired, weak and run-down, this famous doctor's prescription will help get rid of the waste that is probably clogging your system. If the children have coated tongue or bad breath, if they seem bilious, fretful, upset, give them a little Syrup Pepsin, too. It tastes so good they'll like it, and it can't hurt them. Its gentle aid is ideal for women.

By taking a little at those times when they are most likely to be constipated, they can avoid much discomfort. Its mild but thorough action commends it to older men and women, too.

Dr. Caldwell specialized on the bowels. His prescription of laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other ingredients has been tested by 47 years' practice. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take some next time you feel the need. Then you'll know why "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin" is the family laxative of millions.

When a man holds a position with a very important firm he often loses track of the fact that much of the attention paid to him is not personal, but due to the power and influence that he represents.

When he is no longer connected with this important background he discovers how little he means individually and sees his successor supplant him completely.

And so it is with the wife of a famous man. As his wife she is much flattered and catered to by those who wish to make a hit with him.

But when divorced she finds to her sorrow that these persons fear to continue their friendship with her for fear of offending him, and are already rallying around her successor.

Madge Proceeds With Party Arrangements

My wonder at Lillian for awkwardly dragging Edith Fairfax's name into our discussion of Phillip Veritzen's embarrassing proffer of flowers for Mary's party was short-lived. The explanation came to me within a second or two after she had asked sardonically: "What will you bet that Edith Fairfax won't also say she'll tell him herself about the color of her gown?" She simply had meant to provide me with an effective mental buckler against Dicky's probable anger when he should discover the second elaborate contribution my employer was giving to Mary's party.

But her aid was not needed, I told myself grimly. The remembrance of the day in Dicky's office when I had seen him clasp a necklace about Edith's throat had armed me against any possible explosion of temper on the part of my husband. That the jewels in the necklace were only synthetic and that Dicky had made a most plausible explanation of the gift coupled with similar gifts to all the women of our farmhouse family, did not lessen my feeling that Dicky had no right to criticize Mr. Veritzen's proffer of flowers, which, after all, were for Mary's party, not mine.

I caught myself up with a qualm and a flush upon the last reflection. I must be honest with my soul, and I knew very well that Philip Veritzen's proffer of flowers and theater tickets for Mary's party was an imperfectly camouflaged tribute to me. But I could not admit that embarrassing fact even to Lillian, and I was glad to get away from my own consciousness of it while I framed an answer to her question concerning Edith.

"'I'll bet nuthin' on nobody,'" I quoted with a forced grin. "But I'm glad you reminded me of Edith. I really had forgotten that she was invited."

"That isn't quite on the free list, is it?" Lillian asked, smiling widely, and again I was conscious that she was deliberately prodding me. It was not the first time that she had made me remember Dick's temperamental lapses, which, however, I could not call real offenses, and I knew that her reason for doing so was the result of a settled opinion and policy. She believed that Dicky occasionally needed the fillip of my interest, real or feigned, in someone else and she knew that unless I had some definite provocation I would avoid arousing Dicky's quick jealousy if it were humanly possible for me to do so.

Her reference to Edith had set me quivering with the impotent anger which is mine whenever the image of my husband's business partner is brought before my mental vision. But with a mighty effort I kept my voice casual, even invested it with a note of laughter.

"Forgetting anybody at this party is just one of the things that aren't done," I told her. "I'm eternally grateful to you reminding me."

"Don't strain your gratitude muscles," she retorted dryly, "and drink your coffee. Helena won't be awake for another hour or two, but you'll just have to brave her wrath. You can't go on with anything else until you find out whether she has planned anything. At that, she'll change her plans if you placate her prettily."

"I can't imagine Mrs. Brixton ever being in a mood that needs placating," I told her, and indeed, when, after some delay, I succeeded in reaching Mrs. Brixton from a telephone booth in the restaurant, nothing could have been softer or gentler than her voice.

"Oh, my dear!" she said in pretty contrition. "I'm so ashamed of being so sleepy. My maid simply couldn't get me awakened enough to comprehend that I must come to the telephone. What time is it, anyway?"

I told her, with apologies for waking her, and explained my errand.

"How perfectly grand!" she exclaimed, with the enthusiasm her young daughter, Carolyn, might have shown. "I had thought of driving them all outside the city to some quiet, exclusive place where they could dine and dance—it's so hard to choose things for youngsters of this age that are both suitable and enjoyable—but this plan of yours—I simply can't find words for it. But—I feel guilty—you shouldn't be doing so much for all these young guests of mine. Mayn't I——"

"It isn't for your guests," I told her, laughing. "In the vernacular of young people, we're 'slinging' a party for our niece, Mary Harrison—you remember her?"

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Diphtheria a Preventable Disease

Diphtheria is a highly contagious disease, most prevalent among children. It is a preventable disease. It is a shame to have it included among the dangers of childhood.

Dr. Copeland.

There has been a great reduction in the number of deaths caused by diphtheria. It is the hope and aim of all public health officials to eradicate this dangerous ailment entirely. This can be accomplished only when there is complete co-operation of the public.

This disease is caused by the diphtheria germ which finds its way to the nose or throat. There it multiplies in number. Its presence is shown by a greyish membrane which may interfere with breathing.

The germs produce a toxin, a powerful poison. This is quickly absorbed into the blood stream, causing general poisoning of the system.

The germs of diphtheria may be transferred from one person to another by kissing. They may be carried in the spray produced by coughing, sneezing and talking. Drinking cups or other utensils used by an infected person serve as a common means of transmission.

The possibility of contamination by the germs of this disease is particularly great in crowded and congested communities. Moreover there are persons who carry these germs without knowing they have them. Such persons are spoken of as "carriers."

How can we combat this disease? Fortunately, we have at our disposal the knowledge of diphtheria "anti-toxin." This is widely used in the treatment and cure.

Diphtheria may be prevented by the use of the "toxin-anti-toxin" injections. When this treatment is given, it enables children to go through life without contracting the disease, even though exposed to it.

By means of the "Schick test" we can determine whether a person, if exposed to diphtheria, will contract the disease. The procedure is simple and may be applied by any physician or by the local health bureau.

If all our people would cooperate by having their children inoculated against diphtheria, this disease would soon disappear.

We rarely hear of cases of smallpox. It is, indeed, a rarity. Nowadays most students go through medical school without ever seeing a case of smallpox. At one time this was an exceedingly common disease and caused many deaths. Since the rigid insistence upon vaccination against smallpox, this disease has become extremely rare.

Diphtheria is another disease which will disappear when we all help.

Answers to Health Queries

MISS M. B. Q—What causes a weak heart? I get weak spells quite often and these last for several days—what would you advise?

2—I am 24 years of age and troubled with neuritis and arthritis—what treatment would be of benefit?

A—May be due to several different causes; there may be some infection at the source. A thorough examination will determine the exact source of the trouble and also determine the necessary treatment.

2—These disturbances can usually be traced to infection in the system—and the underlying infection is probably responsible for the heart condition.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Only a foolish, misguided gal will scour powder into her complexion with all the vim she uses when scrubbing the kitchen sink. The human skin is wonderfully resilient and durable, but too much rubbing with any dry substance will scale up cutaneous flakes, make the surface sensitive. It is advisable to remove make-up and especially rouge with a cold cream or liquid cleanser before using soap.

Mothers who would have their daughters beautiful and charming should keep in mind the fact that character is formed in childhood. What a girl is at 12 is pretty much what she will be at 21. Character is in the making even in infancy. Plenty of vain, selfish, arrogant, unpleasant women are the victims of short-sighted mothers who lacked intelligence to direct their children along the right paths, teaching them manners, creating for them a condition of mental health.

Hollow cheeks? There are two remedies and both should be used; more milk and eggs in the diet and proper massage which consists of applying a heavy cream, placing thumbs and fingers outspread over the cheeks, bringing them together with a clawing movement that stimulates the trumpeter's muscles.

During the day's activities arms and legs get plenty of exercise. That part of the body which benefits most from muscular effort is the torso. Bending, twisting, stretching exercises not only carry on the good work of producing a svelte and graceful silhouette, but they strengthen the organs of digestion and increase the activity of the blood streams. The average woman hates exercise because she hasn't gone in for it and found out for herself how it promotes a sense of well-being, sweeps dull thoughts from the mind, builds little flash fires in her eyes.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, February 6

While there may be a fairly lively state of affairs on this day, judging by the lunar transits, yet there are many adverse and hazardous signs. A disruptive or radical situation may suddenly be present, with unfavorable bearing on conditions generally.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of some sudden visitation which may be disruptive to plans and upsetting to the environment and peace of mind. Strange projects may lure, under a degree of pressure and personal impetus, but the situation is precarious to funds, employment and private happiness.

A child born on this day may be energetic, fond of adventure and strange experiences, but these may prove detrimental to its stable success and personal progress and happiness. It should have frugality, responsibility and steadiness instilled in its early years.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Be Careful of Your Reputation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. To what hour is it proper for a girl of 19 years of age to entertain her boy friends? The impression seems to prevail that to the hour of 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning is in keeping with the laws of morality and good taste, which, of course, is not true.

2. When returning at midnight from an evening's entertainment, is it proper for her to invite her boy friends into her home at that hour?

INTERESTED INQUIRER.

1. Indeed, it isn't true; the well-brought-up girl will not be allowed to do this, and the well-mannered girl wouldn't want to do this. This hour, for the occasional dance is, of course, to be understood, but the girl who is allowed, or who chooses, to have her boy friends stay at her home until this hour certainly lays herself open to much severe criticism. Her mother and father should most graciously, but most firmly make her understand the error of her social ways.

2. No. Not only should a sense of decency prevent her from doing this, but her sense of thoughtfulness for the well-being of her family. Certainly they don't want to be disturbed at this hour!

Also, as a further answer to your two questions, the girl who is socially careful of her reputation and who is sensitive to what's what, would not be so unwise as to have a boy see that she had such unsure manners as to allow this sort of time indifference. The modern girl, like the modern business man, knows that "good manners pay" and, if for no other reason, for this alone she has respect.

The Appropriate Gown

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it correct for a hostess to wear an evening gown at a birthday party given in her own home? The guests are informally dressed. L. D. P.

Since the hostess knows that her guests are to be informally dressed, it would be best taste for her to wear a gown that is more informal than an evening gown . . . There are many of this type this year, gowns that are charmingly appropriate for wearing in the home for just this sort of occasion.

When you remove Bacterial-Mouth

DULL teeth that are ugly, yellow and decayed, and receding gums are enemies of beauty, health and happiness. They are tell-tale signs of a condition offensive to all of us—and inexcusable. Germs sweep into the mouth with every breath and attack teeth and gums. They cause the condition known as Bacterial-Mouth. But Kolynos quickly conquers this foe by killing the germs. The result is astonishing.

Use the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique for 3 days—a half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, morning and night. Then look at your teeth—fully 3 shades whiter.

In 10 days the improvement will be so marked you will never again say that white teeth are a gift received only by a fortunate few.

Dentists have long advocated the Dry-Brush Technique as the one way to use a dental cream full strength and keep brush bristles stiff enough to clean every tooth surface and massage gums properly. Kolynos permits this approved technique.

This highly concentrated, double-strength dental cream is unique in action. It multiplies 25 times when it enters the mouth—thus a half-inch of Kolynos is equal in effectiveness to 12 inches of the ordinary toothpaste. It becomes a surging, antiseptic FOAM that makes wetting the toothbrush unnecessary.

You can feel Kolynos work. It foams into every pit, fissure and crevice.

Germs that cause Bacterial-Mouth and lead to stain, decay and gum diseases are quickly killed. They vanish and the entire mouth is purified. Kolynos kills 190 million germs in 15 seconds, 424 million in 60 seconds.

This amazing Kolynos FOAM removes food particles that ferment and cause decay . . . neutralizes acids . . . washes away tartar and the unsightly mucoid coating that clouds teeth.

Easily and quickly, it cleans and polishes teeth down to the naked white enamel without injury. And for 3 hours after each brushing this cleansing, purifying process continues.

So long as you use the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique teeth will remain gleaming white and sound, gums will be firm and healthy.

Look for Results in 3 Days

If you want whiter, sounder teeth and firm, pink gums start using Kolynos—a half-inch on a dry-brush, morning and night. Within 3 days teeth will look whiter—fully 3 shades. Gums will look and feel better. Your mouth will tingle with a clean, sweet taste. Buy a tube of Kolynos from any druggist.

COURT REBUKES RUM PLEA HERE

Owen Burns, an Erie attorney was criticized in Federal Court when he brought two liquor law violators here to plead guilty before Judge R. M. Gibson today, the court declaring such action meant expense to the government.

Burns represented George Heizer and Scott Liminger.

Heizer was fined $400 and Liminger sentenced to three months in the Erie county jail, with a $200 fine. Judge Gibson declared such prisoners should not be brought here to enter pleas. He cited the court would sit in Erie next month.

Two McKees Rocks liquor law violators entered guilty pleas as a result of a raid on the King Edward restaurant, 500 Island avenue, Edward Cerceo was fined $200 and William Horn fined $50.

OBITUARY

Blackburn Funeral.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon for Jeremiah Dick Blackburn, 59, former Clairton councilman, who died in his home at 430 Halcomb avenue, that city, yesterday. The services will be in the family home at 2 o'clock, and burial will be in Richland Cemetery. Mr. Blackburn was born in Clairton and had resided there all his life. For many years he was engaged in the flour and feed business with his brother, R. M. Blackburn. He retired in 1920. Mr. Blackburn served as city councilman for eight years. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Eda Jane Wittmann Blackburn; three sons, Charles, Robert and John Blackburn; a daughter, Mrs. Emma B. Licht, all of Clairton; two brothers, D. B. Blackburn, of Oakmont, and Robert M. Blackburn, of Clairton; four sisters, Mrs. William J. CARNEGIE WIFE DISAPPEARS

Police aid was asked today in the search for Mrs. Goldie Irene Butler, 27, mother of four children, who disappeared from her home, 23 Carbon street, Carnegie, Tuesday, by her husband, Clyde Butler.

Leaving the Butler home Tuesday afternoon, ostensibly to go for a walk, the husband said, she has not returned. A sufferer from chronic headaches, it is thought Mrs. Butler may be a victim of amnesia. A check of hospitals was asked.

The Butlers have been married 10 years and have four children—Richard, 3; Walter, 4; Ruby, 7, and Clyde, 9. They have had no domestic trouble, the husband told the Missing Persons Bureau, and were to have moved into a new home in Elliot this week.

NOW, HE ENJOYS FOODS THAT USED TO DISAGREE

"For over five years it seemed like everything I enjoyed eating would disagree with me," says Charles L. Garman, 5438 Irving St., Philadelphia. I suffered from headaches; was nervous; couldn't sleep right.

"I tried a lot of things for indigestion, but nothing really helped until my doctor started me on Pape's Diapepsin. I have used five packages and have gained five pounds. I eat anything—fried things, hot cakes; foods that used to disagree. I seldom feel the least discomfort nowadays, but when I do I just take a tablet of Pape's Diapepsin and in a moment my stomach is all right."

When thousands like Mr. Garman are coming right out in public to praise Pape's Diapepsin, there seems no reason to doubt that it does what is claimed for it to help people who suffer from acid-dyspepsia, and the heartburn, gas, nausea, belching, headaches, dizziness, etc., caused by this common ailment. But those who wish further proof before buying may easily have it. The makers agree to send anyone a trial package absolutely FREE. Just write "Pape's Diapepsin," Wheeling, W. Va.

POWER HELD BY LLOYD GEORGE

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—More than Ramsay MacDonald, more than Stanley Baldwin or any other of a dozen British political leaders, David Lloyd George, Britain's wartime premier, today holds the fate of British politics in his hands.

Leader of a small coterie of Liberals in the House of Commons, he has been able to throw enough votes to the Labor government to keep it in office—but—and it is like the sword of Damocles over the head of Prime Minister MacDonald—he could if he wished at any sitting of the Commons turn the votes to the opposition and turn the ministry out.

Unmoved at the most scathing criticism of his wielding of the balance of power, including a speech comparing him with American gangsters, Mr. Lloyd George continues to criticize both ministry and the Conservative opposition, but in return for some of the things he wants—such as the electoral reform measure now before the Commons—he is keeping the government in office.

Acid Indigestion, Torture for Months. Not A Sign Now!

New Prescription ACIDINE Ends Gas Pain After All Else Failed

"I suffered for months with acid indigestion and gas on the stomach," writes Mr. C. Bedford of Detroit, Mich. "Couldn't eat a meal without being troubled with gas and pain, also dizzy feeling. I tried all kinds of medicines, but nothing really helped until I took Acidine. Got relief from the very start. Now I am entirely well, no pains at all. Have recommended ACIDINE to all my friends."

Thousands are astonished how this new prescription ACIDINE succeeds where other known remedies fail. The reason is that it is entirely different. Contains an effective scientific digestant, Japtase, that promptly liquefies 800 times its own weight of heavy starchy food, under proper conditions. Five other ingredients relieve burning acid, stop gas and soothe irritated stomach lining. No other known remedy contains this scientific combination to end stomach trouble.

Physicians are prescribing ACIDINE, and thousands have found it the only real relief from acid indigestion and dyspepsia, gas, pain, heartburn, coated tongue, bad taste, dizziness and other troubles from the stomach.

Don't take chances with acidity and gas that may lead to more dangerous illness. Get ACIDINE today and watch how quick pain, gas end. You can smoke, eat and drink what you want if you take Acidine to stop resulting acidity. Results guaranteed or your money back. Get ACIDINE from any druggist today.

Here's Quick Way To Break Up a Cold

Makes you feel like a new person almost before you know it

Take two tablets now.

Better almost before you know it.

THE thing to do with a cold is to break it up in a hurry—with something you know does the job; not to trifle with a lot of trick ideas and remedies. Colds are too dangerous to experiment with.

Get a box of Hill's Cascara Quinine at any drug store. Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all.

Soon that miserable, aching feeling begins to go. The cold breaks up. The poisons are moved from your system. The world looks like an altogether different place.

Those results come because Hill's goes back to first principles by going to the seat of the trouble. It's not a newfangled fancy idea but a tried and proved way that's made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy.

Hill's costs only a few cents. Use it for quick relief after everything else you've tried has failed.

SPRING TRIPS TO DETERMINE COURSE

THE SPRING TRAINING trips are to determine whether the National League will adopt or reject the new baseball submitted by the manufacturers as a possible cure for the home-run burlesque. President Barney Dreyfuss, of the Pittsburgh club, was so advised by League President John A. Heydler yesterday. The Pirate owner was unable to attend the league meeting held in New York on Tuesday, and the circuit chief, in a personal letter, gave him a full report of the action taken.

Barney Dreyfuss

The magnates did not pass final judgment on the ball, but agreed to use the new type of sphere at all the conditioning camps in the spring, both in the early workouts and in the practice games to follow. At the end of that time the head of each club is to send his views of the ball to league headquarters and give his opinion as to whether or not the pellet ought to be retained as likely to prove more satisfactory than the old one. Upon the result of this mail vote will hinge the question as to whether the league will adopt the ball for the regular season.

IT IS SAID that while the National League has consented to try the new ball submitted, which has a thicker cover and heavier stitches than the one formerly used, the American League objects to the heavier cover and prefers to limit the change to the stitches. The two types of baseball, though bearing different names, are made by the same manufacturers in the same factory.

The plan of the National League moguls is to decide the question independently for their own loop and to adopt or reject the ball according to what the spring tests show, regardless of the action the American League may take. The confidence appears to be general among the club owners of the senior circuit that the new ball will cut down the slugging appreciably, as they believe that not only has some of the rabbit been taken out of the pill but that the heavier stitches will enable the pitchers to grip it more tightly and thereby do more effective work with it.

ANOTHER OBJECTION TO the National League schedule for the approaching season is that the games at home and abroad prior to the Fourth of July are not equally divided for the various clubs. This, like other defects, results from the booking of three East-West trips in advance of that date, instead of only two, as usual.

As Independence Day is considered the turning point in the major pennant races, an effort was always made in previous schedule making to distribute the dates evenly up to that time so as to keep any club from having an advantage at the start of the real fight immediately after the Fourth.

IN THE 1931 schedule, however, those conditions are not kept equal. The East will have all the better of it prior to Independence Day in the matter of playing at home, with whatever chance that offers for the piling up of a lead. Up to the Fourth the Pirates will have only 29 games at home, fewer than any other club in the league; the Cubs will have only 31, the Reds 33, and the Cardinals 34, whereas the Giants will have 46 contests at home in that period, the Robins and Phillies 45 each, and the Braves 42. It will have to be a close fight later for the West to regain the edge it loses in the first part of the campaign.

George Keogan

WHEN NOTRE DAME'S basketball stars meet Pitt at the Stadium here next Saturday night, they will employ the fast-breaking, short-passing, delayed offensive which Coach George Keogan has been using with good effect since he took charge of the floor sport at South Bend.

The success of the system is attested by the fact that in the eight seasons of Keogan's coaching up to the present campaign, Notre Dame fives have piled up 121 victories against only 46 defeats, for the remarkable percentage of .725. This is one of the best marks ever made by a major team over such a period of years against other first-class quintets.

IN THE 1925-26 season and the 1926-27 campaign, Keogan's passers won 38 games while losing only two, one in each season. Both defeats were suffered at the hands of the Franklin team, which the Irish defeated in return games.

On each occasion, with the games a year apart, Franklin won by exactly the same score, 33 to 22. In the first season, Notre Dame came back to win, 40 to 19, and in gaining their revenge in the second year the Irish piled up a 36-to-16 victory.

THE NOTRE DAME floormen in those two years took into camp such teams as Minnesota, Northwestern, Iowa, Illinois, Carnegie Tech, Wisconsin, Pittsburgh, Marquette, Creighton, Wabash and Detroit. In the following season, 1927-28, the Irish lost to Northwestern, Butler and Michigan State, in each case after defeating the same opponents. Besides the teams named, the South Benders that season met such quintets as Iowa, Minnesota, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Franklin, Wabash, Drake, Wisconsin, Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh and Butler, defeating all of them in one or two games. The three-year record of 56 victories in 61 starts stands today as one of the best ever made by a major college.

JOE M'CARTHY says that no off-season development has pleased him more in his new role of Yankee manager than the success of his club in getting Joe Sewell, the Cleveland cast-off, when seven other big league pilots were trying to sign the veteran infielder. McCarthy not only considers Sewell certain to prove valuable as a reserve, but even sees in him possibilities as a regular.

"There is a chance that Sewell will work into our regular arrangement," said Joe. "I am set on getting some speed around second base, for that is the vital spot in any baseball system, but it may be that the experience of Sewell will prove more valuable than the speed and fire of either Chapman or Lary. However, that is a matter that cannot be determined until we are in camp at St. Petersburg."

WHILE THERE ARE, of course, some new points in the University of Pennsylvania's program of sweeping athletic reforms, it is not, on the whole, the startling innovation it might appear to be at first glance.

Dr. Don Harrison

On the contrary, an analysis of the Penn plan shows that the announced program incorporates several things that were introduced here some time back and have been in force ever since.

IT IS CLEAR that the University of Pittsburgh showed Penn the way in several respects. For instance, Pitt's football coach, Dr. J. B. Sutherland, is a member of the faculty. The Panther director of athletics, W. Don Harrison, also is a faculty member. The training table and training house were abolished years ago. The matter of eligibility has been in the hands of a faculty committee for the last four years. Pitt's policy of administration and handling of funds has been for time exactly as prescribed in Penn's new program of having a dean for the whole physical education department is the same as that which has been in force for some time at Penn State, where Hugo Bezdek occupies the chair. Not all of the Quaker program is original, by any means.

SUTHERLAND OUTLINES OBJECTIONS

By JESS CARVER.

I don't think Dr. Jock Sutherland, Pitt's celebrated football coach, is especially tickled over the way the athletic council has knocked his pre-season football practice in the head. The good doctor wouldn't go so far as to come right out and say so, but yesterday in setting forth an idea or two of his own on the subject Jock rather conveyed the impression that the council's action did not set exactly o. k. with him.

Jock Sutherland

"Here we are," explained the Pitt mentor, "in a rather unique spot. Our situation at Pitt is different from that at most other Eastern schools. We have no training table, athletic house or dormitories where the boys can be kept together. We start earlier than most of the other large college teams in the East, and we don't play two or three warm-up games, which really are practice sessions."

"Starting two weeks, or even three, before the opening of the schedule, makes it a bit difficult to whip a team into shape for early games, especially when we have tough ones to play. It would be different if our first game were in October, or if we have a couple comparatively soft ones to get by right at the start, but our schedule isn't constructed that way."

The tough part about it for Jock is that the boys are so confident of Sutherland's ability to turn out a good football team, and so trustful when it comes to depending on the Scot to meet almost any test, that if Jock had to take a team two days before the opener they'd still look for a 50-0 score.

That, Doctor, is what you get for being good.

OVEREND BACK

Buddy Overend is back from Cambridge Springs, where he went for a week-end of rest and quiet, away from the maddening and maddened throngs, star tackles, forwards, hurdlers, shot-putters, boxers, graduate managers, schedules and publicity men. Overend hasn't been feeling so well since he was stricken with an attack of the flu two or three weeks past.

He came back yesterday in time to learn that Purdue was going to make an effort to have its game with the Tartans, scheduled for the Pitt Stadium next fall, transferred to Cleveland's new municipal stadium. Buddy didn't say the game would not be shifted to Cleveland, but he did make some crack or other about betting the family plate that it would be played in the Stadium.

W.-J. AGAIN

Wash-Jeff is all jammed up over electing a football captain again. At the Red and Black institution the boys must elect a man by a three-fourths majority. The grace period of 30 days expires Sunday, and it looks very much as if the athletic council will again have to name the football leader.

Last year the lettermen of the squad were unable to reach a decision, and the council named Walter Levine.

They tell me the squad has balloted three times already trying to select a leader for next fall, with the vote remaining the same each time.

DUKES, GENEVA READY

The Dukes will wind up preparation this afternoon with a brisk workout for the game tomorrow night here with Geneva's Covenanters. Chick Davies hasn't been overly enthusiastic with the showing made by his varsity this week. One of those little birds that poke their bills into places they aren't supposed to reports that the Duke freshmen club, which is a spiffy outfit, kicked the varsity around in a highly undignified fashion in a practice game Monday.

Pope Advances In Squash Play

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Ben Pope, of the Keystone A. C. of Pittsburgh, advanced to the quarter-finals of the national professional squash racquets championship tournament here by defeating Steve Gregor, of the Colony Club of New York, reputed to be the hardest hitter in the game, at the Union Boat Club yesterday.

The rangy Pope played his customary game in dropping the first set and then coming on to win 11-15, 15-11, 18-14, 15-8. Pope also was elected a member of the advisory committee of the national association.

COLUMBIA LOSES STARS

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (INS)—Columbia's swimming and water polo teams suffered a crushing loss yesterday when Ray Rudd and Johnny Rae, two of the Blue and White's brightest aquatic stars, were declared ineligible because of scholastic deficiencies in the mid-year examinations.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: A DEER FOREST—"The presence of trees is not required to make a royal forest," says Pollock in his "Land Laws," page 40. Wedgwood's "Dictionary of English Etymology" says: "We have many forests in England without a stick of timber upon them." The word "forest" is derived from the Latin "foras" ("out of doors") and denotes a tract of land, placed out of cultivation. "Deer-forest" is a timberless tract of land, set aside for the rearing of any kind of game, not necessarily "deer" in the strict meaning of the word. ANGIER WAS SHOD WITH HORSE-SHOES—Etienne Angier (or Aungier), a highwayman of the fourteenth century, celebrated for his jail-breaking exploits and some traits suggestive of Robin Hood, was subjected to this unusual form of punishment by King Charles V of France, surnamed the Wise. TOMORROW: THE DUKE WHO WORE A SIX-FOOT SILK HAT.

DUNLEVY NEXT CECIL FOE

By TOM BIRKS.

Dunlevy versus Cecil, at the Bridgeville Speedway, in the semi-final round of the West Penn cup—that is the tid-bit for local soccer fans Sunday afternoon, for it is the only game in that neck of the woods. President John Smith, of the Panhandle League, notified the writer last evening his loop would remain idle with the cup tie scheduled for his district.

Both teams are cup fighters, and it should be a real battle. The game will be called at 3 p. m.

There is a rumor the Morgan game scheduled at Cleveland Sunday with the Shamrocks is off, but it has not, as yet, been confirmed or denied.

This writer wrote to the National office protesting the decision. Mangus authorized the sending of the letter. Fans are all worked up regarding the decision of the cup committee, and a well-posted soccer man wants to take it to the appeals committee, if necessary.

On Saturday two games will be played in the Central loop. The Pierpoints meet the Rovers at Leslie Park, and if the Blue and White is successful, then it will have tied Clan Douglas for the leadership, and a playoff will be necessary. The other game finds Crafton at Mesta Machine.

THUNDERER DIES

Three Generations Of Phillips Don Charleroi Suits

CHARLEROI, Pa., Feb. 5.—Three generations of Phillips will don Charleroi Governors' uniform this year. William Phillips, 58, as pilot; his son, Lou, center field, and William, third, aged 8, as batboy.

William Phillips II. piloted the Governors season of 1928.

Harry Gumbert, 20-year-old pitching sensation who started with the Charleroi Governors last season, has been ordered to report to the Baltimore Orioles, International League, March 15.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 5.—(INS)—Jimmy Slattery, of this city, former light heavyweight champion, became the proud father of a nine-pound baby boy yesterday. Both Mrs. Slattery and the baby are doing well.

SKIBO TACKLES IN HOSPITAL

Leonard Schnupp, veteran tackle of the Carnegie Tech varsity football squad, was reported "doing very nicely" at the Presbyterian Hospital following an operation for appendicitis at 10 o'clock this morning.

Schnupp has been ailing for some time and decided to undergo the operation at the advice of Dr. W. L. Marks, Carnegie Tech physician.

Another Carnegie Tech tackle, Don Fletcher, entered the St. Francis Hospital for an operation on an injured knee. He was to have some of the cartilage removed this afternoon.

BEN TO WORK ON BACKFIELD FOR STEVENS

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Ben Friedman, the greatest forward-passer football has known and an astute quarterback as well, will abandon the New York Giants and the professional gridiron to coach the Yale backfield this fall, it is rumored here.

Dr. Mal Stevens will retain his job as head coach until his contract expires at the end of the 1931 season, but, it is said, will divide his authority to a considerable extent with Friedman, who will have a big hand in directing the Yale attack.

Friedman will install the Notre Dame system. He will have the wholehearted co-operation of Adam Walsh, the present line coach, whose work has been handicapped by lack of a free hand in inculcating the ideas of line play he learned under Rockne at Notre Dame.

This Able's Irish Rose combination—Friedman being Jewish and Walsh Irish—should give Yale a football team that will click to the discomfiture of Harvard and all other adversaries. Yale's football advisory committee will lay the Friedman proposal before the athletic board of control Monday.

Yale's graduates have felt there has been a woeful waste of fine playing material at New Haven and point to last year's team as an instance of potential winners gone wrong.

Friedman was a star in his day at Michigan, but it was not until he took up the pro grame that he ranked as probably the greatest all-around player in the country.

Benny will star on his new job when the Yale candidates gather for five weeks of spring practice, during which time he will get a good line on the material with which he will try to give a headache to Eddie Casey, Harvard, and the Warner system when the Blue meets the Crimson next fall.

RUFF IS BARRED BY COMISH

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Four boxers, Ralph Lenny, Union City, N. J.; Johnny Ruff, McKeesport, Pa.; Jimmy McGraw, Wheeling, W. Va., and Chip Freeman, Salamanca, N. Y., were suspended indefinitely yesterday by the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission.

Lenny was suspended for permitting Edward Zanfrini to make a match for him without a manager's license; Ruff for unsatisfactory services at the Majestic A. C., McKeesport, on January 29; McGraw for failing to honor his contract at the Motor Square Garden, Pittsburgh, and Freeman for unsatisfactory services at the Motor Square Garden on February 2.

Jimmy Kelly and Robert Granshaw, Pittsburgh boxers; Ted Ross, Chicago battler, and Tommy Britten, all were declared ill and unavailable indefinitely.

SPORT SHORTS

CHICAGO—The Jose Santa-Knute Hansen heavyweight bout at the Stadium last night was declared "no contest" by Referee Dave Miller in the second round after Hansen had gone down four times without being severely hit. The purses were held up and the boxers will have to come before the commission for a hearing next Tuesday.

NEW YORK—(AP.)—The National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues has voted to accept the proposition of the major leagues in regard to the draft and to players sent out on optional agreement. The vote was 18 to 1 in favor of acceptance, with the Southern Association as the only dissenter.

MIAMI BEACH—Mrs. L. G. Riley, of Pittsburgh, teed off this morning in the second round of the match play in the Miami Beach championship. She is opposing Mrs. H. D. Sterrett, of Hutchinson, Kansas, in the title sixteen. Mrs. Riley advanced yesterday at the expense of Mrs. William McCarty, of Detroit, whom she eliminated, 7 and 6.

PINEHURST, N. C.—(AP.)—The trotting horse, Coolidge, driven by Herman Tyson, of Wilmington, Del., stepped a mile in the fast time of 2:10¼ on the Pinehurst Matinee Club's half-mile track here yesterday to win the third race on the program, the Pittsburgh Class event, for the Pine Needles Stables, of Pinehurst.

BETHANY, GENEVA, ALLEGHENY VICTORIOUS

Syracuse, 'Question Mark' of Hockey, Next Foe for Yellow Jackets

MOUNTAINEERS, GROVE CITY BEATEN

MORGANTOWN, Feb. 5.—West Virginia University's defense cracked in the second half against Bethany after Johnny Dale, Mountaineer forward, went out on personal fouls with one minute of the initial period left, and the Bisons continued their uninterrupted string of victories with a 45-35 triumph here last night.

The score was knotted at 17-all as the first half ended.

During the first half the Mountaineers tallied five times from the court and added seven fouls, while Bethany dropped six through from the court and added five fouls to the score. The lineup:

Bethany—45.		W. Virginia—35.
Rush	F	Sortet
Lackey	F	Doyle
Taifair	C	Barring
Flading	G	Plaster
Jenkins	G	Dotson

Score by periods:

GROVERS BEATEN

GROVE CITY, Pa., Feb. 5.—Steady play gave Geneva a well-earned victory over Grove City, 32-27, here last night. After taking a decisive trimming in the opening frame, the Grovers took a momentary lead near the close but careful handling of the ball enabled Geneva to win out.

Grove City looked like anything but a good club as the Crimson faltered through the first half, which ended 13-5. The lineup:

Grove City—27.		Geneva—32.
Fegley	F	Manning
Burke	F	Fair
Laycock	C	Sole
Slavnitsky	G	Montgomery
Reeves	G	Aultman

Substitutions — Grove City: Minnick, Koma, Buckley. Geneva: Grahame.

Field goals—Manning 2, Fair 3, Montgomery 2, Aultman 4, Fegley 3, Buckley, Burke 4, Laycock, Slavnitsky, Reeves 2.

Foul goals—Grove City, 3 out of 8. Geneva, 10 out of 13. Referee—Bolster.

'GATORS COP

MEADVILLE, Pa., Feb. 5.—Allegheny snapped out of a four-game losing streak here last night to beat Waynesburg, 41-31, in a fast contest.

Allegheny, leading by a single point at the half, 19-18, piled up a big lead in the second half and then coasted safely to win. The lineup:

Allegheny—41.		Waynesburg—31.
Kerr	F	Avery
Dennison	F	Currie
Conn	C	Janosik
Garbark	G	Ufema
Brown	G	Mancuso

Substitutions — Allegheny, Berger for Brown, Brown for Conn, Conn for Garbark; Waynesburg, O'Connell for Currie, Currie for Avery, Avery for Currie, Ufoma for Janosik. Foul goals—Garbark 2 out of 2, Brown 2 out of 3, Dennison 1 out of 3, Kerr none out of 3, Conn none out of 2, Avery 2 out of 2, Currie none out of 1, O'Connell 4 out of 5, Janosik 1 out of 4, Ufema 2 out of 2. Referee—Fitting.

SALEM TOPS BOBCATS

SALEM, W. Va., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Salem furnished a surprise by beating West Virginia Wesleyan, 34 to 30. Salem counted on 10 out of 15 foul tries and Wesleyan on 6 out of 18. The lineup:

Salem—34.		Wesleyan—30.
Neville	F	Furbee
Bowers	F	Hall
Chedister	C	Battles
Sobiak	G	Blondin
West	G	Hall

Field goals—Neville 3, Niedecker (sub) 4, Chedister, Reep (sub), West, Furbee, Hall 2, Battles 2, Hall. Fouls—Salem, 6 out of 15. Wesleyan 6 out of 18. Referee—Paul Camiletti, West Virginia U.

OLDTIMERS BOX AT BENEFIT

CHALKY WIMLER — PATSY BRANNIGAN

Brannigan, one of the "grand old men" among the local ring veterans, and Wimler, a not so ancient "vet," squaring off before their exhibition bout at Father James R. Cox's benefit show for his relief fund in the Moose Temple last night. Buck Crouse and George Chip, two other old rivals, also boxed an exhibition, while amateurs battled in the other bouts.

BENEFIT SHOW NETS $1,000

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

From out of the mists of the murky past flitted ghosts of former greats of the boxing realm at the Moose Temple last night.

They flitted before an enthusiastic but not nearly capacity crowd, which stayed on to the finish of a long program at 11:30 o'clock. The occasion was Father James R. Cox's benefit show for his relief fund.

Approximately $1,000 was raised at the popular prices of $1 and $2. The box office count showed $903, but there is some money outstanding on tickets which will raise the total into the four-figure class.

OLDTIMERS' NIGHT

Featuring the program were two oldtimers' bouts, one of them a dead serious affair between Patsy Brannigan (what a cheer the old boy got when he entered the ring!) and Chalky Wimler and the other a more informal exhibition with clowning interspersed between those former keen rivals, George Chip, of New Castle, erstwhile middleweight champion of the world, and Buck Crouse, local satellite of a decade and a half ago. The oldtimers' bouts consisted of three two-minute rounds each, and the veterans surprised the fans with their agility, considering the fact that they have not been keeping in fighting condition lately.

With Crouse and Chip sitting in their corners awaiting the bell for the first round, Father Cox was introduced from the roped arena and gave a talk in which he thanked the patrons of the show for their support of his work and said he always had been a friend of boxing and boxers because he liked a fighter in any walk of life.

FORMER CHAMPS THERE

Crouse, attired in waist-length tights, then told the fans of his reformation from the role of a heavy drinker to the point where he could make this one more appearance in the ring, through the intervention of Father Cox.

It was the seventh time Chip and Crouse had faced each other across the ring, and Father Cox, in his talk, assured a delegation of New Castle fans that, if they ever wanted to stage a benefit show of their own, he and his committee would be glad to assist in return for contributing Chip to last night's card.

Another former middleweight champion, Frank Klaus, of Braddock, from whom Chip won the title, was introduced and received an ovation. Other oldtimers of the ring who figured in the roll call of celebrities fittingly introduced by Master of Ceremonies Ray Eberle, who worked in evening clothes, were:

Other entertainment on the program included a hilarious "razzberry game," in which six boxers of the Willow Club took part; a medley of oldtime and modern melodies by William Raper on the guitar and Thomas May on the accordion, both veterans in their 60s, which went over in fine style, and nine corking amateur bouts, arranged by Jack Metz and Ralph Shinton.

Chuck Mullins, of the Willow Club, won over John Bender, of Monessen, the A. M. A. junior middleweight champion, in the main amateur tussle, put on as the windup of the show. It was a hard-fought tilt and close, with Bender getting off in the lead in the opening round, during which his left eye was cut, and Mullins forcing the fighting thereafter to snare the honors. Other amateur bouts resulted as follows:

118-pound class—Andrew Kosel, Turtle Creek, defeated Buddy McFarland, North Braddock A. C.

160-pound class—Mike Chomyak, Willow Club, knocked out Jack Carnes, Homewood A. C., 2 rounds.

KENNEDY PULLS ONE

Billy Lewis, Red McDermott and Charley Whiteman refereed the amateur bouts, with Harold D. Jacobs and Harry Neaman acting as the judges. Eddie Kennedy refereed the two oldtimers' bouts and injected a bit of humor into the comic Crouse-Chip affair by announcing "Round 15," as the bell hit for the second round. Tommy Grant and A. C. Couch were the timers. Dr. M. R. Goldman was the commission physician and Mike Caneran the commission deputy.

Schoolboy Asks Indians Cancel Contract

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—The Cleveland American League baseball club has been asked by Frank Cook, 17-year-old Grand Rapids High School athlete, to cancel a contract which caused Cook to be declared a "professional."

Cook also wants to return the $200 he borrowed from the Indians as an advance against salary as a pitcher beginning in 1932, following his graduation from the Union High School.

The contract caused an order of forfeiture of all high school football games in which Cook played. Whether cancellation would restore Cook to high school play would be decided by the State High School Athletic Association.

COUNTY CHAMPS PLAYY. M. H. A.

By JULIUS LEVIN

The Duquesne Lafayettes, four times winners of the Allegheny County League championship, will be the attraction of the Young Men's Hebrew Association tonight in a non-league game. The appearance of the Lafayettes on the Y. M. H. A. floors marks the third County League quintet to engage the Bellefielders so far this season. Fintex, winner of the first half title, and the Jeannette Felders having been met earlier in the season.

The Gefsky charges at present hold a slight edge over their County League rivals, having split even in two games with Fintex, while the Felders were defeated with comparative ease. The Lafayettes, however, loom as the hardest test of the season for the Bellefielders as the Scarlet Hurricane, led by Ed Minnick, is leading the second half of the County League race and is the favorite to meet Fintex in the playoff series.

Eddie Losman, a member of the Y. M. H. A., has been playing an exceptionally good game for Duquesne and he will be in the starting lineup tonight. In the preliminary game, the Y. M. H. A. Varsity B quintet will go after its nineteenth victory of the season against the Howard Francis club, a team composed of former Heinz House stars and named in honor of the one time Heinz House coach.

Williamsport High Signs Rock as Coach

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Harold E. Rock, head football coach of Waite High School, Toledo, O., today was elected head coach of the Williamsport High School football team for the season of 1931 to succeed Sol Wolf. The Williamsport school board was forced to drop Wolf after five successful years because of the P. I. A. A. ruling that all coaches of member schools must be accredited teachers.

20-ROUNDER CARDED

LAREDO, Tex., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Ricardo Rosel, Mexico City, leading heavyweight of the Southern Republic, has signed for a 20-round fight with George Godfrey, Philadelphia Negro, at Nuevo Laredo, February 23.

U. S., Canadian Ice Teams Win Abroad

ERYNICA, Poland, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—The Boston Hockey Club and the Canadian six known as the University of Manitoba Grads, co-favorites to win the international hockey tournament in progress here, were tied for the lead today after the second-round game at five goals each.

Boston defeated the strong team from Sweden today, 3 to 0, and the Manitoba Grads took Poland into camp by the same score. In winning yesterday Boston and Manitoba both scored two goals.

DUKE GETS SINGTON

DURHAM, N. C., Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Wallace Wade, Duke University football coach today announced Freddie Sington, all-American tackle at Alabama last fall, had been signed as freshman line coach at Duke. Sington will report next fall.

PETROLLE VS. TUT AGAIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Tom McArdle, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, today was to sign King Tut, the tow-headed slugger, of Minneapolis, for a return bout with Billy Petrolle, of Fargo, here February 27.

DURIS BOXES M'ARTHUR TONIGHT

Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, makes another attempt to lure out the boxing fans tonight, when he presents his weekly show in the Palisades Arena in the Tube City.

He has the two McArthur brothers, formerly of Michigan, now of McKeesport, in the feature bouts, Benny boxing clever Mickey Duris, of Johnstown, now managed by Jimmy Dunn, of Cleveland, in the 10-round main bout, and Buddy taking on Paul Rinsko, of Charleroi, in a return battle in the eight-round semi-final, with Rinsko trying to even up for a recent technical knockout defeat by Buddy in the same ring.

Mickey Duris

Hans Roberts, of Brookline, and Marty Gornick, of McKeesport, are in the second bout, and Flick Ryan, brother of Tommy Ryan, of Duquesne, meets Tommy Burns in the opener.

Between Rounds

Two southpaws will clash in the eight-round semi-final at Motor Square Garden next Monday night. They are Marcus Noie, local Negro middleweight, and Tony LaRose, of Cincinnati, who has not shown around here for more than a year, but prior to that boxed Bobby Richardson, Rudy Ceder and Cuddy De Marco in local rings.

With the signing of Bus Hardy, of Beaver Falls, to box Jimmy Reilly, of McKeesport, in the opening bout, the program is complete for Monday night's show. Jimmy Darh and Jackie Roddy to meet in a return bout in the 10-round main event, and Carl Montebano, of Braddock, and Joe Zemon, of Cleveland, are in the second bout.

Ray and Byron Foutts, brother-managers and promoters, of East Liverpool, O., have split their stable so far as their two welterweights, Ted Yarosz and Freddie Edwards, are concerned. Yarosz going with Ray and Edwards with Byron. There is said to be considerable rivalry between the two boxers, and it may culminate in a battle between them for supremacy.

Buck McTiernan wound up his boxing yesterday, for his 10-round main bout with Frankie Palmo, of Cincinnati, at the Moose Temple tomorrow night. Jocko Walters, of Springfield, O., boxes Billy Thomas, of Cleveland, in the semi-final, Pinky Fisher and Tiger Joe Clark are in the second bout, and Jackie Coogan, of Canton, O., and Joey Bazone, of McKeesport, will open the show, which, like McTiernan's recent billing with Billy Brent in the same arena, will sell out the place.

Johnny Roberts, former welterweight, of Huntington, W. Va., now is boxing as a light-heavyweight and meets Billy Jones, Negro star, at Reading, Pa., next Tuesday night.

Johnny Jadich, Philadelphia lightweight, who holds a knockout and a decision victory over King Tut, Minneapolis, of Billy Petrolle, wants to fight here. He is managed by Tommy White, of Philadelphia.

Ted Yarosz is taking the place of Johnny Kusic against Larry Madge in the eight-round main bout of the Soup Line benefit show at Franklin, Pa., tomorrow night with Johnny Dugo, of New Kensington, meeting Jimmy Dean, of Erie, in another eight-rounder.

Mickey Duris worked out with Paul Pirrone and Joey Goodman, his stablemates, in Cleveland for tonight's battle with Benny McArthur in McKeesport.

A card of seven amateur bouts will be staged in St. Boniface Lyceum, North Side, tonight, at the popular prices of 50 and 75 cents, which ought to be pleasing news to the devotees of the simon-pure mitt sport.

Young Savior, of Charleroi, who has been idle for several months, has arranged for his release from the contract Jim Buchanan holds on him and which does not expire until July, and will box under the direction of Nester Williams, of Charleroi, who was responsible for the start of almost all the Charleroi stars, including Eddie Pinchot, Young Carmen, Joe La Rue, Cuddy De Marco, the Fay brothers and Savior himself. Savior will be ready within a week or two to take on any of the 132-pounders.

Fight Results

At Chicago—Jose Santa and Knute Hansen, "no contest," 2 rounds. Larry Johnson knocked out Marty Gallacher, 2 rounds. Ed Francis defeated Jack Gagnier, 10 rounds. Harry Ebbetts defeated Willie Oster, 10 rounds.

Building Up Big Fights

By IKE DORGAN,
The Man Behind Tex Rickard's Fistic Ballyhoos.

CHAPTER XXII.

Frank Moran and I arrived in Indianapolis only to find that John L. Sullivan and Bob Fitzsimmons had met financial disaster when they had come to town. Both had been canceled because of the lack of business and it didn't look any too rosy for the red-headed challenger and "Old Sobersides," as I was called.

Georges Carpentier

We opened up to a fair house, but the manager knew he was overboard. He wasn't going to pay that $750 and make his salt. In desperation, he came to us with an idea. He had one, really. Bill Mizner would have said of him:

"Two ideas in that fellow's head at one time would be an obsession."

The grand idea was this: Moran, being a fine physical specimen at the time, attractive, flashing teeth and a million dollar gift of gab, might attract the feminine gender to the show house if it were advertised that he was to give a lecture on "How to retain that perfect 36 waist line."

Said the house manager:

"We can make it an after-matinee lecture. Let Moran appear on the stage, where tea will be served and he can tell the old gals how to get rid of their fat. To make it certain that we'll have some class on hand, we'll ask four or five of the chorus dames to doll up and appear on the stage as interested listeners. They'll never be recognized."

A 'STUNT' FLOPS

We agreed to do it. The next day, with plenty of blasting in the local newspapers, we put on the perfect 36 talkie-talkie. Moran put on his full dress clothes and looked like the Bank of England. The curtain went up on the great tea talk and there sat the girls—all of them—the four prop ladies from the show. Not a town moll showed up. Either they had their perfect 36s or they had given up the thought of ever regaining them. The manager called us into his office. He put on the poverty plea.

Would we accept $400 and depart peacefully? We took it and decamped, taking the next train to Detroit.

We opened there with a matinee. When it came time for the act, there was no Moran. I hadn't noticed that he hadn't come into his dressing room. I thought he was in there, dolling up, all the while.

He had advertised that he would give $100 to any man who stayed a round with him and $100 additional for every succeeding round. About 10 bartenders and old-time bouncers had put in an appearance to get a crack at that soft dough. After all, the fame of "Mary Ann" had not traveled far. He had yet to topple Jim Coffey, the Irish giant, twice in a row.

Scouts were sent out everywhere for Francis Charles. One of them found him sound asleep in the rear of a moving picture house next door to where we were showing.

ALSO THE 'TOUR'

I went out on the stage and told stories about myself and my family for 15 minutes while Moran got ready for the footlights.

At last he came on and told the folks that he had just left Nat Goodwin's room in the hotel and that the famous comedian was going to back him to the tune of $10,000 to defeat Johnson for the world title.

Even that didn't draw them in, and, in the end, we gave it up as a bad job. Back to New York, wiser and just about as poor after the two weeks of barnstorming.

Moran prepared for the trip back to Paris. McKetrick had made all arrangements and Moran was anxious to get down to hard training. With his punch, he had a chance.

"It only takes one on the button," he would say, pointing to spot midway between his jawbone and chin point.

George Carpentier was to be the referee of the bout. He was the idol of France at the time, and, while little more than a welterweight, Frenchmen were of the opinion that he and not Moran had a better chance to whip Johnson.

FRANCE CONFISCATES PURSE

Johnson, as cautious as a fox stealing chickens, didn't take an outside chance in that fight. He trusted no one man in Paris and only accepted Carpentier as referee because he knew the idol of France could not afford to make a mistake in judgment. To make it easy for Carpentier, without the Frenchman even suspecting it, Johnson never hit once below Moran's Adam's apple. Whatever chance Frank had of winning was ruined, I suppose, when one of Johnson's left hooks opened Moran's right eyebrow so deeply that you could have hidden the water bottle in it. It was the deciding factor in the fight. It went 20 rounds, with Johnson getting the decision.

It seems that when McKetrick started to get help in the promotion of the fight he declared in a fellow named Charley McCarthy, who was to get 5 per cent.

McKetrick threw him out at the last minute and McCarthy sued and tied up all the purses and profits. Then the blast! War was declared and so was a moratorium. Every bank account was confiscated and thrown into the war fund and the proceeds of the Johnson and Moran fight along with the rest. It still is there, now, 11 years later.

AND STILL NO PAYDAY

Moran, until recently a deputy on the boxing commission staff in California, went to France only a few months ago in an effort to reclaim his money, but I supposed that it has been kissed good-by long, long ago. Johnson never got a cent of his and all because of McCarthy's little old 5 per cent attachment that wouldn't have amounted to the price of a bad suit of clothes.

GAMES TOMORROW

Cleveland at Windsor.
Buffalo at London.

By CARL W. SHATTO.

The Syracuse representatives in the International Hockey League are known as the Stars, but they are better qualified to be known as the Question Marks.

The Stars haven't been doing a great deal of starring, but they have provided more upsets than any other club in the circuit. They are the kind of club that can knock off one of the circuit's stronger members one night, and then be snowed under by a weaker opponent the next.

The Stars are to be the next opponents of the Yellow Jackets at Duquesne Garden Saturday night, and there is no telling what is liable to happen. Syracuse has defeated Buffalo's proud league leaders, and only recently held the Bisons to a 4-4 tie. The Stars have downed Windsor twice, just as often as has Pittsburgh, and hold the edge in the season series with Detroit, winning three of five engagements with the Olympics.

SYRACUSE NO "SETUP"

Because they are at the bottom of the standings, the Stars often are regarded as a "setup", and sometimes they are, but at other times they are a setup into which the kick already has been poured.

Although Pittsburgh has gained three victories and a tie in four starts against the New York staters, Roy Schooley, president and manager, and Charles Reid, coach of the local skaters, have warned their men against overconfidence. The local ice chiefs realize that the Jackets are likely to have to win about three out of every four games if they are to get into the play-offs for the championship, and they don't intend to have 'em pass up any victory chances because of overconfidence or lack of condition.

At the conclusion of the Syracuse game here Saturday the Jackets will rush to Cleveland to meet the Indians there Sunday. The local puckmen will be very busy for the remainder of the week, for they will have the Cleveland game in mind as they prepare for the coming of the Stars.

MEET INDIANS TWICE

Although they haven't downed the Indians as yet, the Jackets convinced several thousand local fans that they are just as good as the champs when they battled Cleveland to a standstill in a protested game here last Saturday. The Indians are to return here next Tuesday, and if the Jackets can "take" the champs twice within three days, their chances of getting into the play-offs will be improved by about 100 per cent.

In the Jackets' last two defeats by Cleveland and Windsor, President Schooley and Coach Reid regard Referee Jerry LaFlamme as the opposition's star performer. The Jackets do not care to see Jerry again until they have clinched a play-off position.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Recede | Shamrock Oil Recedes

STOCK PRICES RECEDE 2 TO 6 POINTS

Advances of Last Three Days Lost as List Quits Narrow Trading Limits

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Having permitted bulls to struggle unsuccessfully with the stock market for three days, bears lost patience today and dropped a few selling orders which jolted the list out of its narrow trading area into a substantial decline.

The meager advances of the past three days were largely lost as prices skidded back 2 to 6 points. The market remained merely a professional trading affair, however, for bears were no more successful in dislodging general selling, than bulls had been able to inspire any extensive buying. In the meantime, the improved tone of the bond list was well maintained which was regarded in Wall Street as of more significance than the fluttering of stock prices.

Most of the selling seemed to be for short account and, while it was inspired by the lack of encouragement for bulls in the week's trade news, it was also prompted by the weakened technical position of the list. The more ambitious bears had covered their commitments back in January, and with the amateur short interest considerably reduced, the list lacked the cushion of support supplied by short covering.

Chemical issues were influenced by further reductions in the prices of their products, notably carbon black and sulphuric acid.

The oils were sluggish, but appeared to be well sold out, as reports of gasoline price-cutting in Denver and Detroit, as well as dividend cuts by Standard of Nebraska and Ohio Oil, had little influence on the market for these shares.

The chain store sales reports for January continue to compare more favorably with the preceding January than December sales compared with the like month a year previously. With the rate of chain store expansion greatly reduced last year, comparisons mean more than they did.

The General Motors statement had no influence on the market.

Credit conditions were unchanged. The weekly bank statements showed that the Bank of England's gold stock actually gained slightly, although the Bank of France again showed a large addition to its yellow metal base.

World Petroleum 1930 Output Off

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The publication, World Petroleum, says crude oil production in all countries dropped only 70,432,912 barrels under the 1929 total. Production for the year was 1,408,048,912 barrels. The greatest curtailment was shown by the United States, which reduced its output by 109,893,000 barrels.

Of seven other important producing countries having an output exceeding 20,000,000 barrels per year each, six show an increase and one, namely, Mexico, had a drop of 5,158,240 barrels.

1930 Cigaret Yield Takes Sharp Gain

Domestic cigaret production in 1930 increased 583,307,708 over 1929 to 119,632,412,872. Cigars declined 700,177,599 to 6,271,672,686. Snuff increased 75,749 pounds to 40,112,663. Loose tobacco declined 8,953,322 pounds to 328,765,103.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 6 to 10 points. Buying was stimulated by firm Liverpool cables, some trade demand, covering and commission house buying.

Business was fairly active and the advance met increased offerings with spot houses sellers of May around 10.90, while there was a good deal of realizing in the later positions. This was sufficient to check the advance and prices showed reactions of 4 or 5 points from the best at the end of the first half hour.

Forbes

Rockefeller Interested in Pensions

—By B. C. FORBES—

THAT HUMANE executives are becoming keenly alive to the importance of providing for employees after they are too old to work is demonstrated by the pension plan arranged by Standard Oil of New York with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Mr. Forbes.

More and more corporations are giving serious thought to old age pensions. An increasing number of companies have been instituting their own pension plans. Such plans, however, have not always worked out satisfactorily. In not a few cases the burden became too heavy. In other cases the companies fell on evil days and underwent reorganization which drastically changed or eliminated pensions. Too often the mistake has been made of under-estimating the growing cost with the passage of time.

I have heard it said by a supposed authority that one of the very largest companies in America has such a pension plan that the day will come when pension payments will absorb all the profits and leave nothing for the stockholders.

BY DEALING with a strong insurance company on a strictly business basis Standard Oil of New York places its whole pension plan for its 45,000 employes on a solid foundation. The main features it will interest employers and workers throughout the country to learn, are:

Starting January 1, 1931, men are to be retired at 65 and women at 55, on pensions roughly equal to 2 per cent of their average previous salary, multiplied by the number of years' service.

The company bears three-fourths of the cost, the employes one-fourth.

Participation is optional.

On reaching retirement age an employe may apply for the pension; or he may be retired by the directors at their option. If he continues in service, he receives no credit for the additional service nor makes any further contribution.

The plan provides against loss as the result of accidental injuries or permanent disability, and also carries death benefits—the latter is, in effect, insurance which the employe receives without taking out a policy. He receives a certificate from the Metropolitan which, should he leave Standard Oil, can be converted into any other type of insurance, except term insurance.

In case of dismissal, the employe receives back the entire amount contributed to the fund.

After 25 years' service, the annuity becomes the employe's absolute property, and even if he leaves the service he receives the benefits of the plan as soon as he reaches retirement age.

Should the plan be discontinued—this right is reserved by the company—all annuities previously earned shall continue in force.

THIS WHOLE subject of providing for wage earners in their old age has heretofore received less attention in this country than in European countries. The frequent boast here has been that Americans love to take care of themselves, that they cherish their "independence," that pensions savor of charity and that workers prefer to be paid high wages without any deductions whatsoever so that they may spend or save their money as they see fit.

This attitude, however, admittedly had not worked out ideally. The main trouble has been that too many workers have chosen to spend all their pay and have finally had to fall back on others—family, relations, friends, charity or public support.

Since these Standard Oil workers are to contribute one-quarter of the cost of their pensions, they need have no feeling that their pensions will represent charity.

I HAD A TALK the other day with John D. Rockefeller, Jr., on the relations between corporations and their employes. Mr. Rockefeller's interest was aroused by the strike among employes of one of the Rockefeller properties in Colorado 18 years ago, and since then he has devoted much time and thought—and money—to the problem of establishing equitable relations between corporations and their workers. As a result, various enterprises in which he is interested have gone farther than most companies in instituting "industrial democracy" and in making it possible for workers to provide for their declining years.

THE WRITER long ago foresaw—or thought he foresaw—that the time would inevitably come when either industry would have to take care of its own or the politicians would step in and do the job, probably inefficiently and wastefully, with money taken from the pockets of taxpayers. Nothing has happened to alter that view.

If industry is wise, it will bestir itself and tackle this big, complicated but inescapable problem before it becomes too late.

Improvement Needed in Annual Reports

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

DURING RECENT WEEKS corporations of this country have mailed thousands of copies of their annual reports to stockholders. During the coming three months the number of reports mailed out will extend into the millions. In the case of nearly every stockholder receiving one of these reports, the information presented will be utterly unintelligible.

The average annual report contains a condensed income account, a statement of profit and loss, a balance sheet, an auditor's certificate and a few remarks by the president. In most cases this information is sufficient for a competent statistician to make a good analysis of the results of the past year. But only one stockholder in a hundred is a competent statistician.

The average stockholder who gets a nicely printed copy of an annual report hasn't the remotest idea what it is all about. He depends on his newspaper to make an intelligent analysis of the company in which he has placed his money. This system would be satisfactory if every company's statement could be analyzed by the papers but there are so many organizations that even publications specializing in finance cannot hope to cover more than the largest corporations.

Purpose Missed

IF OUR CORPORATIONS wished to conceal information from their stockholders, the present method of presenting reports would be understandable. Except in few cases there is a genuine desire to tell stockholders what has happened during the year. The trouble with annual reports is not attributable to any desire for obscurity. It is due to the blind following of obsolete customs.

Our modern system of keeping books was developed in the days when the major portion of business was still in the hands of small groups of individuals. Our present customs in making annual reports would be entirely satisfactory for that kind of ownership. While the same principals of bookkeeping may still be applied to large corporations, it is necessary to carry statements a step further in order to make them understandable to a large number of stockholders.

Analysis Necessary

THE MERE STATEMENT that a corporation earned so many dollars last year has no significance for a stockholder. There are two primary things he wants to know and neither of these is told by the usual annual report. First of all he wants to know whether the company made more money or less money last year than in the year before. Second, the stockholder wants to know how much of the money earned belongs to him.

It would be a simple matter for annual reports to include comparisons with previous years. Some statements do include this feature but the number is small. The only way a stockholder can know how much was actually earned on his holdings is through a computation of the earnings per share. It would not cause any appreciable amount of trouble or expense for corporations to show this but few of them do it.

Facts Available

OF COURSE ANY sufficiently interested stockholder, providing he knows how, can compute earnings per share. If he has previous reports or a statistical service, such as Moody's or Standard, he can make comparisons with previous years. But this takes time and most stockholders buy securities as a sideline. Investment is not their regular business and they cannot devote much time to it. They should not be forced to dig for this information. It should be presented to them in an understandable manner.

It is remarkable that corporations desiring wide distribution of their securities and wishing to hold the interest if their stockholders have not made greater strides in perfecting reports which give real information to the average individual as well as to a statistician.

U. S.-EUROPEAN TRADE OFF

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP) Last year's declines in American foreign trade were shown by Commerce Department statistics today to have been the largest in the commerce with Europe.

Sales of American products to that continent for the year were about $500,000,000 less than in 1929. The contraction was almost as great in American imports from Europe.

Imports from Asia, largely crude rubber, dropped nearly $400,000,000.

Canada remained the greatest national customer of the United States in international trade generally for 1930, though the actual sum total of exports sent from this country to Great Britain was somewhat in excess of Canadian purchases.

Exports to the Dominion amounted to $659,326,000, against $948,446,000 in 1929 and imports from Canada for the same period were $402,306,000, against $503,496,000.

The 1930 exports to Great Britain were $678,108,000, against $848,000,000 the preceding year, and imports were $209,983,000, against $329,751,000.

Exports to Russia amounted to $111,362,000, the largest for any year in modern times, and compared with $81,548,000 in 1929.

Imports from Russia amounted to $21,963,000 in 1930, as compared with $21,520,000 in 1929.

Montour Valuation Put at $5,063,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The Interstate Commerce Commission has placed a final valuation on the Montour Railroad Company properties of $5,063,000 as of June 30, 1917.

The line, which is located in Western Pennsylvania, is owned by the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

Steel Pensions Total $4,359,445 In 1930

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. Pensions distributed among retired employes of the United States Steel Corporation and its subsidiaries last year totaled $4,359,445, the twentieth annual report of the United States Steel and Carnegie Pension Fund, released today, disclosed.

The 1930 payment brought to $30,625,546 the total amount paid in pensions since the inauguration of the pension plan, January 1, 1911. Carnegie Steel Company, with a total of $1,040,139, headed the list of subsidiaries in the amount paid to retired employes last year.

TIGER HEART -:- By Robert Terry Shannon

Connie Is Startled by Prowler in House

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Connie Calvert shares her home and fortune with her half-sister, Kitty, whom she found destitute in New York's underworld. Kitty falls in love with Jim Tracy, Connie's former fiance. Believing Jim to be a fortune-hunter, Connie, to save Kitty, enlists the aid of Duke Garson, Kitty's friend and underworld intelligence man. He warns Connie that her butler is a crook and that her mother should guard her pearls. Later, Duke is about to declare his love for Connie when Jim appears. He claims he was held up and is afraid to go home. Connie invites him to stay. Duke doubts Jim's story. That night, Mrs. Calvert's pearls are stolen. Duke questions the maid about them. The maid doubts Kitty's honesty. Mrs. Calvert becomes ill after the excitement. Duke accuses Jim of lying about being held up. Jim says he lied because he did not trust Duke and wanted to get back to the Calvert home. Connie tells her mother that she is not sure whether she loves Duke. Duke seeks the butler's aid to solve the robbery mystery. The butler suspects the maid. While out riding with Connie, Duke says she is a new thrill in his life. When he kisses her she is powerless to resist.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER LII.

Astonished, bewildered at the manifestation of a love that destroyed all quibbling objection to its recognition, Connie and Garson drove home with a queer bond between them. It was possible, they discovered, for a great feeling to be beyond, above, immediate discussion.

In her room, spacious, cool, serene, Connie loitered preparing for bed, abstracted and charged with effable wonderment. Kitty and Jim had not yet come home from the motion pictures, and Garson still lingered downstairs for a final cigaret; she had left him upon their return with an abruptness that was, really, an instinct for calm after a storm.

Eventually, peace might be found in love, but at the present there was only tumult, shock. What had happened to her and Duke, despite all forewarning, was amazing; more than anything else, Connie was overcome with the revelation of the power, the incandescence, of her feeling.

She was revealed to herself with a dazzling illumination, almost frightening; no one ever before stirred her to such a degree, had called forth so much; love, whatever people said about it, was at its physical inception, a spectrum of multi-colored, revolving light. Later, she imagined, vaguely, the enduring substance would be revealed.

Sorry for Kitty

The sound of a car at the front of the house marked the return of Kitty and Jim Tracy; vaguely, she caught the sound of remote voices downstairs. The talk continued, a soft murmuring; without hearing definitely, she was aware that Jim Tracy, in his familiarity with the house, was procuring ice and glasses. For himself and Garson, and possibly Kitty, he would prepare a late drink.

A passing thought occurred to her that Jim Tracy would do well to drink less, for his own sake. From the length of time that passed he might have poured the second and third. Garson and Kitty, she knew, were rather disinclined to liquor. Yes, Tracy would do well to leave it alone, but that was his problem, not hers.

Kitty and Tracy became linked in her mind. It was a devilish mess for Kitty, her infatuation with Tracy. Nowhere in it could Connie see any substantial hope for happiness. The possibility of sleep continued to escape Connie. As to her own happiness, Connie went over and over every detail of her association with Duke Garson; in vain she tried to consider things logically, but it was impossible; the truth was that, dwelling on what had happened, was almost as bewilderingly intoxicating as the reality. A joy deep and primitive, still suffused her.

With two pillows she propped herself up, relaxed until the voices below were only drowsy murmuring. A secure warmth centered around her heart.

Becomes Startled

The sound of the voices in the house became unsubstantial; the others, apparently, were dispersing for the night. She grew quieter, the tension of her nerves relaxed further and she was almost dozing. At the moment of dropping off to sleep, she clung to consciousness for a moment longer to enjoy a settling peace that had a formless reality, an inner sensation that something soothingly pleasant had come into her life. From now on her path would be quietly delightful, stretching far into the future. Consciousness faded and all nervous forces went out of her body.

Out of this, before sleep solidified, she was invaded by a slight, persistent disturbance—sounds without volume, a faintly audible sensation of cautious movement.

Stealth—

The secrecy of movement defeated its purpose by its unusual, penetrating softness—a quality portentous with hidden meaning that interrupted the stream of sleep with suggested alarm. Connie propped herself up sharply on one elbow. No sound now reached her ears, but her senses felt the pressure of someone, somewhere, beyond her door in the hall. A quickening sensitivity came over her, and she hung in a moment of breathless, strained attention. The knowledge deepened that someone was about—a presence prowling with concealed intention.

For a moment she was disturbed by the acute thought that there was a connection between this and the theft of her mother's pearls. A thief in the night, desperate and willing to take chances, might be a-foot bent upon further loot. Connie shivered a little, felt her blood racing. Her mother, Duke Garson, Kitty and Jim Tracy, all, were probably sound asleep.

She remembered, alertly, that her own door was unlocked.

A swift conviction seized her that it was mere stupidity to give way to fear. Turning to the edge of the bed her feet reached the floor and groped for her black satin mules. From a chair she gathered around her the silken folds of her dressing gown . . .

For the School Girl
Pattern 2053
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

Smart youngsters love soft, feminine frocks for best, and here is one which can be easily made in school or at home. It is quite simple, relying on the graceful shoulder capelets and added skirt flare for its chic. There are long sleeves with the pattern if you care to use them.

Pattern 2053 suggests any number of fabrics. Those smartest for spring and summer are eyelet embroidery, batiste, organdy, linen and dimity. Lovely, also are the cotton voiles, georgettes and lawns in solid color or print. The pastels are especially nice for youthful figures.

May be obtained only in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 6 requires 2⅞ yards of 39-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

THE NEW SPRING AND SUMMER FASHION BOOK IS NOW READY. It features an excellent assortment of afternoon, sports and house dresses, lingerie, pajamas and kiddies' clothes. PRICE OF BOOK, FIFTEEN CENTS. DAILY TRUE STORY 'Hop Lee'

Aunt Etta could handle a car like a veteran bus driver. I had no fears for myself as I climbed in beside her, after leaving the train at Summit.

Down through the valley the road looked like a long grey ribbon in convulsions, twisting, turning, disappearing, reappearing, looping. High cliffs alongside of it, torrents crossing beneath seemingly flimsy bridges.

But Aunt Etta was equal to it, although the first time I had visited her I held my breath most of the way during the hour it took to get down to Meadowland.

"How's everyone at home?" Aunt Etta asked, in her booming voice.

"As well as usual. You remember Sister Joan's friend Kitty, who married the stock broker—she visited you with Kit, you know."

"What about her—babies?"

"Far from it. They say she is going to divorce her husband."

"They say—they say! That's a damn mean expression—excuse me, dearie."

"I don't mind, aunty—it's quite the thing now to use strong language in high society."

At Tetleyville, a small hamlet, gardens were in bloom. I spoke of it.

"Oh yes, it's getting warm enough to take gossip out of doors. I've seen more'n twenty wimmin hanging over backyard fences, drat 'em. That is where your 'They says' start."

Stop for Water

I secretly eyed Aunt Etta. She seemed uncommonly bitter about gossip this time.

"Has—that is—someone been talking silly rot about you behind your back, Aunty?"

"Not lately. People don't talk about me no more, Lora, not if they know me. When I hear talk about myself I trace it—I trace it back the way your Uncle Eph used to trace wild bees and get their honey. I find where the talk started and then I tell whoever started it what I think of 'em, which embarrasses 'em."

I laughed at this.

This, of course, was what I expected. It was, to me, part of my delight in visiting Aunt Etta. Aunt Etta was a dear, a big, loud-mouthed, husky dear, who had been widowed 20 years and was a better farmer than any two men in the county. Tender-hearted at home, a perfect nurse, a wonderful cook, and one who would sit and cry over some sad love story.

Aunt Etta had been coming down the long steep grade in second and the radiator was squirting like a geyser. She stopped at a farmhouse to get some water. There was another house close by and two women were hanging over a fence, talking.

"Look at 'em," Aunt Etta whispered, nudging me, "here 'tis, near noon. They ought to be gettin' their men folks' dinners. Some poor soul 'round here is gettin' hell slammed into 'em by them gossips."

I got out and went to the pump for water. One of the women turned and watched us. She evidently recognized aunty.

"That you, Mrs. Randolf? Anything I can do?" she called.

"Not a thing, keep right on with your bee," Aunty said, coldly.

"Bee?" the woman asked, puzzled.

"Your rippin'-up-the-back bee, gossip!"

"Land sakes we was just chatterin' away, Mrs. Randolf."

But the woman seemed guilty.

I filled the radiator and we soon drove into Meadowland, Aunt Etta's farm was just beyond.

On the outskirts I was surprised to see what had been a tumble-down, half-boarded up and gone-to-seed old place, all made spic and span with white paint and trim lawns. I used to sneak in there and pick roses when old Hodgkins, the owner, was down at the village store.

"My goodness, Aunt Etta—what's come over old Mr. Hodgkins to slick up that awful old dump like that?" I asked.

"About six feet of earth has come over old Sim Hodgkins," she answered.

"Oh, then he's dead?"

"I should think so, by now, seein' as he's been buried almost two years."

She stopped at the general store for a bit of shopping. I remained in the car to watch the Hodgkins place. It had been all of three years since I had been to visit Aunt Etta, and she was no hand to write. I noted no other changes in the village.

That afternoon while I was having tea and cinnamon toast on the side porch at Aunt Etta's, I recalled the old Hodgkins place.

Questions Aunt

"What came over it?" I asked.

"Gossip—and it did some good, first time on record, I'll bet you. You remember little Della Hodgkins whose mother had a sort of millinery shop?"

I remembered Della, a pretty little girl.

"Well, she and Susie Smith were nieces of old Sim Hodgkins. Susie married the Gorman boy who was appointed postmaster here after his father, who was postmaster, died.

"Old Sim was fond of his two nieces, never having any children of his own. He certainly set big store by them.

"Della's mother died and Della went away to live with a distant relative.

"Perhaps it was six months after this that there was a rumor about the village that Della had up and married a Chinaman named Hop Lee—a Chinaman, they said, straight from Canton, too—not even a half-Americanized laundry Chink!"

"Goodness!" I declared, aghast at the tale.

"Folks said more than 'goodness.' Poor old Sim Hodgkins was almost violent in his rage. He allowed he was terribly disgraced. He went to Susie about it. Susie took on something terrible. She said it was true enough, she had proof that Della had married a Chink from Canton named Hop Lee. She confided in her uncle that Della had even admitted it in a letter to her, but that she destroyed the letter. Old Sim said that explained why Della hadn't ever written him a word.

"Well, sir, gossips' tongues certainly wagged. Old Sim Hodgkins went to Judge Pease about it. Pease was his lawyer. He admitted that Della had been his favorite niece. Now he was going to change his will and leave Susie all his stocks and bonds and things and cut Della right off. His lawyer argued with him that Della, being equally related, could break the will. The old man said he'd leave her enough so she couldn't break the will.

Continues Story

"About this time he went to Susie and her husband about it. They told Uncle Sim that it was foolish to leave Della any money. They pointed out that the old house wasn't worth much if anything at all, nor that awful marsh land down where the dam and power house is now, so he left it to Della."

"I didn't know about any dam and power house, Aunt Etta," I said.

"Comin' to that. Well, sir, Sim Hodgkins changed his will and then he up and died and what do you think? All that stuff, stocks and bonds and such truck, wasn't wuth the paper it was printed on, some of it was assessable for more than it would pay. Susie's legacy was liable to assessments if she accepted it. But that marsh land was worth a heap. Della's husband came on and started to superintend for a power company that bought this land. He is head of the company, now that the dam and power plant is built and he and Della fixed up the old home just like you saw it—"

"Don't tell me, Aunt Etta, that Della had the nerve to bring her Chink husband here, or that he had brains enough to organize a power plant and sell her land for a small fortune? Now, don't try to make me believe that a Canton Chink, named Hop Lee, could—"

"Wait a minnit, Lora," Aunt Etta said. "Susie never gave Uncle Sim the letters Della wrote him. What Della did was to marry a smart young electrical engineer from Canton, O., whose name was Hopleigh!"

Fresh Accusations

Necessity for Investigation of Public Utilities Is Accentuated by Pinchot's New Insinuations.

If there had not been justification previously for the proposed investigation by the Legislature of the public utilities, it would have been furnished by Gov. Pinchot's radio address.

Pinchot's charges last summer were made by a candidate for office; the accusations of Tuesday night were preferred by the chief magistrate of the Commonwealth.

The new accusations, moreover, are in some respects more shocking than those to which Pinchot gave utterance in the heat of the campaign. It is now not merely a charge that the utilities are watering their stock and demanding excessive rates for service; it is not a mere complaint about the Public Service Commission's failure to protect the people.

The Governor makes some ugly insinuations, as when he asks, "Why do railroad companies loan private Pullman cars to members of the Public Service Commission?"

These things call for full inquiry by an impartial committee.

Substantially Supported

Character of the Men Who Are Behind Pittsburgh's Unemployment Relief Plan Inspires Confidence.

Philadelphia started and recommended to the consideration of other cities a "Buy Now" campaign as a plan to end business depression. It did not work.

Now Pittsburgh offers another plan—that devised by Edgar J. Kaufmann and his associates. It calls for raising a large fund, which will be used to furnish employment to idle men. It is hoped that this not only will furnish relief to the unemployed but will have a stimulating effect on business.

The difficulties to be surmounted in putting the plan into effect are not to be minimized. But the character of the substantial men of affairs who are backing it inspires confidence that it will succeed.

Sorely Needed

It Behooves the Legislature to Provide Additional Facilities for the Care of the Insane.

The University of Pittsburgh has offered the commonwealth a site for the proposed psychiatric hospital to be built in connection with Pittsburgh's medical center.

The hospital is an item in a program calling for the appropriation of $10,000,000 by the Legislature for the enlargment and extension of the state's welfare institutions.

There is sore need for additional facilities for the care of the insane. In some of our hospitals for the mentally infirm patients are sleeping on cots in corridors because the dormitories are crowded to the limit, and there are, besides, waiting lists of persons for whom admission is sought. Even jails are being used, alas, as places of detention for lunatics.

With early and proper treatment many of the demented can be cured.

The principal welfare organizations of Pennsylvania are agreed that a state psychiatric hospital should be established in Pittsburgh.

The Legislature will be derelict in its duty if it fails to act on this important matter.

Lifting Trade Blockade

Banishment of Waste and Inefficiency in Distribution Will Restore Business Equilibrium.

The battle against business depression has been weakened by lack of clear perception as to the nature of the enemy.

The real foe is the ogre of unconscionably high retail distribution costs.

Since the beginning of the twentieth century, American factories increased the average output per man by more than 50 per cent.

Purchasing power, however, did not expand as rapidly.

Paul H. Douglas, in his volume on Real Wages in the United States, points out that in the 25 years during which output per worker increased 54 per cent, the real earnings, or purchasing power of workers rose only 30 per cent.

Accordingly, a lack of balance between supply and demand developed.

This unsound situation was hidden from public view for several years.

It was concealed in two ways. First, through enormous loans to foreign countries, we artificially stimulated export demand for the surplus products of American factories. Secondly, by the development of instalment selling at home, we anticipated domestic purchasing power nearly a year.

By June, 1929, these temporary corrective influences had spent their force.

Business was confronted with an actual shortage of buyers.

The remedy now is not in wage cutting. On the contrary, it lies in increasing the purchasing power of wages and as soon as prosperity permits increasing wages.

One fruitful way to increase present purchasing power would be by a further significant reduction in retail prices.

Despite the lag between the decline in wholesale quotations and retail prices, merchants are not making exorbitant profits.

As a matter of fact, many retailers have experienced a genuine slump in earnings.

The truth is that the cost of distributing merchandise is inordinately high.

Buying power is sapped by expensive merchandising.

The economies of scientific mass production are frittered away by costly distribution.

In order to lay a sound foundation for the next prosperity phase, it is essential that the American business genius, which eliminated waste in production, reduce inefficiency and waste in distribution.

The problem constitutes a challenge not only to merchants and dealers, but also to consumers.

We have all been paying for the wasteful habits of slothful shoppers.

The unnecessary return of merchandise adds to retail operating costs, and the merchant necessarily passes these on to the public. One solution would be to make a service charge covering the cost of the return privilege.

Delivery service is also abused. Careless shoppers will insist on having a spool of thread delivered. One possibility would be to charge for delivery service, so that the thrifty would no longer be penalized by the extravagant.

The business equilibrium will be restored when distribution becomes as cheap and as efficient as production.

Then the channels of trade will no longer be blockaded.

'Keep the Home Fires Burning' -:- By Nelson Harding

Though it is no longer Christmas
Let us keep alive the spirit
That has made us think of others
And induced our Yuletide giving.

It is for us to remember
That the Winter is not over
With its hardships. That the needy
Still require our assistance.

'The Dole,' Convenient Word

Mr. Baer Thinks It is Sometimes Overworked.

WE NEED FOOD AND CLOTHING FOR OUR FAMILIES! THEY ARE FACING STARVATION!
AH! THAT WOULD ESTABLISH A DANGEROUS PRECEDENT! THAT WOULD BE A DOLE!
THE FARMERS AND WORKERS ARE DOING THEIR SHARE TO FEED AND CLOTHE THE WORLD AND WIN THE WAR!
OLD GUARD

IN THE WAR. | IN THE "DEPRESSION."

This picture, published by the workmen's paper, "Labor," published in Washington, was made by John M. Baer, formerly Radical Congressman from North Dakota. It will interest many farmers that can't earn a living, and workers that can't find a job.

On the left, we see the Old Guard, meaning our best financial Republican minds, applauding the workers and farmers for their great services during the war.

We were sending billions of dollars to European governments then, money taken from the people that they are now paying in taxes.

We were also sending wheat and meat.

And we were sending more than a hundred million to our Armenian friends and others that happened to be hungry and needed the money. That was in war time, and we were all excited.

When we sent everything we had to Europe, that was NOBLE PATRIOTISM.

But if anybody suggests giving something to our own farmers, whose children are hungry, as in Arkansas, and elsewhere, or contributing to workmen, waiting to find a job, that's NOT patriotism.

Only one terrible word, "THE DOLE" can describe that.

And if the dole isn't a word terrible enough to impress you, the Old Guard will be glad to change it and call it Anarchy, Communism, Socialism and Paternalism. A nation rich enough to send billions to help other nations kill each other, and hundreds of millions to help feed foreigners, can't afford fifteen or twenty millions to take care of its own people in want. No war enthusiasm now.

EUCLID, KING OF SYSTEMATIZERS

By Archibald Henderson

Down to the present time, the two most famous names in the history of mathematical science are Euclid and Newton. It is not known to what extent Euclid made contribution of an original nature to the body of geometrical knowledge of his day. It is not, however, believed to have been considerable. Euclid's great contribution was in the classification, organization and systematization of mathematical knowledge, chiefly all that was known of geometry. So admirable and orderly was Euclid's work in this respect that, until comparatively recent years, it has survived almost unaltered in the curriculum of English instruction. Geometry and Euclid were synonymous. When people meant geometry, they said Euclid. It is probably true that no other work in the history of science ever exercised such a powerful and beneficial effect upon the human mind for such a great length of time.

Although Euclid's Elements, or Stoicheia in Greek, is one of the landmarks in the history of science and Euclid himself one of the immortals, singularly little is known about him, his origin or even his career. It is not certainly known, even, whether he was a Greek or an Egyptian. Certain it is only that about the year 300 B. C., Euclid's fame as a mathematician had become fully recognized.

Euclid flourished during the reign of Ptolemy I., king of Egypt, who is said to have been one of his pupils. Under the patronage of this enlightened ruler, he founded a mathematical college primarily a school for the study of geometry, in Alexandria, a great center of learning of that day. That was indeed a golden age; and Alexandria was a Mecca for the inquiring and studious minds of the East.

Euclid was fortunate in being able to build upon the broad and stable foundations for geometry laid by Thales and Pythagoras. Thales is generally credited with being the founder of Greek geometry. Of Pythagoras an old writer says that he "changed geometry into the form of a liberal science, regarding its principles in a purely abstract manner, and investigating its theorems from the immaterial and intellectual point of view." Euclid developed geometrical science is a systematic and orderly manner, giving rigorous proof of theorems which had been but loosely and imperfectly demonstrated before his time.

It has been conjectured that Euclid received his early training in mathematics at Athens, where various efforts were being made to reduce the subject matter of geometry to a logical basis. To Euclid is often attributed the memorable dictum, which his own experience in severe mental discipline had taught him: There is no royal road to geometry.

It is popularly supposed that Euclid's Elements, in 13 books, deal entirely with geometry. As a matter of fact, this great work also contains the theory of numbers and a considerable amount of algebra. Besides the famous Elements, Euclid certainly wrote a treatise bearing on astronomical science and a work called "Data," of which a modern editor says that it is "the first in order of the books written by the ancient geometers to facilitate and promote the method of resolution or analysis."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

My friend, Ellen Arnold, won't let her children read the regular editions of old fairy tales. She says they're blood-thirsty, full of horrors—that they teach children fear. The juvenile books in her library are all expurgated. No messy killings. No bad fox tumbling into a boiling pot. No wolves gobbling up grandmas, nor giants consuming little boys and girls. Ellen says that's the way to prepare children for life and keep them unafraid. Protect them from ugliness. Only let them see lovely sights—

I wonder. Will that really keep children from fear? Or will it put fear into them?

Alicia O'Reardon Overbeck wrote an article in the December Harper's which Ellen should read. It's the story of her attempt at school teaching in a Bolivian mining camp. The native Bolivians are a frank folk, unshackled by our squeamish, civilized notions. Why—reason the Bolivians—should children be kept from knowing the facts of life or death. Such facts are natural phenomena. Children are not born fearing them. They accept them as naturally as they accept blue skies, bright water. Why break down that happy naturalness and teach them fear and false modesty concerning conditions which they must inevitably face?

Such is Bolivian reasoning and practice. And so the Overbeck youngsters—to their mother's frequent but futile consternation—witnessed and discussed the gory details of local cock fights, knew when and how Gypsy was to have pups, observed with perfect composure the "wailing, drunken," funeral processions of Indians "carrying unsteadily an unpainted wooden coffin from which stared stiffly the waxen face of a man, woman or child."

There was the incident of Jorge—

"Once in the midwinter floods, a native office boy was carried off by the river. Late in May his body was recovered and brought to our company hospital for identification. As I leaned over the camp wall and watched the eager, excited crowd toil up the hill behind a litter that bore what little was left of the boy, I observed my son stepping briskly along at the side of the doctor. I was aghast and not a little angry. The doctor surely would have sense enough to send the child back. In about half an hour they both returned.

"'It was Jorge!' my son remarked conversationally. 'There wasn't much left of him, but the doctor knew him by his shoes. His legs were just sticks, but the shoes had stuck on.'

"I glared at the doctor and the doctor glared back at me.

"'That's right,' he snapped. 'Start saying "how awful" and "what do you mean by letting my child see a sight like that?" and in two minutes you'll have the kid sniffling and thinking he's seen something horrible. I tell you, teacher, you haven't gone down to principles in this teaching business of yours . . . Teach your children to look clear-eyed at life and death alike, and neither will have so much power to terrify them later. Children aren't naturally afraid of anything. It's only when grownups point out what they ought to be scared of, that they begin to develop fear complexes.'"

Something to think about—yes? I'm remembering when American frontier life was almost as frank and simple as life in the Bolivian mining camp. Expurgate the vital statistics? How could you—with all of us kids peeking in the kitchen window at old Pat Mulligan's wake? Snivel in those days and you got smacked. They bred 'em husky—then. I wonder what these modern mothers with their denaturing technique will breed.

As Life Bids Us

As life bids us, so live we,
Not from every bondage free,
Not unfettered to aspire
To the dearest heart's desire,
As we fondly fancy life
With no struggle, with no strife.

Rather, yoked always we go
In dull fashion, plodding, slow;
We, who glimpsing the divine,
Make of every dream a shrine,
Weaving for the soul's delight
Images serene and bright.

As life bids us, live we must,
Heirs to every shining trust,
Girt with glamour unpossessed,
Faithful to the fruitless quest;
As life bids us, so we go,
And to nobler stature grow.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The Bowery struggles through one of the worst winters in its turbulent history, its missions shouldering the heaviest burden in more than a decade. For months the depressing breadline has been a serpentine coil circling every block.

Only the pawnbroker prospered in the topsy-turviness that shunted even a few Fifth avenue dwellers to the section. A number of upstairs lodging houses had their quota of beaten who once sat at glass-topped desks commanding their world by push buttons.

Most newcomers to the "submerged tenth" spend their first few weeks in sullen resentment. Misfortune has stunned them and they drop in lodging house chairs inarticulate. Almost all during their novitiate believe suicide offers the only panacea.

But generally in a month they begin to take an interest in life again. Like a startled dreamer swimming up from a deep well of sleep, they look about in their new world. Indeed, the lazy tempo of drifting becomes pleasant.

Every man who remains on the Bowery for a year or so becomes philosophical. He is whetted to adversity. Want becomes a casual emotion and nothing matters. Those who have fumed over a fifth row seat at a first night, accept a free flop on a hard floor with perfect complacence.

Social workers know that the dole is often a necessity, but just the same dangerous. Free coffee and free flops frequently dull self respect, and when that quality is lost the problem of rehabilitation becomes more difficult than ever.

The Bowery is a human barometer that registers acutely depths of depression, but it is first to register signs of returning prosperity. When the bread line vanishes, smoke from factory chimneys is inevitable. And slowly today the bread line is thinning.

The philosophy of the Bowery is illustrated somewhat by the remark of a friend of Chuck Conners when that worthy passed to his reward. A group of mourners clotted in front of the blue-blobbed undertaking parlor where the body was taken. The friend sauntered up. "Don't worry about Chuck," he said. "He knows what it is all about now. That's more than we know!"

This is a paragraphic paean for a friend who donned the starched front to attend a dinner and theater. At the dinner a dribble of dark soup splotched his snowy bosom. He excused himself and went home to bed. No play is worth changing a stiff shirt.

Any number of eating places—especially tea rooms—in New York operate hat and cloak rooms without an attendant. A patron leaves his things when entering and picks them out on departure. Most of these places have never had a loss by theft. This careless gesture is inspired by an old police known fact. A crook seldom visits a respectable modestly priced cafe. When he deserts "beaneries" for a splurge, he goes to the jazziest and expensive places.

My only conscious contact with an underworld swell was as a reporter with a New York paper. I accompanied a Central Office man for a surprise roundup in an apartment on West End avenue. The gentleman in doggy dressing gown received us in a library-like room. It suggested the opening of a crook drama. After dispatching a few mysterious telephone calls and habiting himself in street dress, he accompanied his captor cooly. Under a reading lamp was the book he had turned pages down at our ring. It was one of the Elsie Dinsmore books. I stressed this observation in my report, but it was blue penciled. 'No reader will believe that," said the city editor.

In that day—the late '90's—New York was in full gestation of poisoned needle mysteries. I was a misguided solecist who classed it all as "bunk"—a rising new word in the lexicon. Then one evening on an Amsterdam avenue summer car I felt a stinging jab. "They got me!" I whispered to my wife. And reeled off the car into a nearby drugstore. It developed I had leaned against the sharp prong of a pantsbuckle.
